Footprints

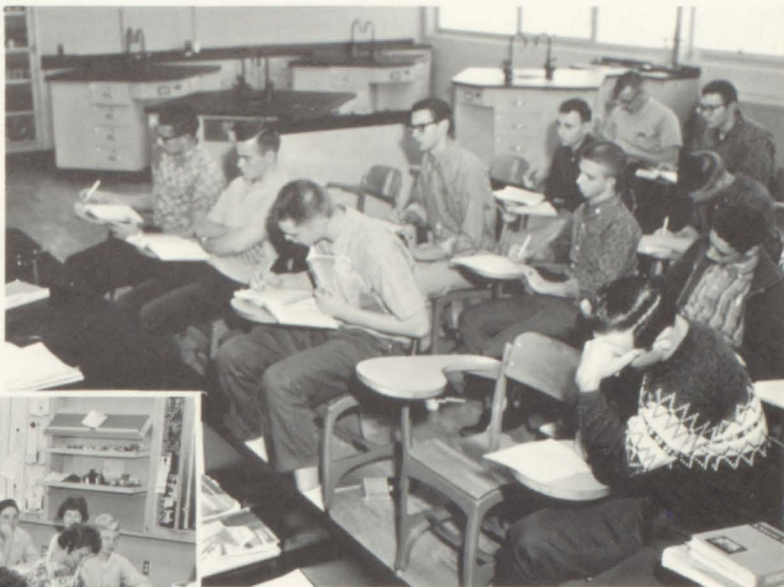

on the Sands of Time . . .

The world has left us with a mighty big pair of shoes to fill. There's no path ahead; only untrodden, smooth sand and our course is OUR course, our way is OUR way.

We're setting off now in what we hope is the right direction; now we are leaving OUR "footprints on the sands of time."

Don your walking shoes and follow us. We're going to take a journey along the sands of time. You'll see many remembered landmarks --you'll be filled with nostalgia, gaiety, reminiscence. Come with us. You won't lose the way; just follow our "footprints on the sands of time."

We Walked Through New HALLS,

Since November the chemistry, biology, and physics departments have taken advantage of the facilities offered in the new science wing.

In the Lunch Line,

There's Ed and Bob and Vivian, and Carl's the leader too.

They do the chores, mop the floors, and clean the halls for you.

These are the nine that drive
the line, that takes us all to school.

Lois leads this sextet,
They concoct all the food that's et.

Fine Arts Department

Mrs. Raymond Talmadge and Mr. James Lentz head the Fine Arts department. Mrs. Talmadge has been teaching art at SHS for six years. She instructs grade school art, high school art, and takes particular pride in her 23 member senior high art class. Her students traditionally place high in the Kosciusko County poster contest. Mr. Lentz has taught music here for seven years. He conducts the 72 member band, and the high school chorus. The band and chorus perform together twice yearly at the Christmas and Spring concerts.

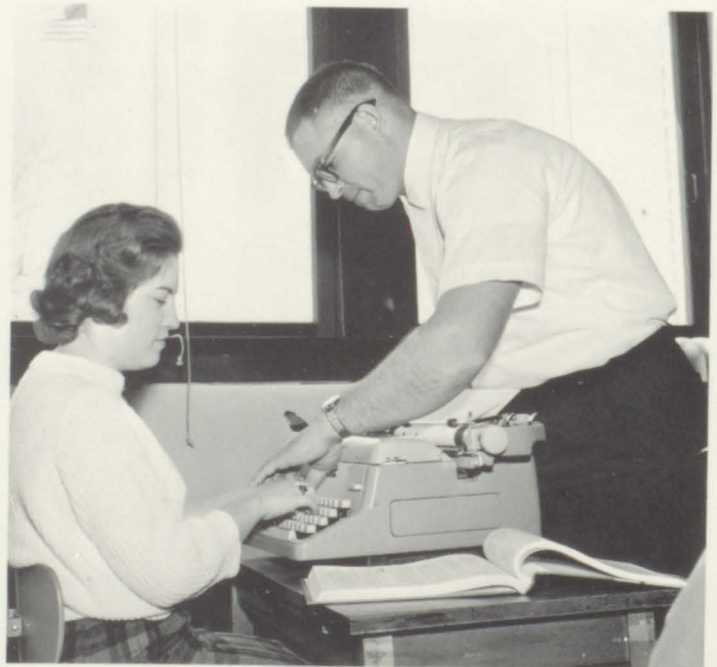

Bartering, Bargaining, Business

Mr. Lentz to Mr. Ummel: "And then there's this one about the salesman who . . ."

Mr. Ummel to Donna Nicolai: "How did you ever get your fingers caught in the keys?"

The business department includes bookkeeping, typing 1 & 2, general business and consumers economics. Eldon Ummel stresses nimble, but accurate, fingers in typing and a sharp pencil in bookkeeping. James Lentz transfers his understanding of the ways of our competitive business world to his students through general business and consumers economics.

Ing'glīsh Dē-pārt'mēnt

Mr. Fawley to Mr. Howard with Mrs. Rigdon, Mrs. Wagner, and Mrs. Witsaman: "How does this sound? A rose is a rose is a petunia!"

Among the most progressive departments in the school is the English department. This group of teachers has geared the English program to all levels and types of students in the school. Junior high English and developmental (speedy) reading is taught by Mary Alice Witsaman. In high school the courses are separated into regular and college preparatory English. Mary B. Rigdon teaches all juniors in a course closely paralleling junior U.S. history. Max Ellen Wagner teaches eighth, ninth, and tenth graders in both divisions of English. David Howard teaches regular twelfth grade English. Philip Fawley teaches speech, college preparatory tenth grade, and the senior college prep course. In this senior course the students study English literature and creative writing.

Mr. Fawley to Al Bauer: "Lie lay, lain? How should I know?"

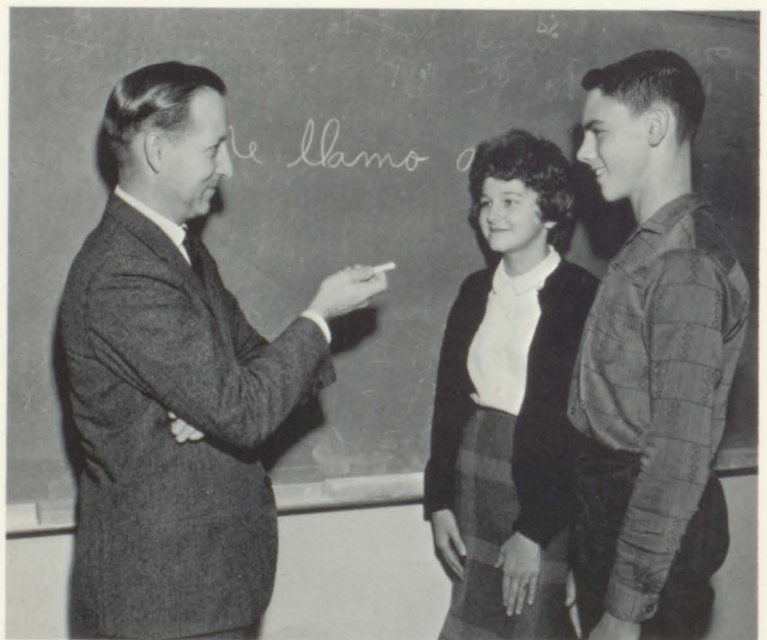

Comertzex Si Ustedzie ! ?

Mr. Yoder to Mrs. Rigdon: "So that's where Spain is!"

The language department offers full two year courses in two languages -- Spanish and Latin. Mrs. Rigdon includes a study of classical history and mythology in her Latin curriculum. A study of the relationship between Latin and English is also emphasized.

In Spanish Mr. Yoder encourages group conversation in advanced classes. A tape recorder and records are used to aid the students in correct pronunciation and diction. This year a conversational Spanish course was introduced in the eighth grade as a foundation for later years.

Mr. Yoder to Sandy Price and Brad Bauer:
"No, llamo is NOT a male llama!"

People and Politics

Mr. Longenbaugh to Mr. Crampton with Mr. Yoder and Mr. Howard: "And I heard this other Kennedy joke . . ."

The intent of the social sciences department of our school is to enable the student to be a better informed citizen of our country, and more importantly, of our world. In junior high the students are introduced to basic world history and Indiana history taught by Loren Longenbaugh and Robert Yoder. Sophomores and juniors study advanced world history and United States history, taught by Richard Crampton. David Howard instructs the senior course of government and psychology.

Stan Smith and Sherry Burson to Mr. Howard: "But you can't give us D's just because we're for Bayh!"

Compliments of WAWASEE SPORTSMAN'S CENTER

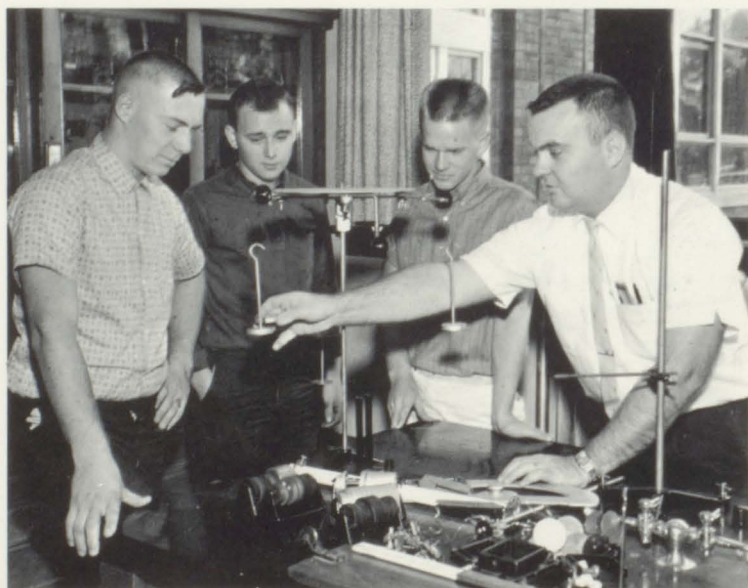

The science department at Syracuse High School enjoys the newest and finest of teaching equipment--swing-out demonstration panels, a fume chamber, and a greenhouse. Richard Edwards begins the future scientists with good basic knowledge in his general science class. Rollin Cutter then takes over and helps the students explore the world of biology. Then it's Charles Davies' turn as the juniors undertake chemistry. Michael Neff finished this thorough job with a "rigorous" one hour devoted to discussion of the daily lesson and the other for laboratory work. How could our nation ever lose the "space race?"

Mr. Cutter to Mr. Edwards, Mr. Neff, and Mr. Davies: "Then I put this live frog in the vat and you should have heard them scream!"

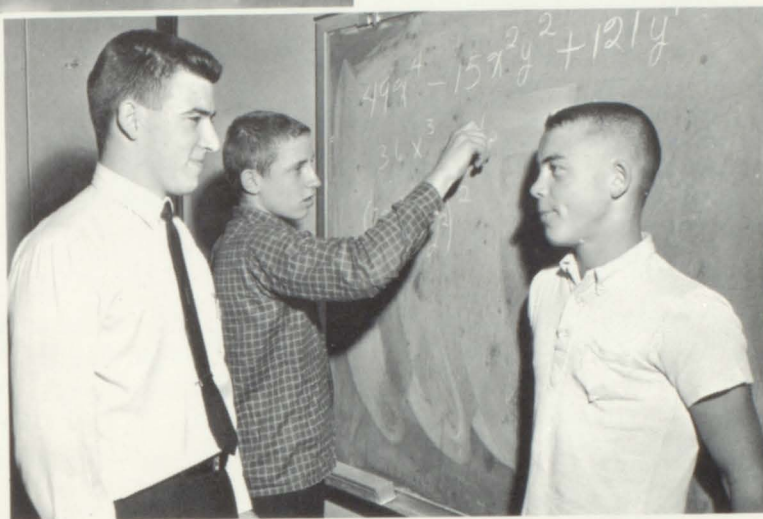

Mr. Neff to Sam Bushong, Rick Hocker, and Steve Yoder: "Nahthing happened! Let's add a few more grams."

Mr. Davies to Mr. Meek with Mr. Neff looking on: "But I can prove that $2 \text{ and } 2 = 4!$ "

Mr. Davies to Bill Bushong with Steve Smith in the back: "You did it ALL yourself. $5 + 5 = 10!$ "

Syracuse High School offers a varied range of mathematics courses. Future Albert Einsteins may take advantage of the full two years of algebra and the one semester senior course in college algebra. These students will also probably take geometry and trigonometry in their preparation for college. Michael Neff and Charles Davies teach the academic series of math courses. General or business math is taught by Gareth Meek to benefit those planning to continue their education. It is often wise for these students to acquire one year's experience in basic algebra. The mathematics department enters two contests yearly--the National Math Contest and the Indiana High School Achievement program. The high standing of students in these tests indicate the fine quality of math at SHS.

Homes, Hammers, and Hogs

Mrs. Baumgartner to Mr. Edwards and Mr. Alford: "It says right here to add the eggs; THEN beat!"

The practical arts department includes industrial arts, home economics, and vocational agriculture. Mr. Alford stresses precision with the hammer and nail, and his industrial arts students take pride in a re-assembled motor. The class members demonstrate their achievements at the yearly Industrial Arts Show. Mrs. Baumgartner's classes in home economics cover such fields as sewing, cooking, and family living. Their annual pride is the dress review. Mr. Edwards prepares his students to be better farmers in an ever progressive field of agriculture. These future far farmers look forward to the judging contests where they can apply classroom knowledge to practical situations.

Mrs. Baumgartner to Judy Bryan with Vicki Kline: "You ate all our food! How could you?"

Administration and Faculty

Let's Go. It's Up to You, Mike.

Paul Moore, our new principal;
"Big Brother is watching you."

"5,864,701 . . . 5, 864,702 . . . " Jean Koher, Mr.
Moore's efficient secretary, runs off the Monday morning bulletin on the ditto machine.

Not Me, Phil. It's Chuck's Turn.

From A PSALM OF LIFE

Lives of great men all remind us
We can make our lives sublime,
And, departing, leave behind us
Footprints in the sands of time.

Footprints, that perhaps another,
Sailing o'er life's solemn main,
A forlorn and shipwrecked brother,
Seeing, shall take heart again.

Let us then be up and doing,
With a heart for any fate;
Still achieving, still pursuing,
Learn to labor and to wait.

--Henry Wadsworth Longfellow

Speakers, Listeners, Leaders

FRONT ROW: S. Karesh, vice-president, G. Brown, A. Vanderford, secretary, C. Kroh, C. Moore, N. Butt. ROW 2: Mr. Paul Moore, sponsor, S. Carlson, M. Bushong, J. Stefanski, treasurer, R. Searfoss, M. Brower. THIRD ROW: M. Storms, president, L. Pittman, J. Mauzy, T. Webb, J. Hibschan.

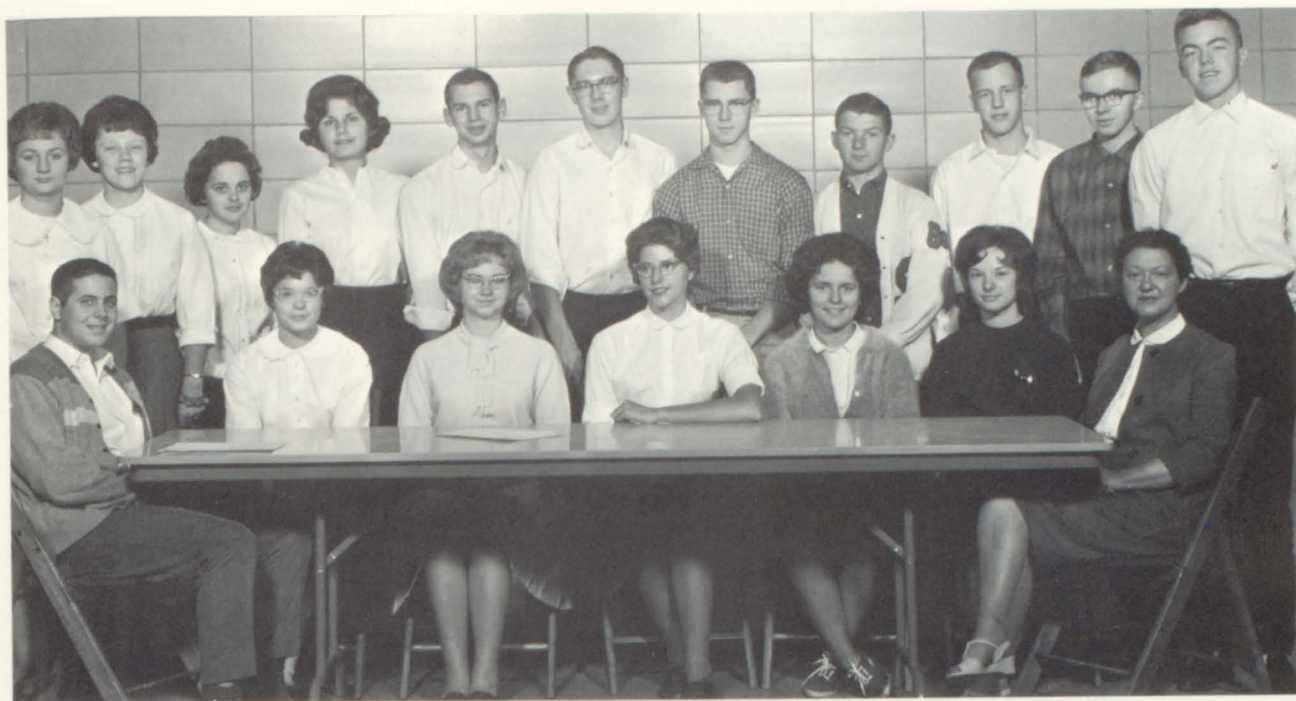

SPEAK, LISTEN, LEAD . . . those are the three aims of the student council. Fifteen members from all grades "speak" for their fellow students, letting their opinions be known to the administration. They "listen" for news and concerns of the faculty and principal and they pass the word along to others. Finally they "lead" in the formation of policies, students attitudes, and school betterment. The council believes that there are areas like citizenship, sportsmanship, morals, and discipline, in which youth can better handle and correct themselves. The student council is proving this belief to be true.

Jim Felts and Marilyn Martin, King and Queen of 1962, lead off the annual Spring Dance.

The Laurel Chapter of the National Honor Society was organized at Syracuse High School in 1960. Since then, the original membership of fifteen has increased to seventeen members. The Honor Society is composed of students who maintain a scholastic average of "B" or better with a "Satisfactory" in citizenship. Membership is based on scholastic standing, character, leadership, and service.

The purposes of the Honor Society are to create student initiative to make better grades, to set a good example for the student body, and to serve the school.

This year, a tutoring service was offered to students in grades seven through twelve who were having difficulties with their studies. A suggestion box for constructive criticism was continued. A award of academic letters is being considered for students with a high scholastic rating.

The news staff, working diligently, with its editors, proofreaders, and reporters, reported accurately the school events of interest to the entire community. Because space was limited, regular columns were impossible.

Reporters, selected by their respective classes, supplied items of news-worthy interest. Vicki Firestone, senior reporter, wrote features on the activities of her class. Jane Stoelting authored items on the juniors. The sophomore and freshman reporters, Barb Arnold and Sally Searfoss, also supplied features.

Mrs. Rigdon was the faculty advisor and Sandy Speer served as editor. Also helping were the assistant editor, Geri Bauer, and typists from Mr. Ummel's class.

Many other contributions were made by students and faculty members during the year.

The Lillian Hamman Chapter of the Future Teachers of America was created for the purpose of informing students of the possibilities in a teaching career. It is affiliated with the Indiana State Teachers Association and National Education Association. The goals of F.T.A. are: to improve character and personality, to give the student a realistic look at teaching, to allow him to explore his interests, abilities, and skills, and most important to prepare him for college.

This year the library was moved across the hall into larger and roomier quarters in the old study hall. This change allowed space for expansion of library materials and also more tables and chairs for the reading and study room.

The library is administered by Mrs. Whiteman, the librarian, with the aid of student librarians who take care of checking the attendance, checking books in and out, shelving books, and also aid in processing books for circulation. Two of the students, Shirley Whitehead and Lu Ann Longenbaugh, attended a workshop for student librarians at Indiana University during the summer of 1962 where they studied library procedures.

The library includes fiction as well as reference materials and a periodical file of back numbers. Also a paperback bookstore has become a part of the library.

The Syracuse High School Art Department has been very busy this year. They have done everything from landscapes, portraits, colored glass effect pictures, still-lives and abstracts on automation to linoleum block-print Christmas Cards.

The equipment they have used has ranged from pencil, charcoal crayons and pastels, to water-colors, oils and India ink.

The students were very busy at Christmas time, erecting their annual nativity scene. Next year, they plan to start a new papiermache nativity scene.

Some of the students entered artwork in the Regional Art Contest. They are planning a field trip to South Bend soon to view the results of the contest.

The junior and senior art students are presently working on a mural about the Syracuse High School, which they will present to the school upon its completion.

This spring, the art students will once again display their work in the annual art exhibit.

The junior high band, under the direction of Mr. Lentz, offers a good musical foundation for students in the sixth, seventh, and eighth grades. Members play numbers ranging from classical music to popular tunes in order to acquaint the members with different forms of music. Junior band is a stepping stone between elementary music and high school band. Students improve each year with the aid of private lessons taught during the summer by Mr. Lentz.

Each year the band presents a spring concert as a climax to the year's activity.
