Warriors in a Silver Year

It's our silver anniversary! With the constant improvements that Wawasee High School has enjoyed, not much is left to associate this building with the first year that the doors opened in 1968. One constant, however, has been the four famous busts in the front hall: George Washington, William Henry Harrison, Abraham Lincoln and Chief Wawasee. These four men were placed there for their historical importance, but also important are the men and women of the staff who have been a part of 25 years of Wawasee history. Mrs. Elam, Mrs. Huber, Mr. Storey, Mr. Minton, Mr. Alford, Mr. Neff, Mr. W. Kitson, Mr. R. Kitson and Mr. Iden have seen many changes over 25 years. In 1968 the auditorium, cafeteria and gym were not even finished. The plays were held at Syracuse Junior High, lunches consisted of a brown bag, and our first home basketball game was not played until January 3, 1969. Since then there have been three major rennovations with the addition of the social studies circle and the p.e. gym; cafeteria annex and vocational building; and the 24 new rooms completed in 1993. Along with the expansion of the building, came expanding enrollment. In 1968-1969, 765 students were enrolled; since then the number of students has swollen to over one thousand. Happy anniversary, Wawasee High School!

Academic teams talk up a storm

Wawasee's academic teams were without a spell bowl team, but did have five other teams which included: social science, coached by Mrs. Martin; science, coached by Mrs. Schumm; English, coached by Mrs. Hursh; fine arts, coached by Mrs. Hursh; and math, coached by Miss Kline. This was the third year for academic team competition. This year's topic was African Heritage. Each of the five teams studied that topic for about three months and then traveled to competitions starting at the end of February through the middle of March. Anyone who was currently enrolled in Wawasee High School was eligible to compete on any of the academic teams. Many students competed on more than one of these teams.

Homecoming week was TRIUMPHANT. Almost half of the 949 students took part in the week's activities. Some of the costume liveliness around WHS included Kriss Kross Day, Where's Waldo Day, Class Theme Dress Day, Hunt Down the Tigers Day, and Class Print Day. Events of the week included the ice cream social, parking lot bash, powder puff football, fall fling, and the Homecoming dance. The final results for all Homecoming class competitions were seniors and juniors tied for first; sophomores were third; and the freshmen were fourth. Seniors won the powder puff football games and murals. The juniors won the class skit, tied for first in the lip sync, and they won the fall fling games. All the classes were very successful during Homecoming week.

Strangers in a strange land

Wawasee High School had five exchange students from Europe. Thomas Weider, a senior, came from Bernburg, a small town near Berlin in the former East Germany. During the school year he took part in different activities such as cross country and swimming. Suenja Hartmann's hometown was Mainz in Germany. As a senior she became involved in the varsity singers. Carolina Handgraaf came from Alphen aan den Ryn in Holland. Playing the clarinet, she was a part of Wawasee's marching band. Rikke Nielsen, a senior too, had her home in Greve, a small town in Denmark near Copenhagen. During her school year she was a member of the Wawasee swim team. The last of the exchange students was Till Arens. His hometown Oldenburg was in the northern part of Germany. As a senior he became involved in football, swimming and soccer. For each of these exchange students, it was a great experience to spend a whole year in a foreign country and to live in a different school system. All of them went through graduation and would certainly always remember this year in America.

Three of a kind

The fall play, presented November 27 and 28, consisted of three mysteries: "Nasty Thing, Murders"; "Murders Well Rehearsed"; and "Any Body for Tea." Mrs. Cyndi Thornburg stated, "The three plays were chosen because of their simple or non-existent sets, the varied characters and lengths." Sets were an issue because the on-going construction in the building limited the time available to build sets. The play was directed by Cyndi Thornburg, with assistant director, Lynn Griffith; set, Karen Parr; tickets/program, Betty Bultemeier; poster/program design Bill Maloney; stage manager, Jamie VanLue; stage crew, Josh Bess, Shannon Boyts, Stacie Shreve, and Michelle Davis; lighting, David Kiefer; and ushers and make up, drama club. The cast and crew worked hard for a month to make everything perfect.

The place to be!

Basketball intramurals were the place to be. These players had to have a D or above average to participate in the games. The games were on Tuesdays and Wednesdays from 6:00 to 9:00 PM. There were certain rules that had to be followed. If a player fouled out of two games, he was out for the rest of the season. The team X-Squared won the tournament for the second year in a row. Members of the team were Matt Wilkinson, Matt Beer, Toby Edmonds, Spencer Long, Chris Mullins, Nate Haugh, Doug Hartley and Jeremy Price. WBC were the runners-up with only one loss all season.

Volleyball intramurals took place second semester. There were over fifteen teams that participated. The same rules applied to these teams as that of the high school girls' volleyball teams. A double elimination tournament was held to end the season in May.

You're A Good Man, Charlie Brown

The spring musical, YOU'RE A GOOD MAN, CHARLIE BROWN, was held March 26-27. The production process began late in January and rehearsal lasted anywhere from 2-3 hours each night. The students involved had to maintain a delicate balance between the production and their schoolwork. YOU'RE A GOOD MAN, CHARLIE BROWN was a musical that all ages could enjoy; it included the famous kite scene and, of course, the baseball game. There was actually no plot involved with the musical. It was just a series of short scenes from one day of Charlie Brown's life set to music. The part of Charlie Brown was supposed to be played by Matt Stoll, but due to a freak case of the chicken pox, Matt was unable to be in the musical. Luckily, Josh Bess had taken his part as an understudy seriously and was able to step directly into the role with almost no extra rehearsal time. The director, Mrs. Cyndi Thornburg, had this to say about the production, "The musical was a great success due to the hard work of everyone involved. I am very happy and extremely proud to have been associated with the cast, directors and the show itself!" Upon looking back on the musical, Mrs. Thornburg stated, " Who signed me up for this job, anyway?" Assistant director, Miss Kristen Wooldridge, said that she loved all the cast members, even the ones with chicken pox. Mrs. Thornburg said, "All of them were hardworking, super kids to be with!" Taking part, in any form, in a musical production was a learning experience for all involved. It was also a time for sharing, as numerous hours were spent together, day after day after day . . . Due to the dedication of all, YOU'RE A GOOD MAN, CHARLIE BROWN was a smashing success!!

Construction and reconstruction, upstairs

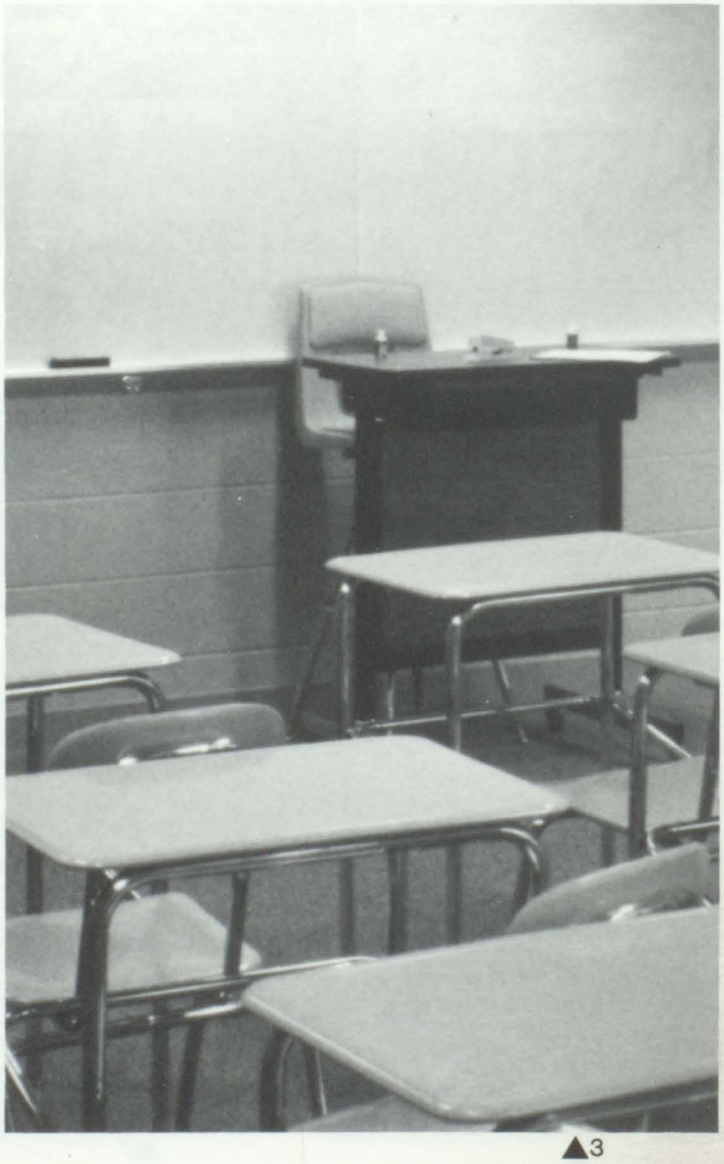

The summer and fall were troublesome ones due to the construction of the new addition and reconstruction of the main building. The staff, workmen, faculty, and students had to work around each other constantly. One of the problems was storage of the furniture for the rooms that were not finished. The janitors had to put some of the desks and chairs along the hallways. Though the building of the new addition was inconvenient, it paid off in the long run. The upstairs addition was occupied in October. There were large new science rooms with a greenhouse. Some departments were not brand new, but were remodeled with new carpet and a television monitor. Language arts, art and special needs left the upstairs and math moved in, while foreign language moved down the hall.

. . . and downstairs

There was a lot of remodeling and adding on to the downstairs of the building. A new choir and lecture room were built on the east side of the building where a new guidance office was also added. Both the attendance office and the main office were remodeled. The library was renovated and enlarged, receiving new technological equipment, including new student computers, a CD ROM system and a video distribution set-up, used for still videos, regular VHS and laser disc. Four new computer labs were added for pub art, writing, social science and p.e. Also, there was a courtyard placed where the old student parking lot was located. The old science rooms were remodeled into new special needs rooms. Two surge areas were created in the area of the former courtyard and outside the spectator gym. The auditorium received new seat covers, carpet and a new curtain. Both the art and English departments moved downstairs into the new addition, which was occupied in December.

Sentimental Journey

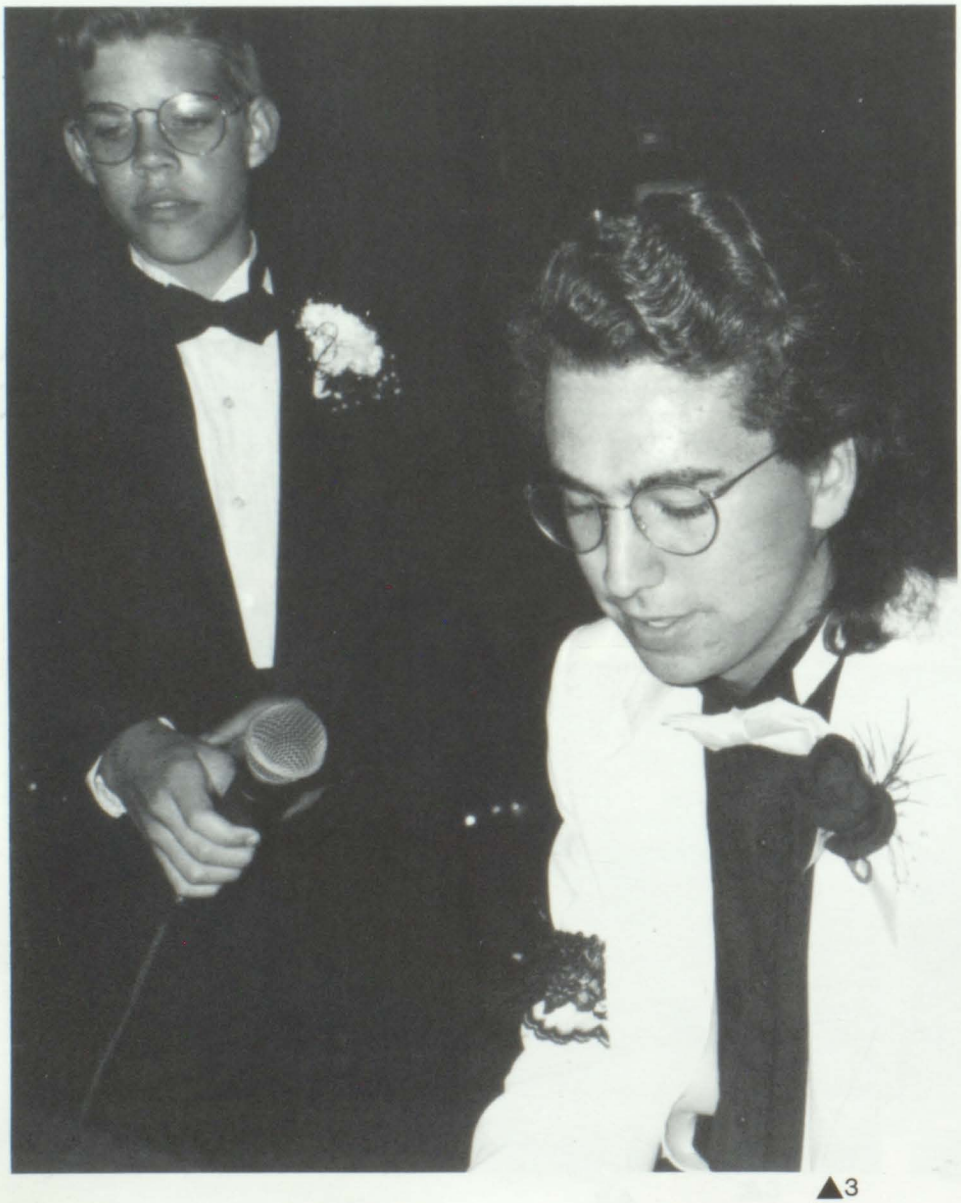

The prom committee, which consisted of students Amber Brown, Anna Meyers, Krista Brumbaugh, David Antu, Jonah Beer, Sheri Broekers, Julie Brown, Brandee Carlson, Ashley Dick, Toby Edmonds, Chelsi Mangona, Erin Mills, and Amber White, and sponsors Mrs. Janie Leach and Mr. Phil Metcalf, completely decorated the Greencroft Center in Goshen in colors of teal, white and black. On Saturday, May 15, through an archway composed of marblized balloons and columns, seniors and their dates took a Sentimental Journey. Prom goers elected Jonah Beer as king and Ashley Dick as queen. The seniors danced to the sounds of "First Impressions," and at 11:00 Senior class president Angie Garner toasted her classmates, reminding them of the journey that they had taken through their years of school together.

Traditional prayer remains

Due to a 1992 Supreme Court ruling, the tradition of both an invocation and benediction at the 25th graduation ceremonies was very much an issue for this class. The WCSC school board voted to allow the senior class to decide the matter for themselves, neither condemning nor condoning the prayer. WHS was very much the center of media attention over a three week period. Local TV stations were here interviewing class officers and taping classes. Some area school boards did not allow their seniors the same amount of freedom in the decision making process, and WHS was definitely the envy of many area graduating classes. After a presentation from the corporation lawyer and a homeroom meeting filled with open debate, the class of 1993 voted overwhelmingly to include prayer in their ceremony. In another homeroom meeting all seniors wishing to present the prayers were given a chance to explain why to their classmates. Mary Neterer was then chosen to give the invocation and Matt Wilkinson the benediction.

After all this, graduation was held on Sunday afternoon, June 6. One hundred and ninety-three seniors received their diplomas after listening to a variety of well given speeches. Dr. Thornton welcomed the audience on behalf of the school corporation, and Senior class president Angie Garner welcomed family and friends on behalf of the graduates. The seniors, with the girls wearing silver robes to commemorate the silver anniversary year, marched in to the gym to the traditional "Pomp and Circumstance" performed by the symphony orchestra and Mrs. Betty Appenzeller on the organ. Stacey Coy, salutatorian, spoke to those present about the challenges that lie ahead; Jenny Beer, valedictorian, recalled some special memories from her high school years. Before his address on four key ingredients to success, Mr. Nyle Fox, principal, presented special awards to three administrators who were involved with the first graduation exercises 25 years ago: former superintendent Don Arnold; former principal Henry Smith; and former vice-principal Donn Kesler. After the presentation of diplomas and the tassles were turned, the candlelighting ceremony was held during which the commencement choir sang "Like an Eagle." The seniors then marched out and began a new tradition; on the front parking lot hats were tossed into the air to celebrate the end of their high school careers.

Seniors are silver

This senior class had the distinction of being the 25th class to graduate from Wawasee High School. They started the year well, tying for first in the Homecoming competition, winning powder puff and murals. There were a few difficulties with their senior shirts, but they finally arrived in January. All the seniors received lockers in the new addition as a special privilege. Being their senior year, they spent a lot of time applying for jobs, colleges and scholarships. Since this year was the silver anniversary, they chose silver robes for the girls and green ones for the guys, a break from the traditional green and white. The second semester was the busiest for the seniors as they started working on prom and looked forward to So Long Senior Week, Honors and Awards Day, and graduation.

JUNIORS

The juniors had a great year. In the fall fling they tied for first with the seniors. They accomplished this by placing first in the class skit; placing first in the lip sync; and winning all the fling games. They again placed first in the annual Penny Pitch with a class total of $877.20; $135.20 more than last year. This year a new contest for the cutest couple was held at the Sweetheart Ball with Juniors Kurt Beer and Becky Ray being voted the cutest. As a class, they had their final fund raising project, sales of candies and cookies, in preparation for graduation expenses their Senior year. The Junior class officers were Carmen Waldrop, president; Erika Sincroft, vice-president; Jenny Fouts, secretary; Colleen Hoffert, treasurer.

SOPHOMORES

The sophomore class had an exciting year. They came out third overall in the homecoming week activities, and even tied for first with the juniors in the lip sync competition. They also had their annual chicken barbeque fund raiser for their class treasury in May. Sophomore Nicole Scherer stated, "It's a lot harder than being a freshman; there's a lot more homework involved. But it is better because when you're a freshman, you're at the bottom of everything." Sophomore advisors were Mr. Jerry Lambert, Mrs. Beth Hursh, Mr. Don Storey, Miss Joy Swartzentruber, Miss Kristen Wooldridge, Mrs. Pam Schumm, Mr. Karl Keiper, Mr. Neal Frantz, Mrs. Judy Wolfe and Mr. Randy Aalbregtse. The Sophomore class officers were Jennie Boyer, president; Rachel Beer, vice-president; Stephanie Bender, secretary; Trent Beer, treasurer.

FRESHMEN

Freshman year provided many first time experiences for the class of '96 such as ordering their class rings, learning CPR in phys ed, contributing to Penny Pitch, enjoying homecoming, and participating in their first fund raiser. They worked hard during homecoming week, taking second in powder puff, loosing to the seniors. During the Penny Pitch they came in third, raising $574. 22, contributing 24% of the total collected. Magazine sales began in March. This was the first of many times they would be expected to raise money for their senior activities. It was a good first year for the freshmen. The Freshman class officers were Amanda Beer, president; Spencer Aalbregtse, vice-president; Natalie Dick, secretary; Chandra Mathew, treasurer.

The band plays its own beat

The Wawasee band had a wonderful year. According to Cory Young,"Everybody tried really hard, and there was always room for improvement. " This year something new was added to the band program: the David S. Blackwell Scholarship. This year's winner was Brad Koser. Other band members said that even though they worked hard, band was fun. The award winners included marching band who received a first at district and a second at regionals; and jazz band who earned a first at state. The musical season included the Winter Concert and the Spring Corporation Music Festival. Scott Hardy, a junior, insisted that the Spring Music Festival was "one of the best. "

What an exciting year for art!

The art department, like many of the other departments here at WHS, had to begin the school year in less than ideal conditions. The artists had to endure almost all of the first semester in what was left of the old art rooms with no heavy work tables, no drains, and probably the worst thing of all—new carpeting in one of the art rooms. In December the artists settled into the new rooms and loved all of the space, northern light and conveniences, especially the display cases in the halls and extra bulletin board space in the rooms. Despite a slow start, the students created great pieces of work ready for the annual art show held on April 30th and May 1st.

Great at state

The members of the Varsity Singers and the Dream Company could look back on a successful year of outstanding concerts. According to Mr. Beckett, director of both groups, the trip to King's Island for a concert would also be a good memory that the students would cherish. Great performances were especially given at the Indiana State Solo and Ensemble Competition both district and state, the Indiana Jazz Contest, the Christmas Concert and the Psi Iota Xi Concert. Both Dream Company and Varsity Singers received very high rankings at the state contest in Indianapolis. Scholarship winners were Brad Koser, vocal solo; guys' quartet with Brad Koser, Matt Stoll, Jamie VanLue and Aaron Scantlen, vocal group; and Rachel Beer, piano solo scholarship winner.

A variety of home skills

The home economics department offered numerous programs for all grade levels. There were six different classes available. They were Foods I, which dealt with the basics of cooking; Foods II, which planned full meals and ventured into larger varieties of cooking and planning full meals. The child development classes were taught how to care for children. The sewing class had a clothing project and made crafts. Family relations taught students to understand families and the family unit. Interior design was a class that was taught so that the students could learn coordinate colors and put them together in an interesting style. Home economics offered a variety of classes to students.

Stay tuned for new changes

The orchestra enjoyed an increase in size as a flood of new freshmen joined the high school. Mr. Dennis Friesen-Carper not only received a new, much bigger office, but was also given a new orchestra room. The new room was equipped with cages for the orchestra members to store their instruments and new closets to store their orchestra outfits. The new room also had a window which pleased the students as well. The orchestra members took part in a Solo and Ensemble Contest on February third. The group performed very well in the contest, but did not advance to state. The orchestra was divided into four different groups including: full orchestra, chamber orchestra, Fiddlers on the Roof, and Fiddlers in the Basement. The orchestra was indeed very impressive.

The future is their business

The business department offered a variety of classes. Some of these classes were accounting, keyboarding, computer application, and intro to business. In accounting students received 2 or 3 packages of business simulations to work on. The intro to marketing class staffed the bookstore and designed their own window displays while learning communication skills. They also participated in a stock market simulation. The new addition did not change the location of the business department, but both Mr. Murphy and Mr. Storey changed rooms while Mr. Minton received another window for displays and a large new storage area.

The "new" math

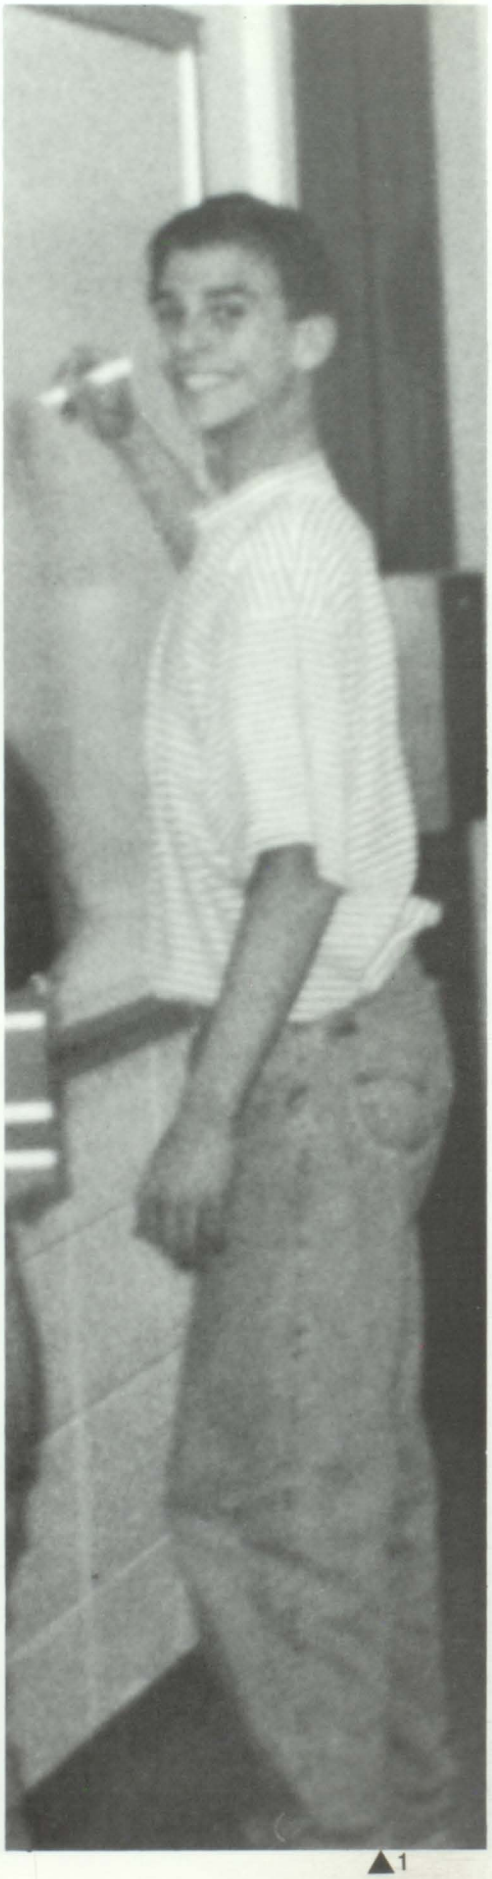

The math department had many new and exciting experiences this year. They adopted new textbooks to be used in all classes except Algebra II. Mr. Frantz was in the process of developing a tech prep program for the math students to be implemented next year. Mrs. Martin was a new addition to the math department, coming from Warsaw High School. She enjoyed being at Wawasee. The math department also received new computers for a mathematical computer lab which they placed in the new rooms, as the math department left the circle and returned to the second floor where it started out twenty-five years ago. Mr. Hassan liked teaching in his new room. He especially liked the new math office, but he said he liked teaching any where.

Language arts department has a memorable year

The language arts department had a memorable year with their new rooms and computer lab. Mrs. Cyndi Thornburg said, "I am so glad that the jack hammers, pounding pipes and small explosions are a thing of the past!" For the latter part of last year and the first of this year, construction was going on both outside and below the language arts classrooms. Mrs. Thornburg went on to say that she loved all the light in her new room and that the acoustics were a lot better. She also stated that she liked being down stairs, now that she was used to it, and found that having a phone so close was much more convenient.

There were additions in curriculum as well with the creative writing course being added. Another addition was the new speech teacher, straight from a substitute teaching job at Snider in Ft. Wayne. Her name was Ms. Kristen Wooldridge. First semester seniors in language arts classes also enjoyed Mrs. Michelle Blum, a student teacher for Mr. Joel Robbins.

Keeping the school in order

The cooks and custodians were the people students counted on every day to cook lunch and to keep the school clean. The kitchen boss Susie Kern kept the staff working and also took care of all the paperwork. The cooks prepared the school lunch during the first half of the day and then cleaned up for the second half. Vern White kept the custodial staff in order. The summer of '92 was an especially difficult one as the custodians were in constant motion trying to work with and around the construction crews. Once school began the custodians worked day and night finding storage for the twenty-four rooms of equipment that arrived before the rooms were finished. After the new addition was occupied, they went back to their other full-time job of cleaning during the day and also after hours. They also cleaned up after all sporting events and pep sessions. The cooks and custodians worked especially hard to keep the school nice for another year.

Speaking with foreign tongues

The foreign language teachers enjoyed moving into new rooms before the end of first semester. Although the rooms were not in the new addition, they had been redecorated from their previous occupants. The rooms had earlier belonged to special needs, health, and art.

Foreign exchange students kept the foreign language department busy during the second semester. There were four students who spent the entire school year at Wawasee. Three of those students were from Germany and one was from Holland.

The first temporary group of students was from Costa Rica. They came for three weeks in January. The nine students enjoyed the time they spent in the United States, and some did not want to go home.

Sixteen German students arrived on March 26 to spend some time in the United States. They were still at Wawasee when the French students arrived. This was the largest group with 26 students. The French students returned home on April 26, while the German students went home on April 16. The exchange students returned the favor when they hosted Wawasee students in the summer of 1993. Foreign language students participated in a fundraiser to raise money for those students who traveled abroad.

Christy Richcreek, Brandee Carlson, Angie Magiera, Amy Logan, and Ashley Dick enjoy being Mrs. Hursh's smallest class of French.

Socially accepted

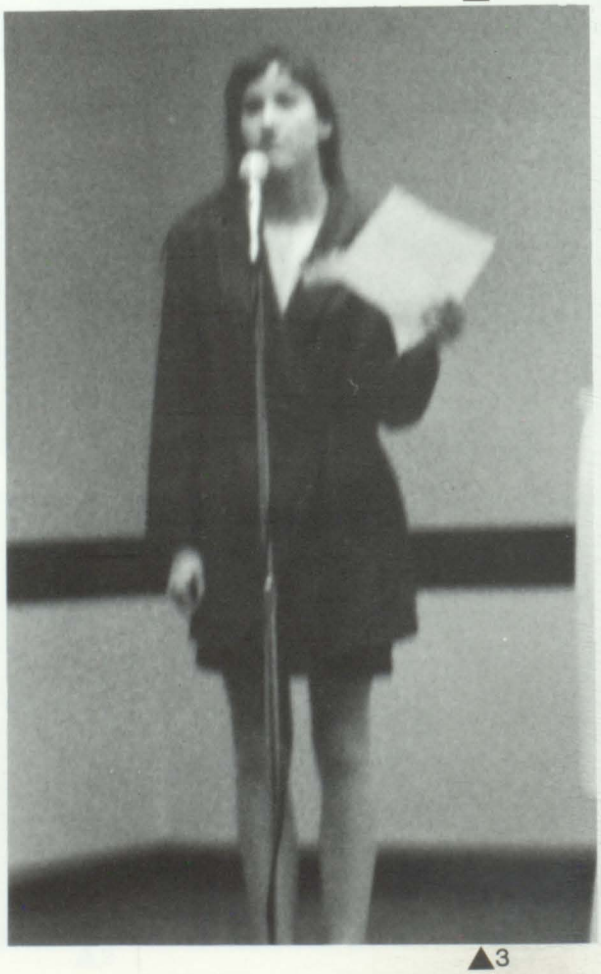

By the end of first semester, the social science department had the entire circle to themselves because the math department moved upstairs. With the exception of psychology, all of the department was in the circle. There was a new required subject in the social science department. Besides the traditionally required subjects of government and economics taken by seniors, and US history taken by juniors, the sophomores were required to take world history. The fall election ended after a heated debate with Republicans Matt Wilkinson and Jonah Beer winning at the polls with 68 percent of the votes. Carrie Schmahl and Brian Baker, representing the Democrats, put up a good fight and ended with 32 percent of the votes. Mr. Ron Corson and Mr. Jeff VanDrie headed the Model United Nations MUN. The first trip took the group to Grand Rapids, Michigan, where Julie Brown took top honors with her resolutions. The next trip led the delegates to Chicago for the largest MUN in the United States. Another trip was planned for the ISU-MUN in April.

Singing their hearts out

The choirs expanded into their new rooms at the front of the building and enjoyed all of the extra space and large windows. They performed in a variety of concerts including the annual Christmas concert and the Corporation Music Festival in March entitled "Show Stoppers." Members helped to raise money for the music department with the annual candy sale. For the first time freshmen made up the largest percentage in the choirs. The choirs performed for a variety of different groups and organizations as well as their usually scheduled concerts.

Everything is PRETTY!

The secretarial staff and aides enjoyed the benefits of the remodeling along with the faculty. The nurses had one new duty, which was to type the student health records into the computers. Even though they did not have a new room, they thought that the additional space was really nice. Mrs. Myra Alexander thought that the new carpet and paint was a very "pretty addition" to the school. Mrs. Jonie Christoffel was very impressed with the new computers and phones. She believed that the televisions and other new equipment in the library as a whole was good for WHS because, "We are finally catching up in the field of technology." Another person totally impressed with her new area was attendance secretary Mrs. Kathie Garrett. She went on to say that she loved all the space, especially the window, the carpet which helped keep the room warm and the noise down, and also her work station with a counter. Mrs. Betty Bultemeier agreed with her co-workers on the improvements. She added that the additional room in the guidance office was wonderful.

Opportunities for the future

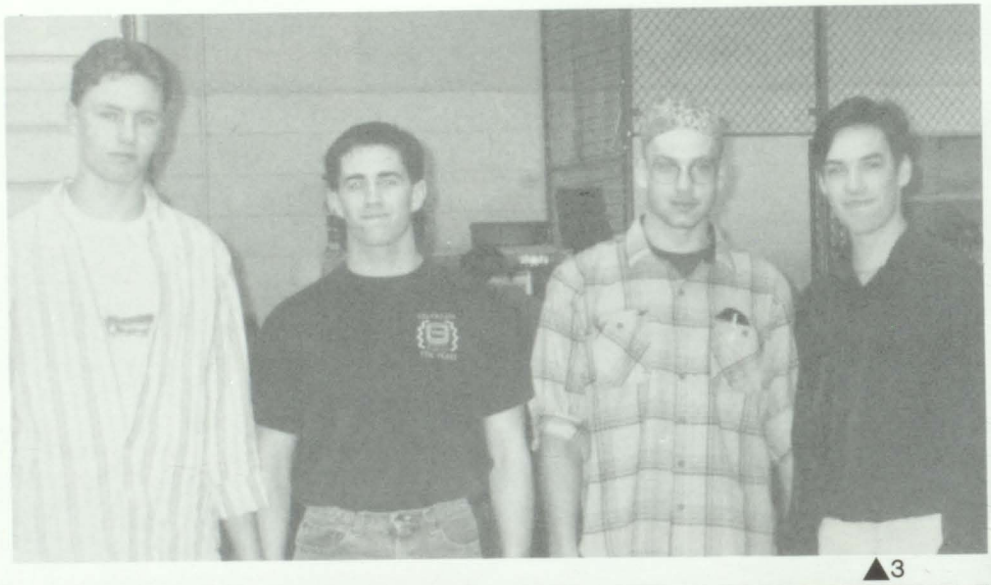

The vocational department provided many opportunities for students. Some vocational students traveled to area schools in the co-op. At Fairfield cosmetology was offered, and at West Noble the printing and graphic classes were offered. Students staying at WHS could take building trades. This year they built a house for Mr. Murphy, a teacher in the business department. In the ag-placement program students worked in ag-related and farm businesses. Auto Mechanics I and II studied and worked on cars. The secretarial office lab was set up just like an office. Its design was to let the students get the feel of working in an office, and many of its students worked in offices in the community second semester.

What's new in science?

The science department moved into the new addition in October. Staff members were very satisfied with their new facilities, but they will never forget all the extra hours they spent moving and then putting away all the old as well as new equipment they received. The larger class rooms and the newly installed computer network programs made great improvements. All of the science classes benefited a great deal from the many changes in the new addition. The science classes offered this year were physical science, required for freshmen; Biology I and Biology II, Chemistry I and Chemistry II, human physiology and anatomy, genetics, and physics. All of the students as well as the science department faculty greatly enjoyed the new conveniences. It was genuinely a full and exciting year for the science department.

New features added

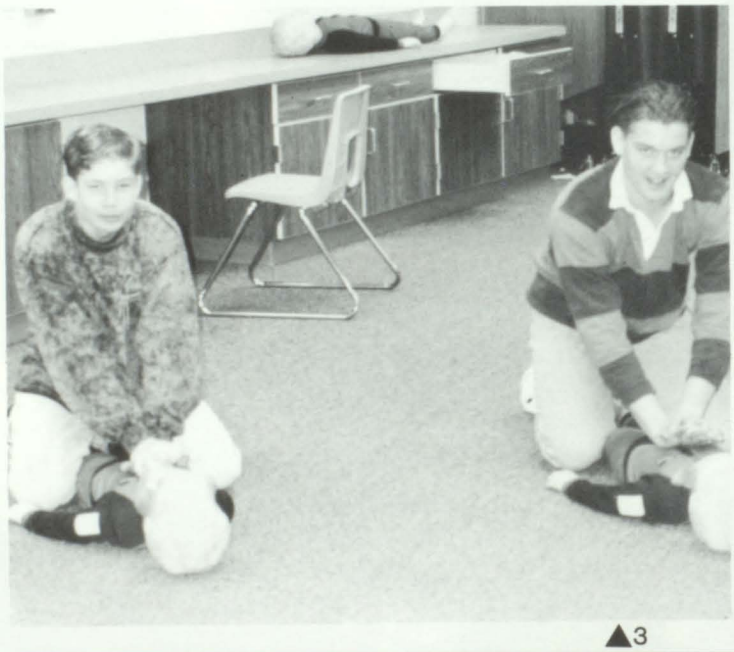

The P. E. department added a few new features to their program. They provided a student teacher position for Scott Rost who was from Manchester College. Besides their usual curriculum, the department added a games unit which included handball, table tennis and shuffleboard. They also required students to participate in either the biathlon or the triathlon held in the spring. Also a new classroom in the circle was assigned to the department for their CPR practice, testing and computer usage. A special honor was received by Mrs. Peterson who was presented with the Service Award at the annual Indiana Coaches Association Convention. She received the award for her contribution to girls athletics and the association over the past 23 years.

Just "old" computers for industrial technology

The industrial technology classes did not acquire any of the new computer technology that arrived with the new addition because they already had it. The department had been using the computers for a number of years in the Computer Aided Drawing CAD classes. The robots were used to give students an overview of the use of robotics in industry.

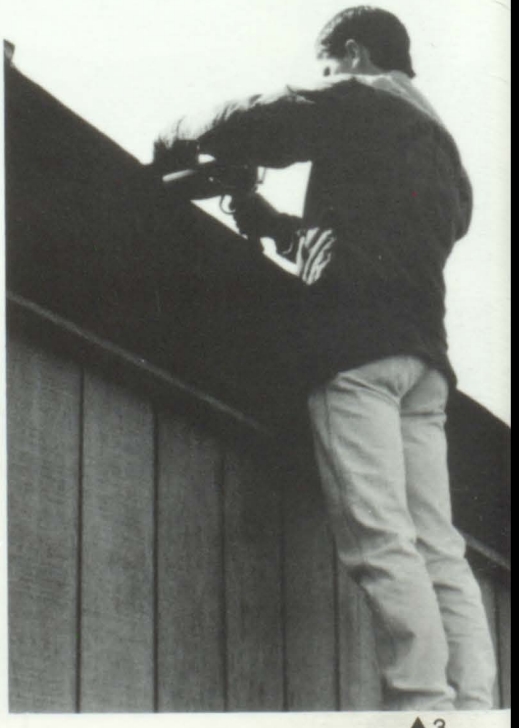

The construction classes were kept busy building a variety of projects. Students probably noticed the small sheds being built behind the school for different individuals in the community. Inside the classroom, the students were making benches, speaker boxes and even coffee tables for the teachers' lounge. They also carved designs into the benches placed around the school.

New equipment makes research easier

Not only nine new computers, but also a new video distribution system, which was used for still videos, regular VHS and laser disc, were two parts of the new technological equipment that the LRC received during 1993. A microfiche printer and a CD tower were also part of the new hardware this year. The printer could make copies from the microfiche monitor, which wasn't possible last year. Once the 7 CD tower was installed, there were several new programs for students' use, including an encyclopedia and SIRS. The new technology gave Wawasee students the possibility of doing almost all of their research on computers which were operated under three file servers named Curly, Larry and Mo. The card catalog for the library books was going to be placed on the computer system so that sources would be easier to find. The video distribution system with over 20 new VCRs, displayed, by teacher's request, a certain video in the classroom. Over 80 new TV monitors were placed throughout the school in almost every room. LRC staff Jonie Christoffel, Bill Guinther and Judy Thomas worked very hard to learn the operation of all this new equipment.

Administration has two new members

The administration helped the school achieve another great year as they had the job of keeping the school and students in order. There were different people in different positions. Mr. Lobsiger was in his first year as assistant principal. He was in charge of supplies for the school. Mrs. Parr was also in her first year as dean of students dealing with discipline. Mr. Fox was in his fourth year as principal. Mr. Fox had the job of making the rules and regulations. Mr. Traviolia was the athletic director who was responsible for all of the coaches, athletic supplies, and sports schedules. As vocational director, Mrs. Pat Huber was in charge of the vocational classes offered at not only WHS, but also the co-op schools of Fairfield and West Noble. She also organized all the adult education classes offered in the evenings. With all of these jobs, the administration kept busy, working very hard to make this school one of the best.

Guidance department keeps busy

The guidance department had an exciting year with their new offices, larger student load and new computer system. All of the school's report cards and deficiencies first went through the guidance department. Along with all of this, they were in charge of getting the student body prepared for future careers or college which included SAT's and financial aid meetings. In March they set up the Academic Hall of Fame banquet, and in May they organized Honors Day for the seniors.

The entire special needs department moved into a new suite of rooms in the old science hallway. The special needs department was busy helping the rest of the staff prepare for inclusion which was a plan to include all of the special needs students into the entire curriculum.

Swinging into action

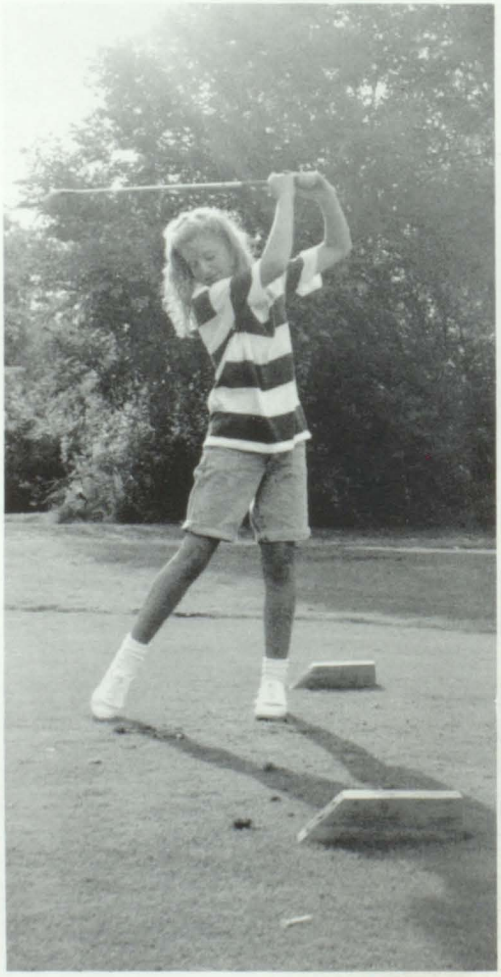

Under new coach Mr. Bill Lantz, the girls' golf team improved their record to 3-17. The girls made great strides in lowering their individual golf scores, and this hard work paid off for the team. The teams that lost to the swing of the Lady Warriors were the Plymouth Pilgrims and the Northwood Panthers, twice. The addition of Mia Rinehold, Robynne Conn, Liz Brunner and Amy Ray added a breath of fresh air to the team. With new additions, determination, and team work, the season showed many improvements.

Finally two "WINS" after a two season drought

The Wawasee varsity football team improved this season with a record of 2-7. The Warriors fought hard and came out fifth in the conference standings above Plymouth and Concord. Losing a very close game to Northridge by one point and experiencing an exciting and well fought game against arch rival Warsaw, the varsity improved over last season. Award winners were David Antu, MVP; Matt Beer, Pride/Hustle/Desire; Jeremy Brickey, Defensive Back; Chad Dippon, Offensive Line; Brandon Lozano, Offensive Back; Chris Peterson, Defensive Front; Chris Ponciroli, Most Improved; Orlando Vallejo, Special Team.

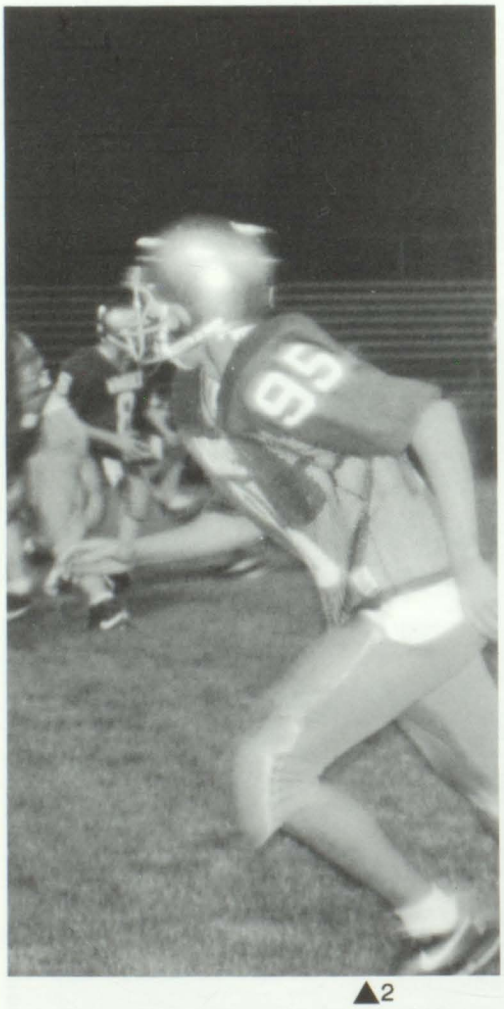

The Wawasee junior varsity football team played well in every game, but finished the season with a record of 1-5 beating Northridge.

The freshman football team, coached by Dave Van Lue and Tom Dickerson, concluded the season with a 1-5 record beating Northridge.

Girls run the distance

The girls' cross country team displayed a good effort this season with a record of 4-4. The girls ran well at sectionals, tying for fifth place. The team advanced to regional competition and finished fourth in the conference. Jamie Emmert was chosen NLC All Conference runner. Seniors Angie Garner, Amy Logan and Trisha Hostetler were main powers in the top seven. Erin Titus, a junior, finished in the top three consistently for the Warriors, and sophomore Darcey Coy finished in the top seven all year for the team. Sophomore Beth Cockburn and freshman Leslie Garner rounded out the varsity team. Awards were presented to Jamie Emmert, MVP and Low Point; Angie Garner, Runner-up Low Point.

They run hard and like it

The boys' cross country team had a great year. They finished 3rd in the N. L. C. with five wins and four losses. The team was led by seniors Bill Sohl, Ryan Shoemaker, Toby Edmonds, junior Jay Morel, sophomores Andrew Bartlett, Tony Ganshorn, and freshman Brad Stidhams. These seven runners stood out, but all the runners did a great job. Bill Sohl was boys' Most Valuable Runner, Low Point and also an N. L. C. All Conference winner; Ryan Shoemaker received Runner-Up Low Point. Jerry Minton coached the team to another winning season after coaching cross country at Wawasee for twenty-one years.

Real competitors never give up

The Wawasee boys' tennis team had a record of 4-9. They attained a shutout against Whitko, and wins over Columbia City, Northwood, and Manchester. The team was runner-up at sectionals and was also seventh in conference standings. According to Mrs. Murphy, assistant coach, the men did their best and never gave up!

The most exciting event of this tennis season was the meet against Northwood. All in all, the whole team played well, and it was a big conference win for the men. Throughout the season, Justin Ward, junior, played either first or second position on the varsity and Drew Ummel played either second or third position on the varsity. Both players did an excellent job. The individual award winners were Jeff Jarrett, Most JV Wins; Scott Pelletier, Coaches Award; James Scarbeary, Most Improved JV; Drew Ummel, Mental Attitude and Most Wins Varsity; Justin Ward, MVP; and Daren Wagoner, Most Improved Varsity.

Wawasee spikers are determined

Overall the varsity volleyball team had an exciting season with a record of 20-12. Varsity team members Angela Leamon and Clarice Harris stated that their most memorable moment was when they beat Goshen which was the first conference win since 1986. Angela said that her best game was against Northridge, and in her opinion the season was a success because of the total team effort. Angela also stated that the one word which would best describe the team was grrrreat! Clarice Harris said that the one word that described the team was unity, and her best game was against Tippy Valley.

The junior varsity volleyball team had a good season with a record of 14-6. Team member Patrina Dalio stated that her most memorable moment was, "when we came back from losing really badly and won. I had 9 blocks and 8 kills against Northwood." Patrina also said the one word which best described the junior varsity team was improved. Jenny Sorensen said that her best moment was, "when we came back and beat Northwood when we were down 12-3," and the word to describe the team would have been determination. Both Jenny and Patrina agreed totally that the one person that led the team was Chandra Mathew. "The game against Northwood, we wanted to win really badly, and we were determined to do it, so we pulled together as a team and won it," stated Jenny.

The freshman volleyball team ended with a record of 5-13. Team member Mandy Olson stated that in her opinion the team leaders were Dana Rinehold and Natalie Dick. Mandy explained,"I thought that we could have done better as a team if we had taken it more seriously."

Volleyball award winners were Amy Pritchard, Freshman 110%; Amanda Ertel, Junior Varsity 110%; Brandi Bray, Offense Award; Crystal Clipfell, MVP, Defense Award, Pride/Hustle/Desire Award; Niki Corbat, Most Assists; Angela Leamon, Serving Award.

Swimmers come out on top

The Wawasee girls' swim team finished their dual meet season with a record of 8-7. The team was led by senior Brandee Carlson and juniors Sarah Locke and Daniele Laub. According to Coach Karns, the season highlight was the meet against Concord, which represented Wawasee at its best. "With two swimmers out due to illness and competing against a team we have not beaten for several years, the Lady Warrior swimmers rose to the occasion like never before. We posted 13 personal bests that night and overcame an always tough Minuteman squad. The Warrior swimmers proved once again that determination and desire can accomplish much," Coach Karns stated.

This year's award winners were Sarah Locke, Diving Coaches Award; Daniele Laub, Hi-Point and MVP; Danielle Davis, Coaches Award; Crystal Whetten, Most Improved; Laura Grothaus and Ashley Dick, both 110%.

Outstanding season

The girls' basketball season was one of the greatest ever in school history. All teams, freshman, JV and varsity ended up with winning records. "The girls accomplished an awful lot this season. The varsity team record of 11-8 was the best since 1986," Coach Frantz stated. The team also broke the school record for free throw percentage with 65%. Team captains were Brandi Bray and Carrie Schmahl. Award winners were Brandi Bray, Rebound Award; Crystal Clipfell and Christa Dippon, Pride/Hustle/Desire; Yen Tran, MVP, Free Throw % and Assists; Lisa Charlton, JV Defensive Award; Sue Setlak, JV Offensive Award; Chandra Mathew, Freshman Defensive Award; Jennifer Morgan, Freshman Offensive Award. The varsity team ended up fourth in the NLC with Brandi Bray and Yen Tran named first team All-Conference by the NLC coaches. According to Frantz, the game against Elkhart Memorial was the most memorable one. "We were behind 14 points in the third quarter; we came back and won." Another outstanding game was against Northridge where every single player played very well.

Warriors shoot to the top of the NLC

The Warrior basketball teams had a spectacular year. The freshman boys' basketball team ended up with a 6-12 record; the JV team, with an outstanding 17-3 record; the varsity team, with an awesome 17-5. The varsity had one of their best years. The boys got off to a good start by defeating Concord for the first time in eight years. They also defeated Wawasee's greatest rival, Warsaw. The varsity team finished the regular season when they clinched the NLC title for the first time in school history. Unfortunately, the Warriors were unable to grab the much desired sectional crown, ending with a runner-up title. Awards went to Zach Stookey, Frosh Coaches Award; Troy Wuthrich, JV Most Rebounds; Jim Scarbeary, JV Free Throw %; P. J. Weisser, JV Rebounds; Brian Baker, Coaches Award; Chris Crow, Senior Award; Mike Ferverda, Rebound Award; Justin Ward, Most Improved; and Kyle Newcomer, MVP and a blanket.

Warrior wrestling still on a roll!

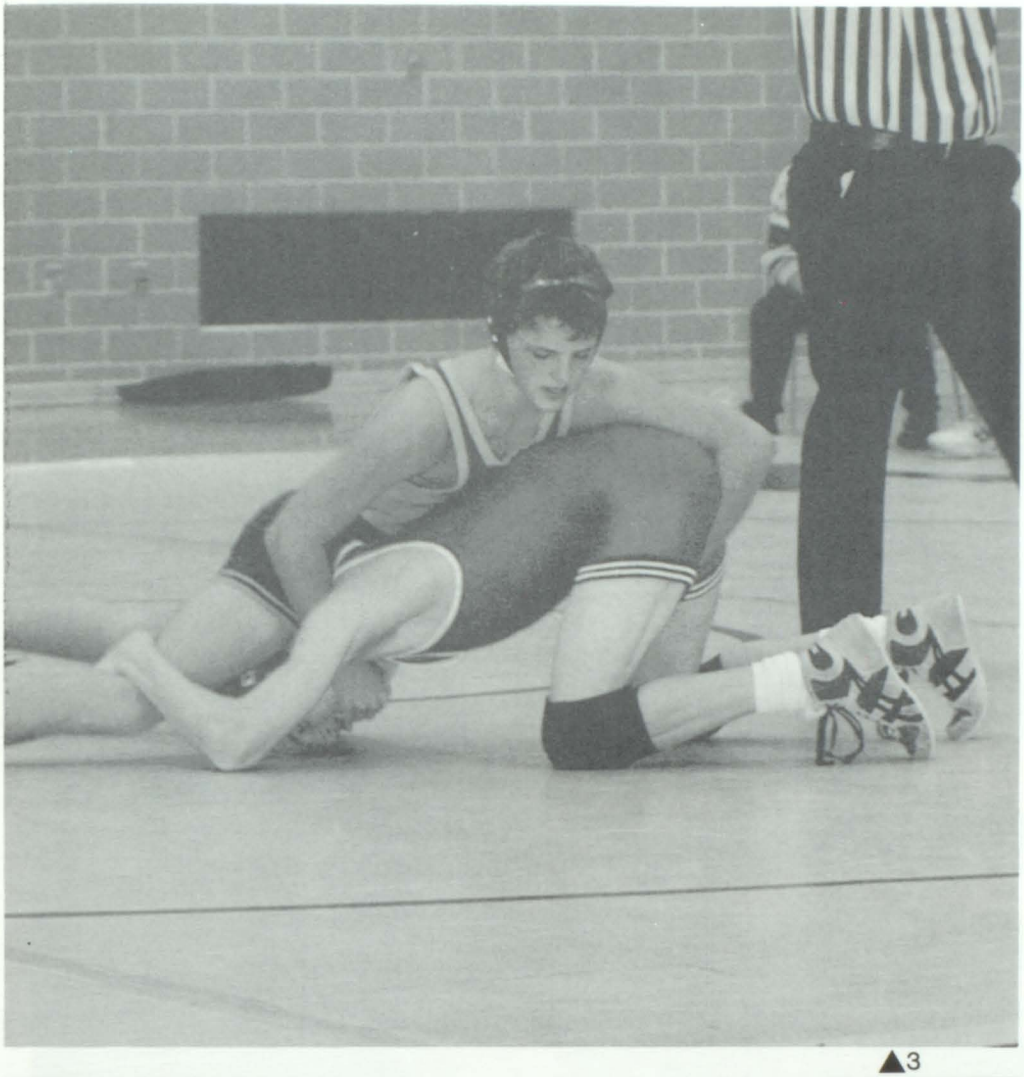

The Wawasee wrestlers ended their impressive season with an 8-3 record; a fourth place at NLC's; a sectional title; and a second place at regionals. MVP Mike Atkins had this to say about the team in general, "I think we had a great season. I think that all members of the team did an outstanding job; at first I didn't think we would do as well as we did, but everyone came through for us. I think with many returning from this year, we will have a pretty strong team next year!" Shawn Smith, a junior, stated, "The wrestling team as a whole did a great job this year even though we were weak in our middle weights. We had a lot of team leaders; we should have several guys do well at state next year." Both Mike Adkins and David Antu traveled to state, losing in Friday night's round. Individual award winners were Mike Atkins with MVP, Most Falls (15), Most Takedowns (108), Technical Falls (6), Mental Attitude, Near Fall 3(33), Near Fall 2 (23) and Fastest Fall(18 seconds); Blake Pilcher, Rookie of the Year; Travis Schlabaugh, Most Improved; and Jim Wheat, JV Wrestler of the Year.

Complete champions

The boys' swim team had a championship season. They won the NLC meet by 94 points with Andy Kryder bettering his own 100 free record. NLC champions were Andy Kryder, Ben Christoffel, Eric Schaekel, and Cory Manning. Sectionals were the next big championship with Andy Kryder breaking sectional records in the 50 and the 100 freestyle. Sectional records were also broken by the 100 and the 400 freestyle relay teams of Andy Kryder, Ben Christoffel, Cory Manning and Eric Schaekel. Nine swimmers traveled to the state meet where they finished 7th. Andy Kryder was runner-up in the 50 freestyle and 4th in the 100 freestyle. The 200 freestyle relay of Kryder, Ben Christoffel, Cory Manning, and Eric Schaekel was runner-up and bettered the All-American time. The swimming awards went to Andy Christoffel and Tony Ganshorn, Coaches Award; Andy Kryder, MVP and High-Point; Eric Swartzentruber, 110%; Ben Christoffel, Most Improved.

Improving from last year

The Wawasee soccer team was in its second year as a varsity sport. The team not only had many returning lettermen, but also a lot of new players. The soccer team had a good balance between offense and defense. Matt Wilkinson and Matt Beer worked the defense well. Kim Nguyen and Pete Dudchenko had many goals for the offense. Till Arens and Thomas Weider were the two German exchange students who played on the team. Till helped the team out with his goals. The soccer team improved with a record by the end of April of two wins, two losses, and two ties. The first victory ever in two years of varsity soccer was against Lakeland Christian 2-1 in overtime. Coaching the team was Tom Beckett who was very pleased with the team's effort.

Determined to win

The varsity baseball team started their season by sliding by Bethany Christian 3-2. They continued by losing to East Noble but conquered Columbia City 8-3. The Warriors fought battles against Elkhart Central and Warsaw but were defeated by both. However, the team came back to wallop Fairfield 23-7. After losing to Northwood, the Warriors were victorious in both games of a double header at Manchester. In the next two games the Warriors lost to Northridge and Plymouth. The varsity Warriors came back to beat Goshen 2-0 and Tippy Valley 4-3. Brandon Lozano helped the team by hitting five home runs early in the season.

The JV team pounded Whitko in their first game 17-6, but then were shut out by Northwood. It was a close game with Northridge, but the Warriors were defeated by one run. However, the team was determined and came back with tight wins over Plymouth 3-1 and Goshen 6-5.

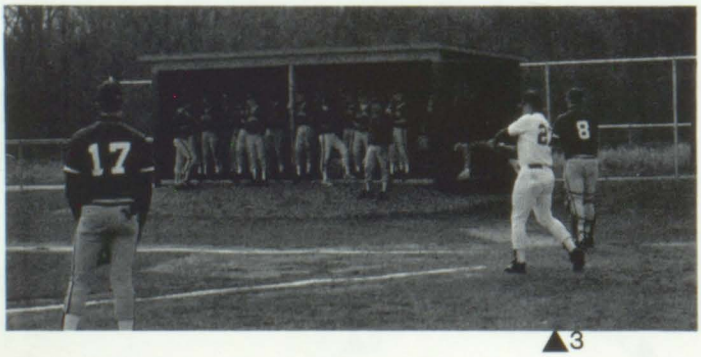

The freshman baseball team had a disappointing start to their season. They lost in two tough games to Manchester and Fairfield.

Safe at last

Even though the Wawasee softball team was beaten in their first five games of the season, they made a comeback hosting and winning the first Wawasee Softball Tournament. With wins over Whitko and Churubusco, the players clinched the championship. Both victories were very convincing as Wawasee scored more than ten runs in a game two times. Coach John Replogle stated, "That was a nice tournament, and we're going to win some more games." After the tournament, the team played Northridge, where both varsity and JV had very close games. With an 8-7 loss, the varsity team dropped their record to 2-6 at the end of April. The JV team went through extra innings before they fell 13-12 to the Northridge squad. Their record was 0-3 at the end of April. "We sometimes should get the gifts that we've been giving all year," Replogle said, "like walks and wild pitches; then there will be more victories."

Going beyond the limit

Wawasee's girls' track team had an exciting season beginning with a trip to Purdue for an indoor meet. Sophomore Jamie Close stated, "The most spirited people were Karena Zimmerman, Amy Logan and Angie Garner." The one thing that kept the team together was their competitive spirit and the closeness that each one felt for the other. The girls' track coaches were Mr. Troy Akers and Mr. Jeff Van Drie. This could have been considered a "rebuilding year" with the addition of many freshmen athletes. "All of the girls worked extremely hard and put 150% effort into everything that they did," remarked Coach Akers.

Fore!

The boys' golf team was filled with experience. The five returning golfers were seniors Brian Baker, Tim Whiteman and Randy Smith; junior Ben Brunner; and sophomore Jamie Hippe. At the Fort Wayne Northrop Invitational on April 17, Wawasee placed 12th out of 18 teams. By the first of May, the varsity team had achieved three wins and only one loss, to South Bend Riley. Brian Baker, Tim Whiteman, and Ben Brunner all played a key role in the matches this year.

Cheers for an exciting year

The cheerleaders had quite an eventful year, as usual. In July the cheerleaders attended a summer camp at Ball State to improve their style and to learn new techniques. The cheerleaders were also in charge of a cheerleading clinic for young girls. They had two clinics to teach aspiring cheerleaders basic skills and a dance that was performed with the Wawasee cheerleaders at a varsity basketball game. The profits from these clinics were used to pay for the cheerleaders' new uniforms. The cheerleaders were in charge of making all the signs for sports' recognition and also the decorating for both football and basketball sectionals. They also were in charge of all of the pep rallies and sponsored this year's homecoming dance. The Warrior Princess, Kara Singrey, was invited to London over Christmas break to be in a Cheerleader All-Star Parade. The cheerleaders surely had an exciting year.

NHS lends a hand

The National Honor Society had several fun activities. One was a Halloween party at Carmen Waldrop's house. Members helped in Penny Pitch by counting money and delivering the food to needy families. They were guides for parent teacher conferences and open house. They had two inductions: a fall and spring. The fall welcomed thirty juniors and one senior. The spring induction welcomed two juniors, Eric Swartzendruber and Erik Speicher. Club officers were president, Brandee Carlson; vice-president , Erika Lange; secretary and treasurer, Ashley Dick.

FHA donates their time inside and outside of school

▲1

The Future Homemakers of America helped out in many ways. They helped at the local daycare by visiting, taking gifts, and doing crafts with the children. They helped out at school by making cookies for the teachers at Christmas. They also sent Valentines to some of the teachers for Valentine's Day. Some club members served at the celebration dinner given for faculty and staff in March at the end of construction. When the athletes' sectionals occurred, the FHA'ers served them at a special lunch table. They also donated food for a charity bake sale. No officers were elected because they all worked together.

Writing up a storm!

The creative writing club had an interesting year with Mrs. Nance Bruce as its advisor. When the group met, they discussed what they were writing and any upcoming events for the club. Member Caroline Weiss stated, "Creative writing club was a lot of fun, and it was definitely worth the work that we put into it." Another member, Daniel Allen, remarked that the club was mostly just a place for the group to go hang out and share their writing with others. Acting up!

The advisor of the drama club was Mrs. Cyndi Thornburg. At meetings the group discussed the current productions and plans for future shows. In the fall the drama club rehearsed and staged a trio of one-act murder mystery plays under the title THREE OF A KIND. The three plays were MURDER ANYONE?; REHEARSAL FOR MURDER; and ANYBODY FOR TEA? Staging three plays allowed more than the usual number of students to take part in the plays. Then in the spring the group helped to produce and stage the musical YOU'RE A GOOD MAN, CHARLIE BROWN. Members auditioned for parts, built the set, painted, sold tickets, ushered, and did tech work for both productions. "Anyone who was interested in being on stage or working backstage was welcome to join the drama club," according to Mrs. Thornburg. All that was necessary was to show up at the first meeting of the year and pay the dues! Elected officers for the drama club were Yolanda delaFuente, president; Chris Lung, vice-president; Caroline Weiss, secretary.

Bible Club discusses issues

In its third year of being a club, the Bible club was still new. The Bible club had no officers but was in the process of chosing them. "The Bible club has no leader; we just all speak out together," said Vahnessa Dugan. The Bible club read the Bible during their meetings and discussed teenage issues and the effect of a Christian life on them. When the Bible club was not talking about these issues, they were organizing a fundraiser or a dance.

Key Club helps community

▲1

The Key Club, guided by Mrs. Pletcher, helped the community out in various ways. Of the many projects, cleaning for the community was part of the work. They helped to clean up the area between Syracuse and Wawasee lakes on Pickwick Road. "Though cleaning was not very fun, with a lot of help and doing it with your friends, it goes by fast," said Rebecca Schrader. Though Rebecca was only a freshman, she held the spot of treasurer, along with Brandy Rosenquist as secretary, Ann Leedy as vice-president, and Laura Nickels as president. With all of the projects the Key Club did, they went to the state convention to compete with eighty other Key Clubs on the achievements of this year. There were two groups in this eighty: the small and large clubs. Wawasee Key Club was in the small club category. The Key Club placed first in the district project which was to raise three hundred dollars for a physically handicapped boy to go to a summer camp. The Key Club raised one thousand dollars so more than one could go. Other awards included first place in achievement, first in interclub, second in essay, third in talent, and seventh in overall.

FFA very successful

According to sponsor Mr. Warren, "FFA was an organization for students interested in the broad area of agriculture." This year's group participated in several competitions such as the Envirothon, where they took first in the Indiana Northern Region and third at state. The Horticulture Judging group was state runner-up. While at the Soil Judging Contest, the team received first in the county and area and ninth at state. In Swine Production Proficiency, Shawn Kull was the state winner and National Central Region runner-up. Other trophies won were a third place in soil judging at the Allen County Youth Conservation Contest and another third at the Northeast Indiana Livestock Judging Classic. "Also, attending the National FFA Convention in November with eight members was a special memory from 1992," Mr. Warren stated. The president was Jenny Beer; vice-president, Darren Wilkinson; secretary, Jennifer Wood; reporter, Barry Beer; treasurer, Michael Schafer; and sentinel, Kim Crain.

Taking care of business

DECA not only gave Wawasee seniors a good knowledge of business demanded in the work force, but also an additional chance to meet other students of their age interested in the same things. Along with that, the group participated in several competitions, too. The District, for example, took place at Scottsdale Mall. The state meet, which was probably one of the year's highlights, was in Indianapolis. Cathy Summerlot, who was state runner-up in Quick Serve Restaurant Marketing, participated at the nationals in Orlando, Florida, in May. Other state participants were LeeAnn Kuilema in Hospitality and Tourism; Kelly Dewees, Courtesy Corp; Andy Young, Voting Delegate; David Antu, Food Marketing; Jason Knepp, Voting Delegate; and Gabe Ritter, General Merchandising. The group received a percent plaque for the awards won in District. Yearbook travels to St. Francis

The yearbook staff started the year with a trip to St. Francis College in Fort Wayne where they participated in a workshop. They learned how to crop photos and make appealing layouts. The workshop was sponsored by Herff Jones, the publisher of the yearbook. The staff also moved into the new publications room where they could work easier on the big tables. The staff enjoyed the new room because of the easy use of more computers, the ease of printing ads on the laser printer in the room, and the additional storage provided. The LEGEND'S theme was based on the twenty-fifth anniversary of Wawasee High School, making this the twenty-fifth book printed.

The newspaper staff enjoyed the new publications room where more of the staff members could work on Pagemaker, a computer program that aided in the production of the newspaper. This year was the first in which almost the entire newspaper was produced on computer. The staff even cropped pictures on a computer, using a scanner. Sponsor Mr. Joel Robbins most of all liked that the darkroom was closer to his room so they didn't have to journey all the way across the school to develop pictures. Computer technology changes things

The computer club enjoyed visiting a number of places to learn more about computer technology. The members visited Ivy Tech in Warsaw to learn about computer training. They also journeyed to Warsaw to Zimmer, Inc., to learn about how corporations use computers in business dealings. The members of the club were kept working over Christmas break helping to set up the new computer labs for the school. The students in the club were in the process of creating a bulletin board on the computer. A speaker, Terry Hammond from Millersburg, spoke to the club on ideas for the bulletin board. The officers for the computer club were Steve Brunjes, president; Kory Brown, vice president; Brian Schwartz, secretary; and Dusty Dunithan, treasurer.

Learning to teach

Smoking Education programs, elves to teachers, and a teacher tea were just a few things that involved the members of FEA. FEA, or Future Educators of America, was made up of students who had an interest in entering the field of education.

The students in FEA enjoyed shadowing a teacher for a half day in the fall. The members could choose who they wanted to observe in any of the elementary or junior high schools.

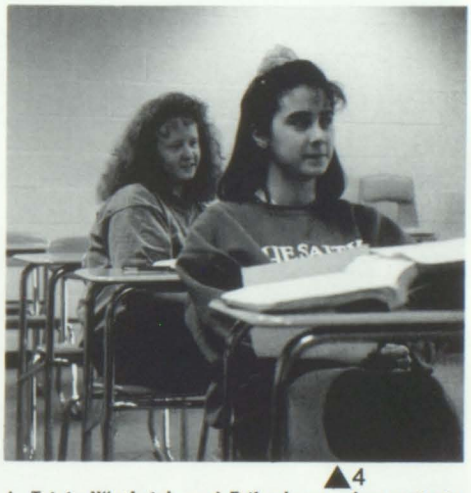

During the Smoking Education Program, members of FEA, along with a few other students traveled to the three elementary schools and talked to fourth and fifth graders about smoking. Included in the program were an example of what smoking does to the lungs, a video on how to say no to smoking, and the use of straws to show the difficulty in breathing for a person with emphysema.

The FEA members also enjoyed being secret elves to teachers and aides in the high school. Presents and notes were exchanged between the student and teacher, especially on holidays. Although the students knew who their teachers were, the teachers and aides did not know who their elves were. The elves then identified themselves at a teacher tea held on May 4. The teachers were sent on a treasure hunt, and at the end of the hunt, they found their elves.

The officers of FEA were Erika Lange, president; Ryan VanHook, vice-president; Jennifer Wipert, treasurer; and Tricia Wuthrich, secretary.

Under new leadership

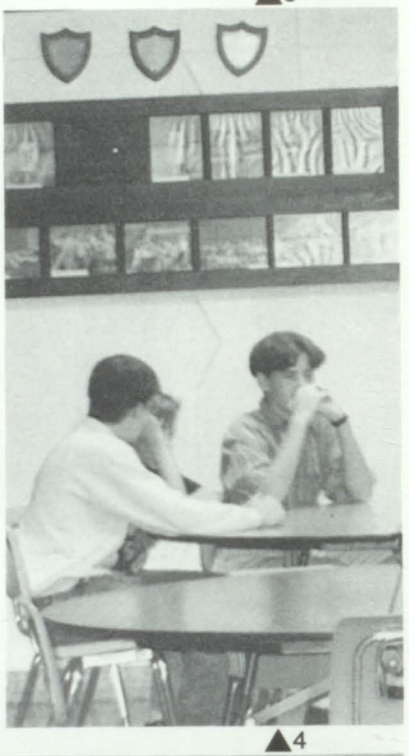

FCA had a fresh new year. They had open gym weekly in which they played volleyball, basketball, and various other sports. They planned to attend a Pacer's basketball game but were not able due to time and various other complications. They held a Bible study every week on Thursday nights. The club also sponsored a co-ed 3 on 3 basketball tournament. The leaders of the club were co-captains Cathy Roose and Tony Ganshorn, and the secretary/treasurer was Teresa Maresh.

Drawing a crowd

The art club had a productive year with a variety of activities. On October 27th they had a pumpkin carve during which they carved and decorated their pumpkins. They also took a trip to Swartzentruber's Old Bag Factory where they toured the craft shops and manufacturing business. They had a Christmas social the day before Christmas break in the art room. Senior members of the art club, who were planning to attend an art school, went to Herron School of Art on Thursday April 15th. The purpose of the trip was to have student work reviewed and tour the school. Art club members were also required to help set-up, supervise, and take down the art show. Art club members were president, Heather Fancher; secretary/treasurer, Dana Murphy.

SADD under construction

It was a slow year for the SADD club, but not an unproductive one. After receiving a new sponsor, Mr. Troy Akers, the club began concentrating on expanding. With the help of Mrs. Karen Parr, the club worked hard on taking a new stand. The club took the stand against drunk driving even further to denounce all use of drugs and alcohol. This new stand would call for a new name, which was also on the agenda for the club members to think of. Because there were only a few students who dedicated their time to the SADD club's transformation, no officers were appointed. Mr. Akers and the few members participating in the SADD club made the most of their short time together to prepare for next year's club, which Mr. Akers was sure will be a big success. He also hoped to see a big turnout for next year's new and improved SADD club.

Jazzin' it up

It was quite an eventful year for Mr. Blackwell and the jazz band. Mr. David Blackwell was the jazz band's conductor, and also performed with the band on his clarinet. As always, the jazz band was a hit at all the basketball games and was successful at keeping the mood at the pep rallies. The jazz band was also greatly enjoyed at the concerts that they performed. Not only did the jazz band play at the school's concerts, but they were also invited to perform at gigs around the area. The jazz band competed very successfully this year at the band contest. The jazz band advanced to state and placed first. The band members and Mr. Blackwell had much to be proud of.

SRC recycles

The SRC had a very busy year. They organized several activities starting with Homecoming. They were in charge of all activities during Homecoming except the dance. They organized the ice cream social, the car bashing contest, fall fling activities, the dress up days and all the murals. Next, SRC hosted the Christmas dance and annual Sweetheart Ball. They also organized hard court activities which unfortunately were unable to take place because of school delays and cancellations. SRC members were in charge of the monthly bulletin boards in the commons and the school's Christmas decorations. Wawasee started a recycling program which the SRC was also in charge of. White paper and aluminum cans were collected each week by SRC members for recycling. Mrs. Leach stated that, "the program was a big success." SRC officers were Brandee Carlson, president; Matt Wilkinson, vice-president; Amy Logan, secretary/treasurer.

FLC helps welcome foreign exchange students

▲1

The FLC was busy welcoming three different groups of foreign exchange students. In January, students from Costa Rica arrived at Wawasee. The FLC hosted a party for the students. Then at the end of March through the end of April, German and French students visited. Again, the FLC hosted a party for the exchange students. Throughout the year, FLC members explored different cultures. They prepared several kinds of foods from different countries, and they also played games and did crafts that were associated with several different countries. The FLC officers were Kelly Harris, president; Jenny Shopoff, vice-president; Beth Enright, secretary; and Gretchen Hygema, treasurer.

The LEGEND continues . . .

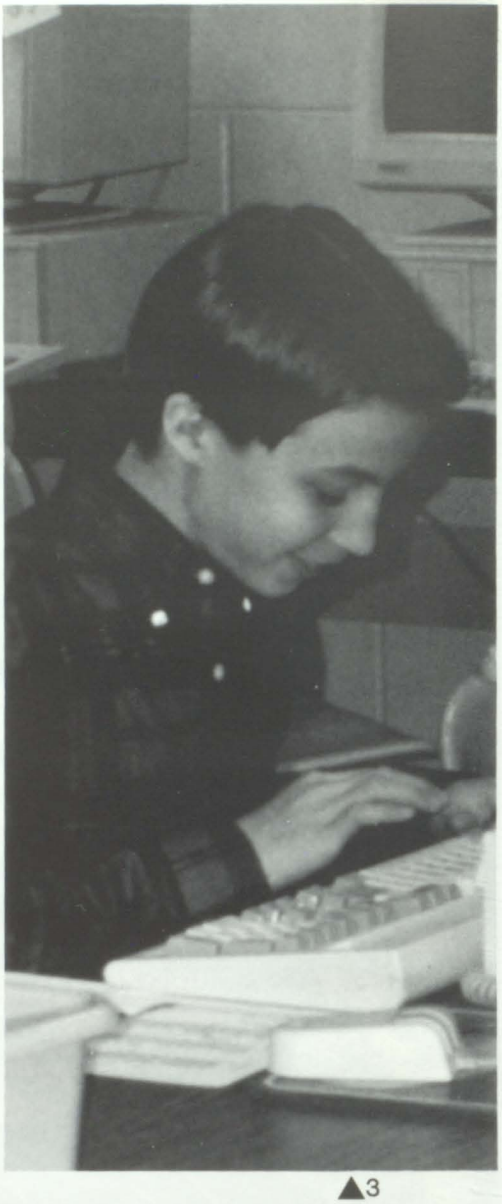

The anniversary edition of the Wawasee LEGEND was a complete success with a total of 208 stress-filled pages. The book was printed on 80 pound Bordeaux Special, gloss finish paper. The copy typeface was Lydian Bold and the headlines, Freehand. The outside cover was designed by senior Dana Murphy. The staff sold a total of 500 copies to the student body. Fred Henderson was the staff's sales representative and Lisa Wohlford was their customer advisor in Shawnee Mission, Kansas, where the book was published by Herff Jones. German exchange student, Till Arens, had this to say about his first and only year on the staff: "I liked most of the staff, especially the girl who asked me for candy everyday!" Tricia Wuthrich, who came in after first semester, said that she enjoyed what she learned about publishing a yearbook. Other staff members were too busy working on their final deadline to give their feelings on the year.

When I Must Leave You

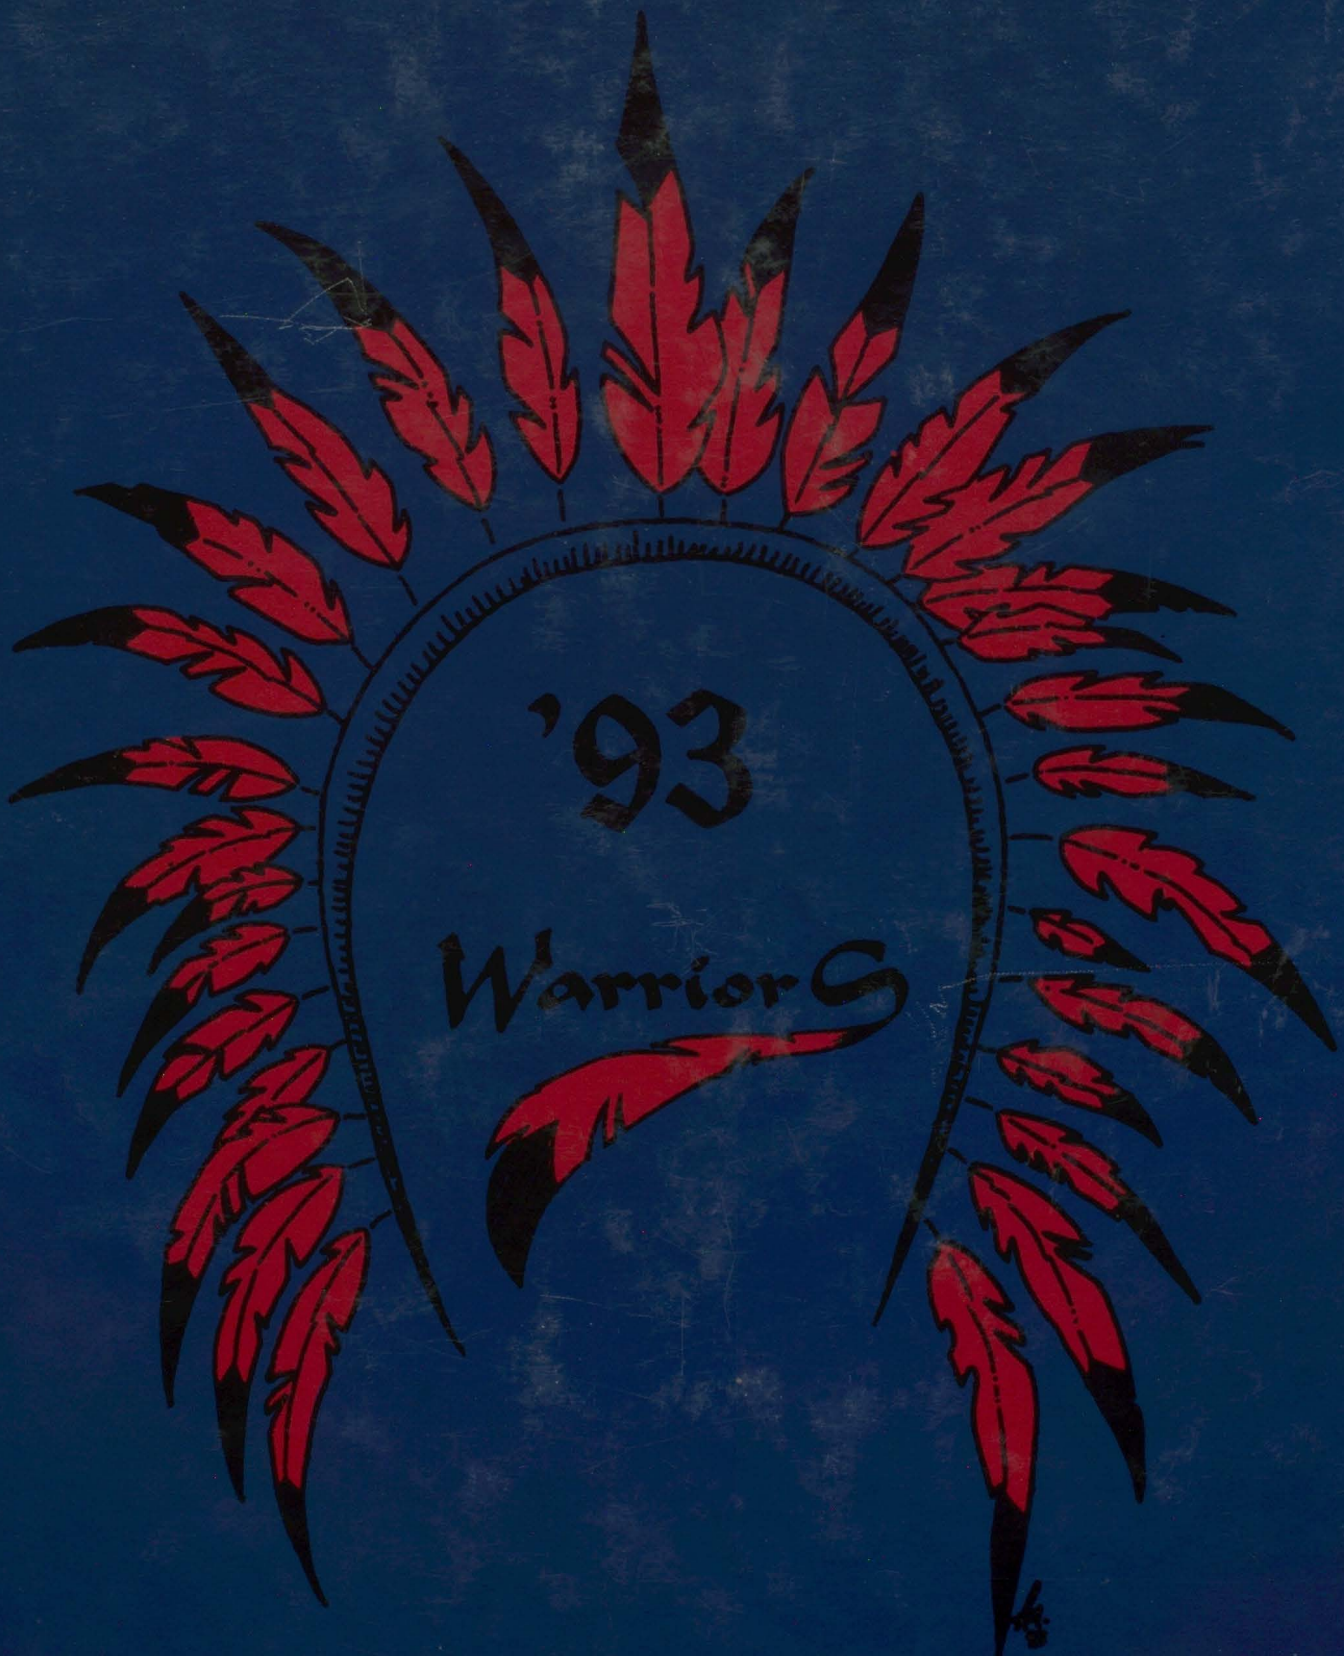

When I must leave you
for a little while,
Please do not grieve
and shed wild tears
And hug your sorrow
to you through the years,
But start out bravely
with a gallant smile;
And for my sake
and in my name
Live on and do
all things the same,
Feed not your loneliness
on empty days,
But fill each waking hour
in useful ways,
Reach out your hand
in comfort and in cheer
And I in turn will comfort you and hold you near;
And never, never
be afraid to die,
For I am waiting for you in the sky!
