How do you unleash your Warrior within?

- Jennifer Earnhart- By being the best Thespian I can be and doing it on stage as often as possible.

Celebrate WHS Pride

Homecoming was a success with the theme of "Superheroes." The freshmen had "The Planeteers;" the sophomores had the "Incredibles;" the juniors had the "Power Rangers;" and the seniors had the "Ninja Turtles." Students seemed to enjoy the week as they participated in the powder puff game, attended the bonfire, watched the watermelon eating contest, loved the talent show, made the floats, and of course cheered the football team on to a victory to end homecoming week. Seniors selected their homecoming court, and the student body elected the winning royalty for the night, who were Allison Thornburgh and Creighton Kaiser. The class competitions were held throughout the week. The competitions included the powder puff game, the watermelon-eating contest, the talent show skits, the penny pitch, and the floats. The winners for the whole week were the seniors!

Get to Know the Facts

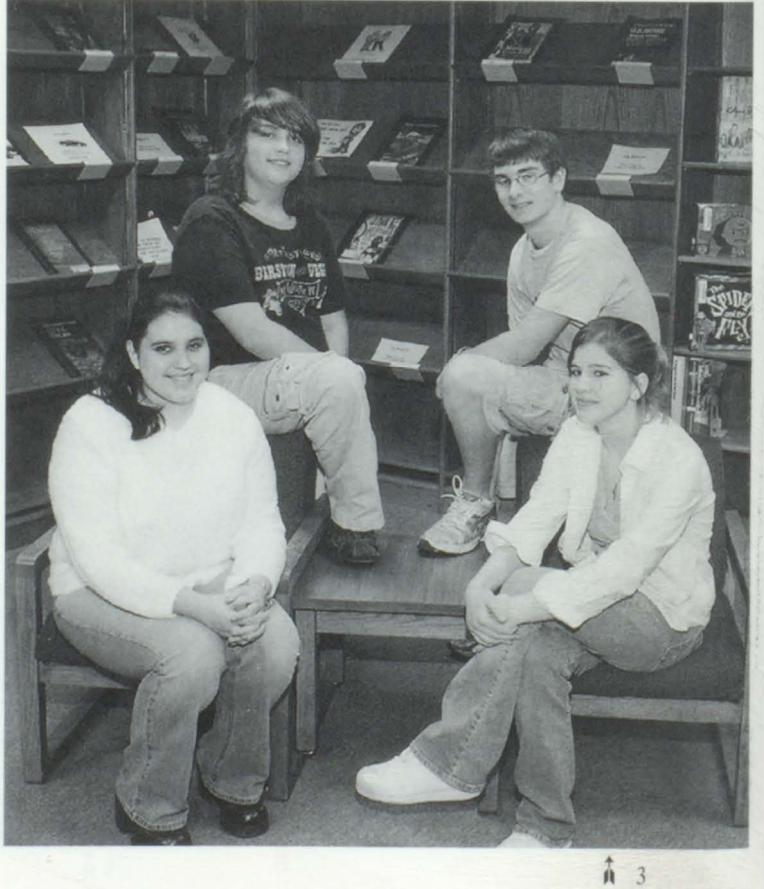

The theme for the 2006 Indiana Academic Super Bowl was The Progressive Era. This was considered the time period from 1880-1920. Wawasee had enough eager students to fill all five teams. Coaching for the English team were Mrs. Monensmith and Mrs. Thornburg. The math team was led by Mrs. Harris. Mrs. Myers took on the social studies team while Mrs. Martin and Mrs. Hursh led the fine arts team. Mrs. Sautter and Mrs. Holsopple coached the science team. All the teams had different outlines they had to cover and study, but they all related to The Progressive Era. The English team studied a novel, a few short stories, and many poems. The selections chosen reflected the major genres and themes of the time period. The science team studied diseases, inventions and inventors, and constructions of the time era. Some requirements for the math team were knowing mathematicians of the time as well as the number theory. The social studies team was busy learning about the innovations, business and labor, and urban problems of the Progressive Era. Their state qualifying competition was held on April 18, 2006.

Stand Out

There were seven foreign exchange students from four different countries who enjoyed the Wawasee High School experience. Three were from South Korea, two from Germany, one from Thailand, and one from Brazil. They all arrived in early August and were staying with host families in the community that the exchange agencies found for them. After they found a host family, the agents called Mrs. Pletcher for school acceptance. As a group, the foreign exchange students traveled to Chicago and Indianapolis. They also had other travel choices to New York, California, Hawaii, or Las Vegas for a week. They enjoyed a Halloween party and a Lock-in-Taste party. The Halloween party consisted of a cookout, costumes, a hayride, and pumpkin carving. The Lock-in-Taste party was full of cultural foods, karaoke, movies, and games. Everyone was able to enjoy themselves at these events and had a chance to get to know one another.

Make It Dramatic

The fall play was a dramatic, funny, and charming story of a family's life in a boarding house and the boarders who lived there. Look Homeward, Angel was in rehearsal for many weeks, proving that once again, students can present a great show. Miss Maxey, who directed this production, was also ready to show everyone what talent these students possessed. Opening night of the play was on November 3, and performances were also given on November 4 and 5. Written by Ketti Frings, Look Homeward, Angel was originally based on a novel by Thomas Wolfe. Miss Maxey chose this play because she perceived the ending to be both positive and bleak at the same time. Spencer Ladd, a Thespian of three years, stated, "Being a part of the play was absolutely fun. Everyone gave his or her best, and worked really hard. I think we did an excellent job, and I made a lot of friends in the process."

Feel the Magic

Back again with another wonderful production, Miss Maxey directed Rodger and Hammerstein's Cinderella. The musical was shown on March 23 through the 25. This charming fairy tale filled the air with magic. The orchestra put many difficult weeks to prepare for this play. The crew did a fantastic job with the set and the fairy godmother's magic. The crew set up magic flowers that appeared at a flick of the fairy godmother's wrist. They also displayed a growing pumpkin with special lighting effects. Miss Maxey commented, "It was a fun show that had a little bit of adult humor, but kids could get into it, too." This production of Cinderella was also full of great singing and dancing.

Set an Example

The service clubs did an amazing job to help out, and all of the groups did their share. The Key Club was an awesome club. The club helped out by giving back to the community, and helping others who needed it. They threw a huge holiday party for over one hundred Syracuse elementary students, and planted trees on Arbor Day to help the environment. The president was Jamie Dietsch, and Lindsay Smith was the secretary. The National Honor Society took the time out to help tutor kids to help them do better in school. President of the club was Shane Hogle; the vice-president was Alex Chalk; and Karessa Knisley was secretary. Impact was a sensational group. In Impact everyone got involved meeting weekly at Oakwood and during club days as well. The student council helped to organize many things around the school. The president of the student council was Creighton Kaiser, and the vice-president was Allison Thornburgh. They sponsored the penny pitch, decorated the school during the holidays, and made sure that there was plenty of school spirit all around. No matter which way you looked, there was always a way to be of service to others at Wawasee High School.

Have Fun

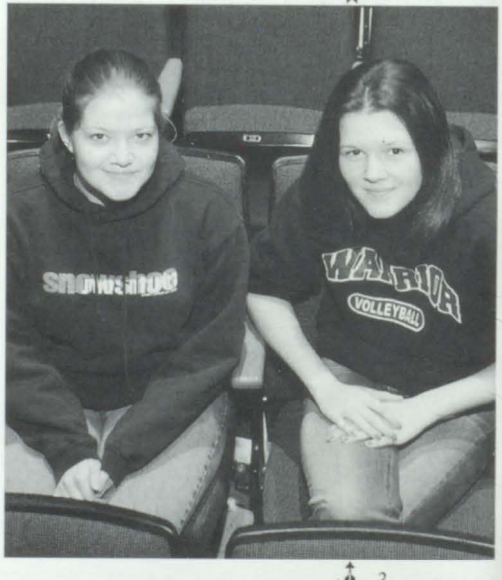

Some clubs mixed fun with education such as the art club and the computer club. Mrs. Bryan and Mr. Eby were in charge of the art club, which took a fun trip to Chicago to view the different art museums. Computer Club was sponsored by Mrs. Polly White and they had fun enjoying computer games. Mrs. Schumm sponsored Scrabble club and they enjoyed challenging themselves to come up with new, more difficult words. Mrs. Baird sponsored the chess club, whose students enjoyed playing chess during club time and after school. Drama club and Thespians, which were sponsored by Ms. Maxey, were very busy with the fall play, Look Homeward Angel, and the spring musical, Cinderella. Officers also included president Shaundra Davis, vice-president Jocelyn Wiggs, secretary Cassie Williams, and executive council: Emilie Judy, Chelsea Rigdon, Heather Dawes, and Robert Sautter. Mrs. A. Miller also had a great group of members for reading club who enjoyed reading books of their choice during club time.

Excel in Your Career

Students looking for clubs that would help guide them in their search for a future career had lots of opportunities. Those who were looking for a career in the field of educating the youth of our nation were happy to join FEA, Future Educators of America. Mr. Murphy served as the club's only supervisor. Another great career driven club was FFA, Future Farmers of America. Members learned about farming, agricultural science, and animal management as well as careers in agriculture business. The officers for FFA were Scott Gerke, president; and Tim Bowling, vice-president. The club was led by Mr. Warren. Last, but not at all least, was DECA. This club held a reputation for being a great base for learning and for students planning a career in business. As active members, students gained valuable experience in different areas of business. The president was Natalie DeYoung, and vice-president was Megan Hadley. All three clubs allowed students to explore career paths and a way to start them.

Set Us Straight

There was a great team of administrators at Wawasee. Sadly Mr. Ringler retired at the end of the year, having worked in the corporation for 30 years. When asked about his thoughts of retiring, he answered, "I am ready to play with my grandson." Becoming the principal only one year ago, Mrs. Stevens came to know and recognize most of the students and staff. She kept everyone in line and was doing a great job. She and Mr. Frank stayed busy. Mrs. Hurley worked hard all year to hire fair refs and fun coaches and to keep our sports running smoothly on carefully planned schedules. Wawasee was lucky to have these administrators.

Make It Creative

With no new curriculum, the art department started the year just like any other. There were plans to be made, lessons to be prepared, supplies to be ordered and a whole new set of students to teach. With the freshmen required to take five classes, the art classes were jam packed with eager students ready to learn. But due to a lack of funds for hiring new teachers, the request to add another teacher to the art department was out of the question. "We appreciated the amount of effort the students in our department put forth. It was a pleasure to see the leadership that so many of our upperclassmen took on. They were really setting wonderful examples for our underclassmen," said Mrs. Bryan, the art department chairperson. Mr. Eby, Mrs. Bryan's partner in crime, says "When you are at the bottom of your rope, tie a knot and hold on."

Choose Your Career

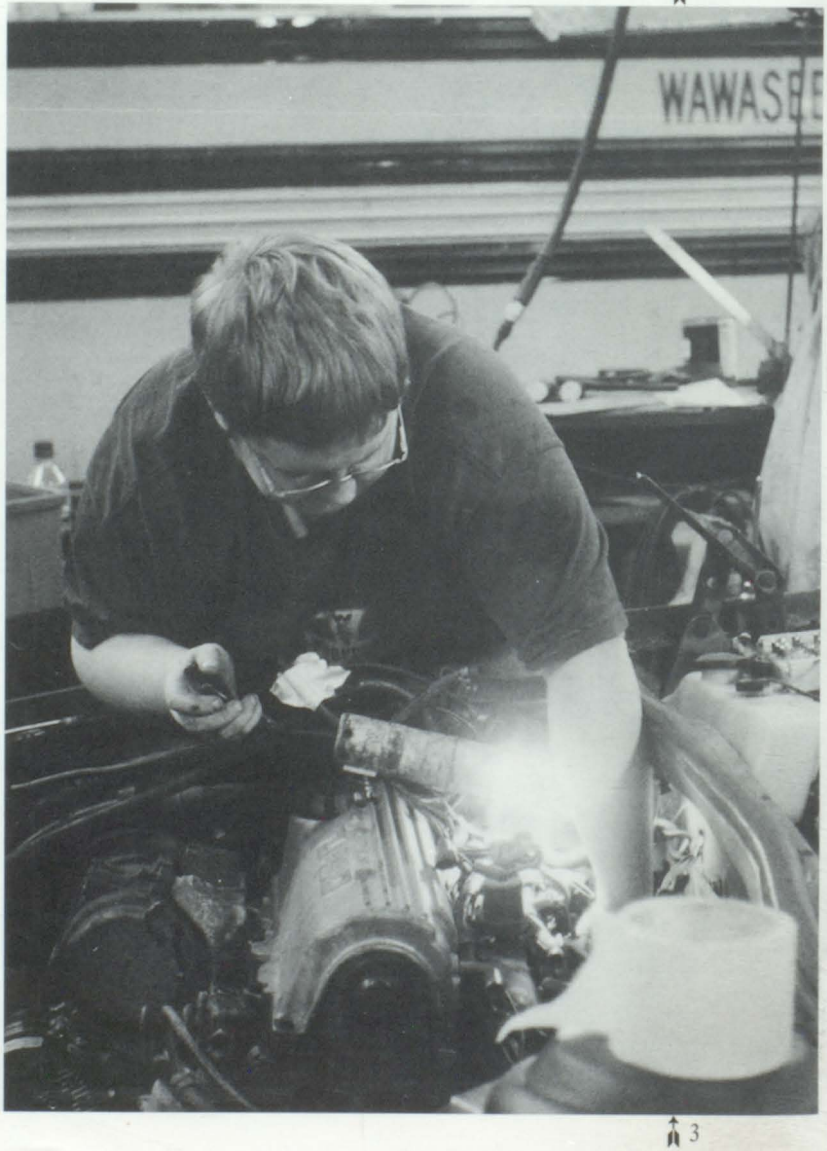

The career, technical, and business programs moved ahead in 2005-06. With 12 programs in all, over 59% of Wawasee students were involved in one or more of their classes. The total number of students, including West Noble, and Fairfield students, was 1140. This program offered many opportunities to the students such as knowledge, skills, free college credits, licenses, and hands on experience in particular careers. Classes that were a part of the program included autos, building trades, and cosmetology. There were also classes being held at Ivy Tech, and at Lakeview in Warsaw. This program helped many students on their path to become an adult; it got them ready for the real world and gave them unforgettable memories.

Prepare Your Flavors

What a learning experience it was for the students in the family and consumer science (FACS) department. They worked on creative crafts and learned how to cook several great meals. In this department the students really learned more than just cooking and sewing. They learned the meaning of teamwork, patience, creativity, respect for the ideas of their classmates, and the satisfaction of hard work. Mrs. Oswald was the full time teacher of the FACS department, but Ms. Harrison, also known as Mlle. Harrison by her French students, joined in on the fun. She taught two classes of child development each trimester.

Learn Your Accents

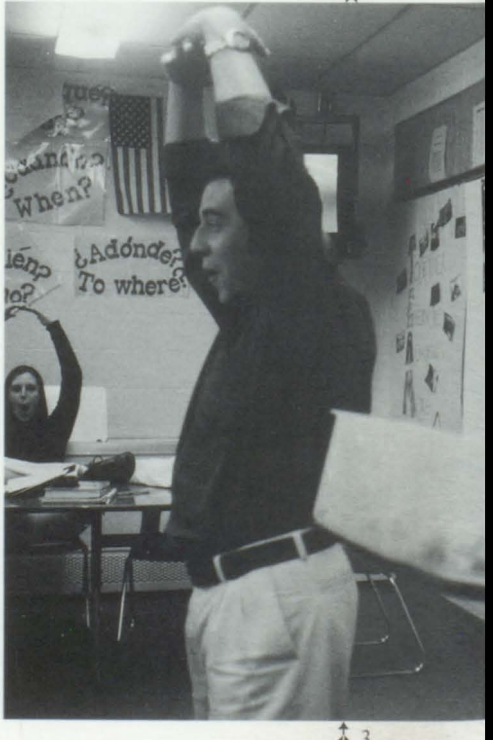

"Bonjour," "Hola," and "Hallo" were some of the common words the students heard when they walked through the foreign language department. To get a better feel of the languages, the students had the opportunity to learn more about the language by taking these courses. Specifically the German, French, and Spanish languages were taught. Mrs. Baird taught the German classes and Ms. Harrison taught the French classes. As for Spanish, there were three teachers that divided up the students depending on their skills and levels of knowledge. Ms. Chapin, Mr. Jagger, and Mrs. Valdizon were the teachers for Spanish. The students really took advantage of this opportunity, and the department hoped that this extra knowledge would help them in their futures.

Keep Us Going

From helping those who were just entering high school to helping those who were leaving, the guidance department proved to be more than helpful. They helped the new freshman students with making their schedules, introducing them to how the school works, and making them feel comfortable in the atmosphere. They also assisted the seniors with scholarship and college information, informative newsletters, and all the work that goes along with graduating. The counselors also helped the sophomores with the GQE and ISTEP testing. They assisted the juniors with the PSAT testing and scheduling the classes they might need for college. The guidance counselors met with each student at least once during the year. This helped to set up the upcoming year's schedule and to determine what classes were most suitable for the student. The guidance department still managed to be great with two new counselors in the department. Replacing the director of guidance, Ms. Angle, was Miss Fry. Replacing Mrs. Preheim was Mrs. Blackmer.

Challenge Yourself

The industrial tech department helped students explore a career in engineering, architecture, or design. It was possible to take one of the engineering classes and receive college credit for that class. Industrial Tech had many different things to offer. Mr. Coblentz and Mr. McAdams helped in looking for a potential career opportunity. One of the highlights of the year was making the super mileage car, which the students really enjoyed working on together. The industrial tech computer lab also received new computers, which helped them work on their projects. With these new computers they designed many different projects. The students had a better idea of what it was like to work as an engineer. In computer aided design the students had an opportunity to design their own house.

Write with Skills

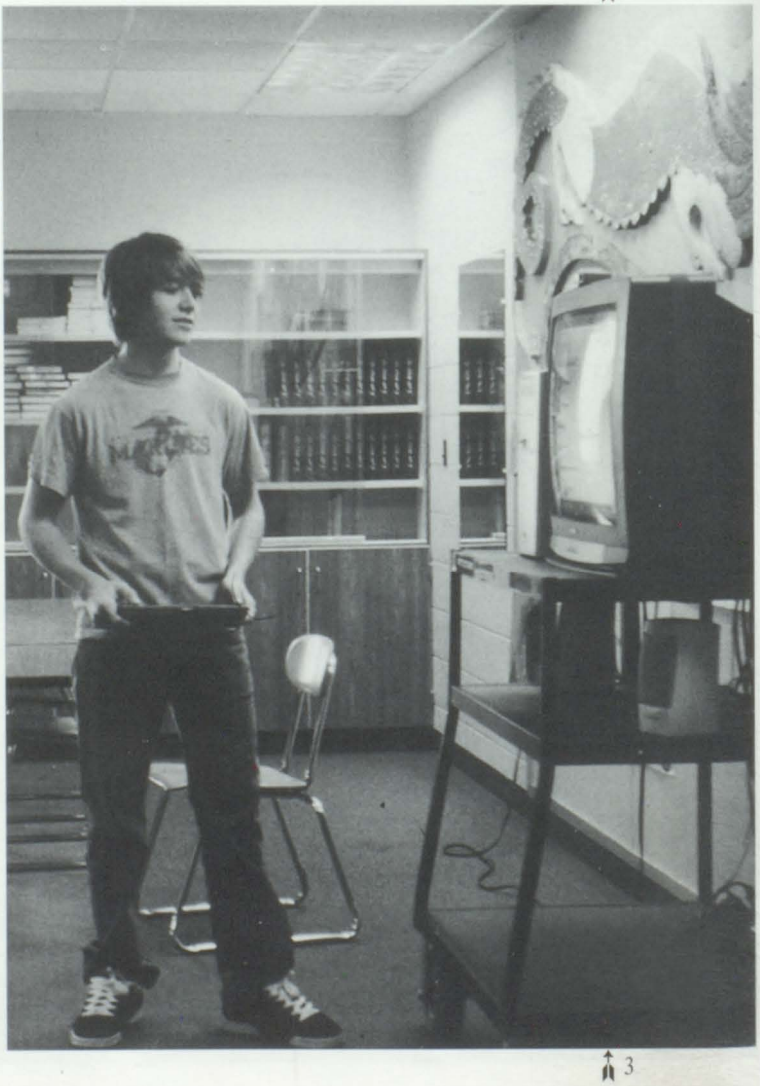

The main focus of the language arts department was to boost the scores on standardized testing. To take action they created a freshman lab class that helped prepare students for the ISTEP test. The class also helped students with any standardized test that might come their way in their high school career. Mrs. Pletcher decided to take on the responsibility of teaching the class. Freshmen were not the only ones experiencing the concept of a new class. Due to Mrs. Harkleroad's retiring, Mrs. Miller and Mrs. Thornburg traveled to Bloomington to train to teach the senior ACP class. After 35 years of teaching here at Wawasee, Mrs. Harkleroad decided that it was time to retire from her teaching career. This year the department found themselves shorthanded, and with her retirement they hoped that would not be the case next year.

Make It Precise

When students needed a nice book or help with the computers or even when they needed to watch the announcements, the library, production studio, and the technology department were ready to help. The library was also very busy. They added 322 new books to their collection and they weeded and distributed 251 items from their collection to other libraries. First trimester the library had a busy time with their after school hours program. They had 479 adults and students use the library after 3:00. Also in the first trimester they had 2,432 articles checked out. The library also added several hundred new accelerated reader quizzes. The television production studio was also very busy. Mrs. White had a great group of student aides who started the year with new cameras and worked really hard on the announcements. They were in charge of lights and sound for the fall play and the spring musical as well. They also were busy televising ISTEP testing. The computer tech office had to install new computers in the industrial tech lab as well as keep up with all of the problems each computer lab and teacher presented.

Mold Your Minds

The math department started the year off with new department co-chairs, Ms. Cline and Mrs. Harris. The department also had a new three-trimester algebra class so students had a better chance on the algebra section on ISTEP. The math department was encouraging students to take more AP classes and broaden their personal goals in high school mathematics. The teachers were working hard to keep students moving forward instead of retaking math classes. Mrs. Noble also returned for a full year.

Create Some Music

The music department at WHS was one of the biggest music departments in the area. Students came together to make an amazing sound in any of the three divisions. Choir, band, and orchestra all provided a great opportunity for students to gain and obtain a musical ear. The beginning choir had about 50 students join the choir department. This was the biggest addition to Mrs. Meadow's department in almost 4 years. Mrs. Meadows took her students to Disney World in December to participate in the Candlelight Procession. She also brought her own ideas to the table and had all the choirs do their own amazing procession at their Christmas concert. Mr. Elliot's band students also had fun participating in band activities, with their competition theme being "Flight." The color guard looked beautiful and presented a great show out on the field at every game. From the early morning practices in the beginning to the very last note of the year, the band made their music heard. The members held at least 4 breakfasts to raise money for the band department and had a great outcome, even raising $2,000 at one breakfast. Dr. Dubach's orchestra made their own beautiful music in class, concerts, and competitions. They participated in the annual solo and ensemble contest and had 6 concerts that were mesmerizing. The music department was and always will be inspiring.

With new students to work with and a whole new year ahead of them the newspaper staff was busy working on a variety of writing skills. According to Ms. Records, "It's been really fun getting to work with the staff and see the creative ideas they have. It's a good class that teaches valuable skills for journalism." The whole goal of the class was to improve with each paper and make the deadlines. In the first trimester the idea was to practice writing and how to write for the newspaper specifically. In the second trimester the goal was about improving the writing skills of the writer and keeping the editor, Julie Crothers, busy. In May, during the third trimester, the Senior Issue and the Literary Issue came out and were great successes.

Keep It Organized

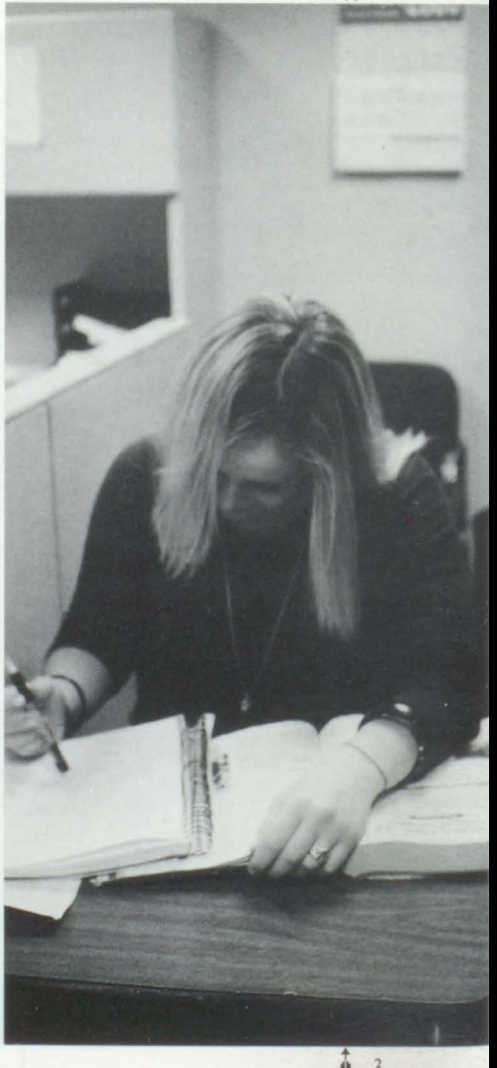

Without the paraprofessionals, secretaries, and the student aides, students would find the day-to-day routine a little difficult. The secretaries in the attendance, guidance, and main offices made these day-to-day procedures run smoothly. The bookkeeper, nurse, career-technical-business and athletic office secretaries also chipped in to help the staff and student body. The paraprofessionals could be found helping in the study halls and the special needs department. Many student aides helped out by answering the office phones, writing passes, sorting paper work, and running errands. Some students also helped out individual faculty members during their study hall period. Due to Mrs. Bultemeier's change in job location, Mrs. Judy took over the position as Mrs. Stevens' secretary in the main office while Mrs. Dowell replaced Mrs. Judy in the guidance office.

Work It Out

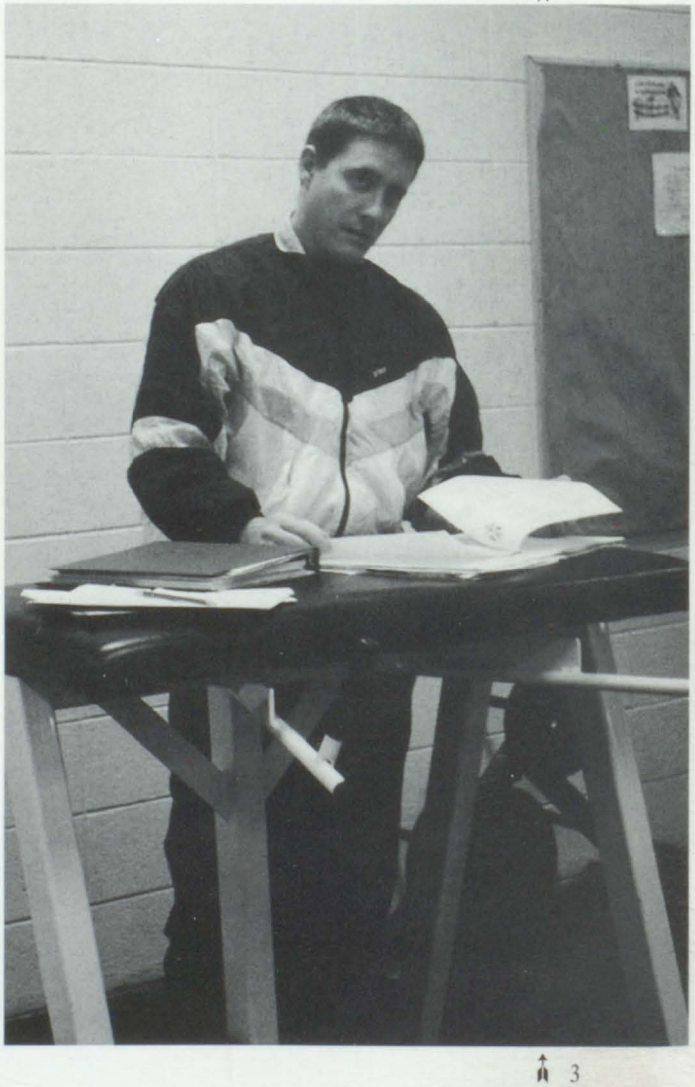

Jump ropes, weights, running, and frisbees were what came to the students' minds when talking about P.E. In order to graduate, students were required to take two trimesters of P.E. Overall the students seemed to not mind it. The classes could really teach a person to create his own health habits and a good character as he got older. They had all kinds of classes for each type of individual. They had strength training for the hardcore athletes; they offered personal fitness for those just trying to stay healthy; and they even taught a life guarding class for our future heroes. The department members were Mr. Mishler who had been here for ten years; Mr. DeHart for seventeen years, and Mrs. Peterson who had been here since the school was built. The P.E courses were still going strong , and would continue their goals of promoting healthier students.

Mix and Experiment

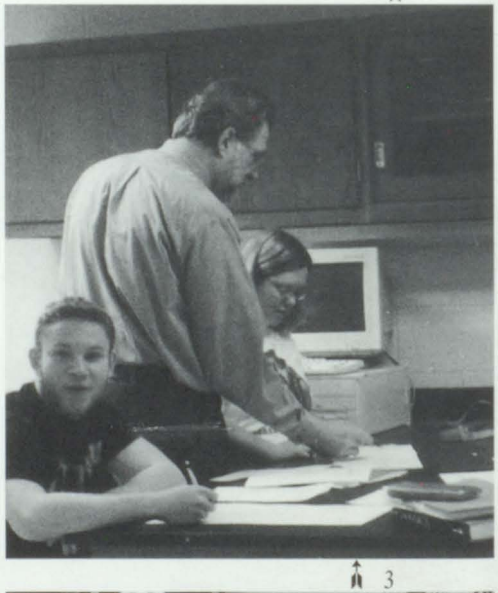

The science department had another great year. The head of the department was Mr. O'Dell. There were a range of different classes offered like chemistry, physics, human physiology, and biology. AP classes in chemistry, Biology II, and physics were offered for the students who wanted to challenge themselves. A new class that was offered was earth and space science taught by Mr. Hite. Mrs. Lake took on a few new classes like the human physiology classes that Mr. Keiper left behind when he retired last year. Something else that was new was Mrs. Holsopple taught a three-trimester biology class as well as the required two-trimester class. Congratulations should be given to Mrs. Lake and Mrs. Holsopple as they came back for the second trimester after each giving birth to baby boys. The science department also enjoyed their new textbooks that they adopted at the end of last year.

Experience a Change

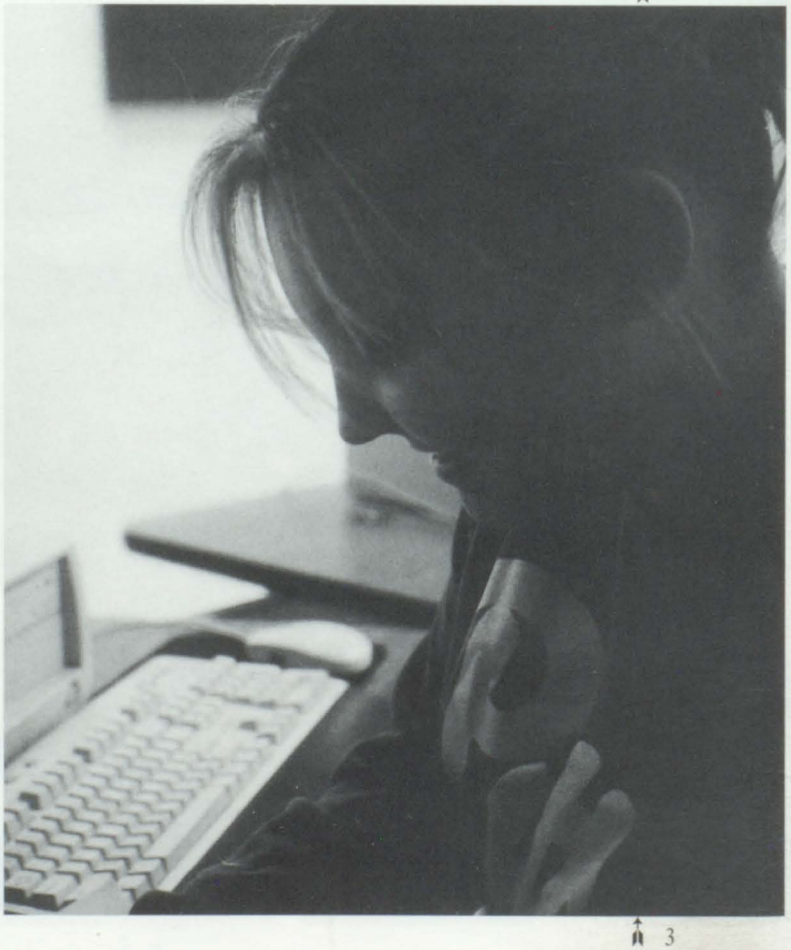

The social science department made a change or two. With classes re-arranging, how was anyone able to keep up? They did though. Mr. Taylor, for example, had a psychology, sociology, and an eleventh grade history class to teach. With 17 years of teaching at Wawasee High School, Mr. Aalbregtse retired in January. Mr. Phillips taught the basic fundamentals of economics and helped with ISTEP. He replaced Mr. Jorczak who left the previous year. Mr. Lancaster also made a couple of changes. He began the year teaching ISTEP remediation and U.S. history, but moved to world geography and world civilization when Mr. Aalbregtse left. Econ and government were both required classes that seniors needed to take in order to graduate. Economics studied money, business, and entrepreneurs. Government was the study of our country's laws and rights and how they came to be. Mr. Karns taught U.S. history, which was a required class for juniors, and Mrs. Myers taught government.

Always Here to Help

The support staff had plenty of work to do, from keeping the school clean and in order to feeding over 700 students daily. With more kitchen space and appliances to work with, the cooks did a tremendous job of keeping the student body fed. Offering main line menu on all lines including the ale carte line proved to be more than helpful. It solved the inconvenience of such long lines. The custodians also did their part to help out. They helped to keep the school a clean and organized environment. Always ready to help clean up a mess and do the dirty work, the custodial staff was a huge help. All in all, the support staff was there ready and willing to help out when needed.

They started their season losing to East Noble in a close game 1-2. They came back by demolishing Culver Community 3-0. The girls kept fighting hard and tied DeKalb, Plymouth, and Norwell later on in the season. Through some injury and disappointment the team held their heads high and went on to sectionals, blowing West Noble out of the water 8-0. They put forth a great deal of effort, but lost in the final round of sectionals to Bethany Christian 0-1. The girls finished their season with a 2-12-3 record. The varsity football team had another wonderful season, finishing the regular season with a record of 7-2. " We had a great season; there were many players wanting to get involved, and the younger players were ready and willing to fill in the void left from 2004, " stated Coach Joe Rietveld. The team captains included Rob McKibben, Ryan Thornburgh, Creighton Kaiser, and Michael Conrad. Ryan Thornburgh shared his thoughts about the season when he said, "We had a good season with a few let downs. We placed second in the conference. The best part of the season was destroying Warsaw on their new field and our team dinners. I wanted to beat Warsaw the most because we know a lot of the players on their team." The key wins this season were against NorthWood, Warsaw, Goshen, and the homecoming game against Elkhart Memorial. The team also made this their third year of keeping control of the "W" trophy from Warsaw and the Indian trophy from Goshen. Trying hard, the JV team ended the season with a record of 0-8. With a final record of 0-15, the boys' tennis team struggled through the season. Even though the record did not reflect it, the boys still worked very hard. Senior Ryan Harkleroad said, "We were really at a disadvantage this year because our coach was hired only a week and a half before the season. We also only had nine players on the team." Of those nine players, only three had played at the varsity level the previous year. Junior Justin McDowell played left handed the whole season due to a broken right hand. Coaching the Warrior team was Paula Searfoss assisted by Les Phipps. This was Searfoss's first year as head coach of the team; last year Searfoss was the assistant coach. She became the boys' fourth head coach in four years. Although the boys lost all the matches, individual team members had winning records. The boys placed second at the Northern Lakes Conference meet. Other key wins for the season were against Warsaw and placing first in the sectional meet. At sectionals Mike Gunderson, Jordan Rantz, Aaron Phillippe, Tyler Wear, Chris Szynal, Cory Smith, and Andy Wolf all made it to state. Chris Szynal shared his thoughts by commenting, "The season went very well; we only had one loss and it was to Northridge which was a highly ranked state team. We also had a great team of senior leaders and coaches; we could not have done it with out them. We lost a lot of important seniors from last year, but we had a lot of people step up and fill in their places, especially freshmen." The award winners were Aaron Phillippe and Jordan Rantz, MVP; Jared Wurtzel, Most Improved; Haven Hoffman, 110% Award; Jacob Haneline, Coaches' Award; Aaron Phillippe, High Point Award.

Hoop It Up

The boys' basketball team had a great season. The varsity pulled together for a season record of 16-4, only losing to DeKalb in the Carroll shootout, NorthWood, Elkhart Memorial, and Columbia City. A key win for the season was the victory over our past, present, and future rival, Warsaw, 52-49. Though JV lost more games than they won, they finished with a record of 7-11, playing well. They were triumphant over rivals such as Whitko, Churubusco, Goshen in the Northridge Invitational, Central Noble, Manchester, and Goshen in a regular season game. Junior Nick Richardson, when asked why he played basketball, responded with a laugh; "I am in love with the game! But seriously...because it teaches you discipline and values you can use throughout your life." The freshmen put up a great fight for their final record. They finished the season with a record of 10-10. Personalities among the three teams were widespread, yet the boys pulled together to play as a team of Warriors and had a great time. In the first round of sectionals, the Warriors beat Lakeland but were defeated by NorthWood in the next game. Award winners for the season were Michael Conrad and Andrew Mock, MVP; Brandon Geiger, Most Improved; Joe Leach, Mr. Backcourt; Lance Zimmerman, Mr. Frontcourt; Ross Stichter, Frosh Award.

Make a Basket

The varsity girls' basketball team finished out the season with a record of 11-10. The JV ended with a record of 10-10. Leading the Lady Warriors in their stride for victory was Kem Zolman. He was in his 8th year as head coach. Mr. Zolman said, "Most of the girls were really young. We also improved a great deal. We are going to miss our only senior, Tiffany Fick, who was a key part of the team, but next year we will have four seniors. We are just hoping for another good year." Also helping to coach the Lady Warriors on their path to success were assistant coaches Roger Brady, Rocky Goshert, Jamie McAdams, and Chris VanderReyden. The girls played well for some of their most challenging games. The battle against Warsaw was a tough fight for the girls, with both the varsity and JV losing the game. Some of the win/loss splits included Concord where the varsity came out victorious although the JV did not. The game against NorthWood was victorious for the JV, although not for the varsity team. The '05-'06 award winners were Tiffany Fick, MVP; Tiffany Fick, Rebounding Award; Kalyn Lantz, Warrior Award; Shawn Knafel, Performance Rating; Ashlee Ort, JV Award; Lacy Mroz, Frosh Award.

Wrestle like a Champion

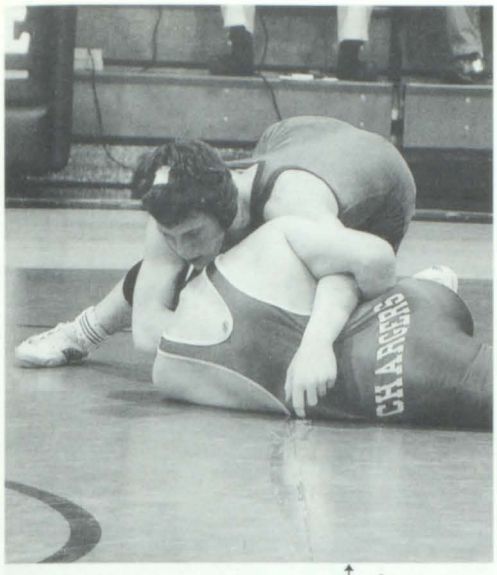

The wrestling team had its share of ups and downs. The team suffered from a lack of commitment and the will to do the hard work that was necessary. As the season went on, the team's numbers dwindled to an all time low. Wrestlers new and old decided that it just wasn't for them anymore. Despite the lack of numbers, the team went head to head in every match. The team's record was 2-14, impressive for the number of wrestlers. They also placed 8th in sectionals. Coach DeHart praised those who had what it took to stay, and even singled out two promising underclassmen. Chase Davis had a spectacular 28-7 record. Richard Lechlitner improved and also had a good season, not to mention he burned off a couple pounds. Award winners were Chase Davis, MVP; Josh Lozano, Mental Attitude Award; Tom Schwartz, Rookie of the Year.

With one senior, one junior, six sophomores, and two freshmen, the girls' gymnastics team was quite young. "We may be young, but we're determined. Just wait until we sophomores dominate our senior year," said Kristen Krizman. Coaches Nika Prather, Darcy Hollsopple, and Lindsay Maust were proud to coach these young ladies. The varsity won their first meet against Elkhart Memorial by a small margin of 65.2 to 64.3. The varsity girls went on to win their second meet against Angola. The JV lost their first meet against Carroll, but made a comeback at their second meet against Leo with a score of 51.75 to 33.55. At the Lakeland Invitational they placed 5th out of 9 teams and the girls placed 6th at the Harrison Invite. At the end of the season, varsity ended with a record of 6-5; JV had a record of 5-2. In sectionals, the team placed 3rd and at regional the team placed 6th. The Wawasee baseball teams had a rough beginning but improved noticeably as the season progressed. Some of the obvious difficulties may have been due to the fact that there were only five seniors on the varsity baseball team. Team captains were Heath Shock and Ryan Beer. The boys started off by losing their first several games but bounced back by winning two games in one week. Heath Shock said, "The baseball team has a bright future. Five freshmen got varsity action this season." As of May first their record was 2-11. One victory was over Whitko with a final score of 10-7. The boys also walked away with a triumph over Northridge, which they won 9-4. Some losses included Columbia City (3-13), Angola (10-13), and Warsaw (0-10). This may not have been one of the boys' most successful seasons, but they all worked very hard showing endurance and determination.

With a disappointing start due to weather cancellations, the girls' varsity softball team bounced back with a close game against Lakeland losing 8 to 9. With a great win against NorthWood, that helped boost the team's confidence, the girls came back with another win against Northridge. Sustaining the momentum, the girls won the Wawasee Invitational beating Whitko and then Rochester. As of the first of May, the varsity held a 5-13 record. Keeping things going, the girls' JV team had a strong start. Winning the first game of the season against Lakeland, they came out feeling pretty strong. Then with close second game against Fairfield and a great win over Elkhart Central, the fourth game was cancelled due to weather. The final JV record as of May 1st was 3-9.

The girls' tennis team had a rough season. With five seniors graduating last year, they were left with a fairly young team and much improvement to be made on varsity. Senior Rachael Fleagle was team captain. The girls also welcomed in new coaches Les Phipps and assistant Paula Searfoss. Phipps and Searfoss also coached the boys' tennis team. A win against Lakeland, 3-2, early in the season put the girls in good spirits, but they continued to struggle throughout April. The team prepared for traditional rivals like Warsaw, Concord, and Northridge and they did a good job keeping up. The JV enjoyed themselves while learning the basic fundamentals of tennis while varsity worked hard on their form and playing strategies. With great enthusiasm Coach Phipps put in a few words of encouragement by saying, "The best way to improve the team is by improving yourself!" As of May 1st the varsity achieved a record of 1-8 while JV had a record of 1-8.

Run for the Gold

Girls' track had its shares of ups and downs. Their season started off with three cancelled meets. The first two meets were cancelled due to the lack of members on the opposing teams, and the third to bad weather. The team showed strengths in some areas and earned a couple of victories. As of May 1st their record was 3-3 for the season. The girls' team placed 6th out of twelve teams competing in the East Noble Relays. In sectional action, senior Jessie Spearman was champion in both the 100 and 200 meter dashes. She continued her success and qualified for state at the regional meet, having to miss her graduation ceremony to participate at state on June 2.

Boys' track started off strong. The team performed well and had a good season. The teams held a 6-1 record as of May 1st. The team had two meets cancelled due to weather, West Noble and Lakeland. Other than that, spring didn't have too much of an effect on the team's moral. Haven Hoffman said, "The team was really strong this year and they were ready for anything." An optimistic Ross Stichter said, "We'll just have to wait and see what comes." Both boys agreed that the strongest part of the team was on the track. They both thought that the 400 was the backbone of the team.

The class of 2006 hit the ball far and high in the annual homecoming events. Finishing first in the penny pitch was undoubtedly the seniors. They came away from the watermelon-eating contest with a 1st place with contestants Tiffany Fick and Trent Weisser. The powder puff game was glorious for them also. They played with everything that they had and the seniors walked away with yet another victory. The theme for their float was Ninja Turtles. The float looked spectacular and received a 2nd place. There was an amazing amount of senior talent that was shown on the Wawasee stage for the talent show. Walking away with a 1st place in the skit competition was the seniors. Leading the seniors to victory were student body president Creighton Kaiser, and his partner in crime was vice-president Allison Thornburgh. The class officers were president, Tiffany Fick; vice-president, Ryan Beer; and secretary and treasurer, Brooke Mark. " I've had fun in high school, but I am more than ready to move on and begin college," said Lisa Snavely. This class like many others before them faced the fact that moving on was the task at hand.

Dance the Night Away

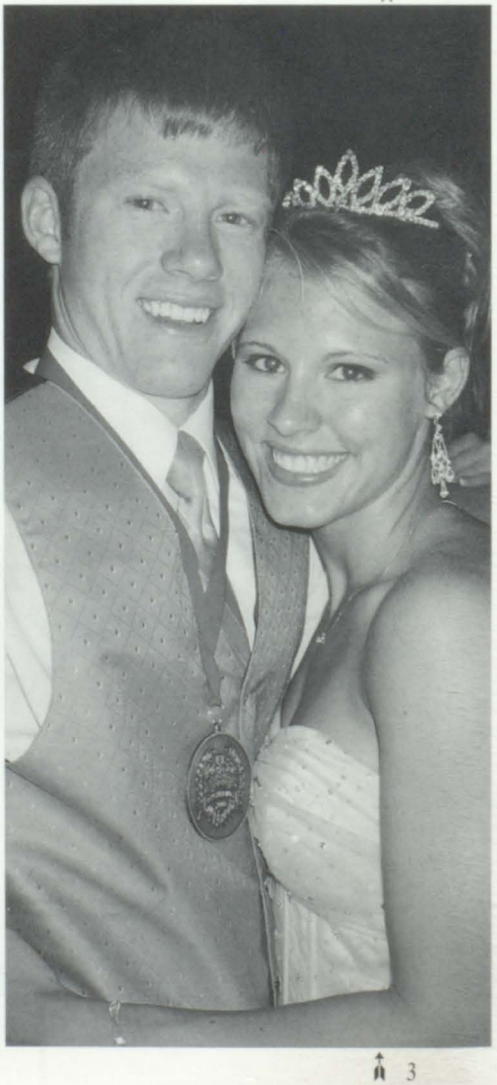

The 2006 Prom was held earlier than previous years on April 29. The theme was Midnight Masquerade. With colors of gold, burgundy, and black filling the Quaker Haven Activity Center the night was sure to be a night to remember. Tiffany Fick, class president, led both the toast and the garter ceremony. Tiffany toasted " To our past, present and our future." After the toast and a little dancing, it was time to crown the prom's king and queen . Colin Ridenour and Brooke Mark were chosen. After the prom many of the seniors went to the After Prom Green and Gold Chip Casino, put on by the senior parents. At the Green and Gold Chip Casino there were door prizes to be won and snacks for all those hungry seniors to eat. Kourtney Bell, Tony Pawlicki, and Chelsea Vale were all put under the hypnotist's trance. All in all, the whole evening was a magical event.

Face Your Future

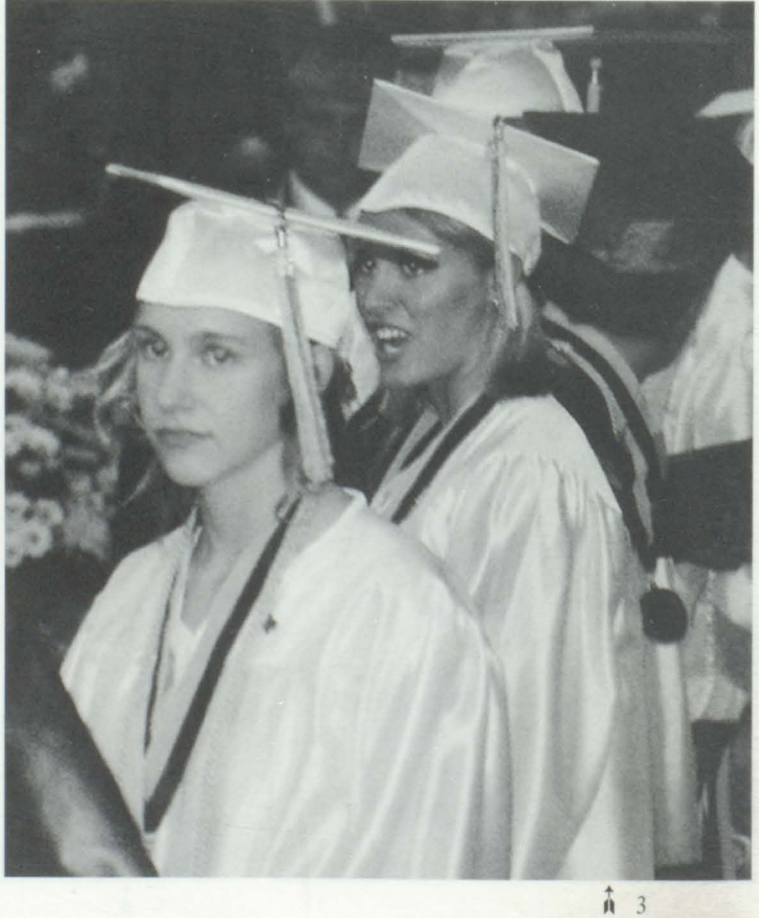

Two hundred and five seniors entered the hot gym on Friday night, June 2, as an audience of family and friends looked on. Music was provided by both the commencement orchestra and the commencement choir, directed by Dr. Dubach and Mrs. Meadows respectively. After the invocation by Ryan Edgington, valedictorian Shane Hogle reflected on the shared experiences that class members should hold in their memories. Salutatorian Gloria Boesenberg then admonished her classmates to face their futures without fear, making good decisions as they moved forward. Mrs. Stevens spoke about the many "gifts" that they had both received and would receive throughout their lives and then presented the graduates with their diplomas. The traditional candle lighting ceremony followed, and Creighton Kaiser brought the evening's program to a close with the benediction. The new graduates then moved to the front of the school where they threw their hats in celebration. Their class motto left them with this advice from Emerson: "What lies behind us and what lies before us are tiny matters compared to what lies within us."

Juniors...Be Prosperous

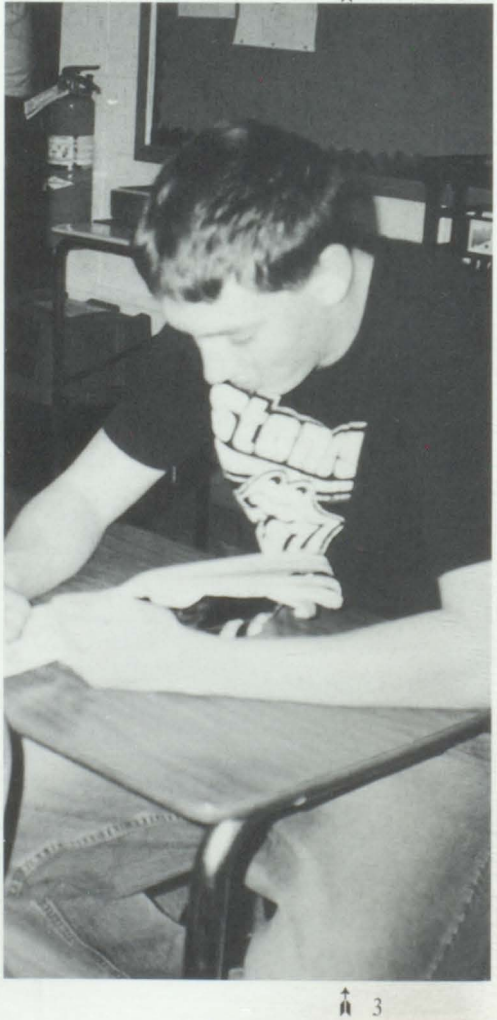

With no new curriculum, the art department started the year just like any other. There were plans to be made, lessons to be prepared, supplies to be ordered and a whole new set of students to teach. With the freshmen required to take five classes, the art classes were jam packed with eager students ready to learn. But due to a lack of funds for hiring new teachers the request to add another teacher to the art department was out of the question. "We appreciated the amount of effort the students in our department put forth. It was a pleasure to see the leadership that so many of our upperclassmen took on. They were really setting wonderful examples for our underclassmen," said Mrs. Bryan, the art department chairperson. Mr. Eby, Mrs. Bryan's partner in crime, says "When you are at the bottom of your rope, tie a knot and hold on."

Soph s...Make It Count

Sophomores were back for their second year of high school. Having one year of experience for homecoming, they were ready to go. Their class theme for homecoming was The Incredibles. They placed second in the powder puff game and received third in the float, skit, penny pitch, and the watermelon eating contest. Homecoming court representatives were Jessica Signorelli and Joel Hogle. Their chicken barbecue fundraiser was held in the spring and brought in some more funds for their class treasury. The class officers were Conner Beer, president; Chris Sindelar, vice president; and Hanna Hutchinson, secretary / treasurer.

Freshmen... Move On Up

The class of 2009 worked hard throughout the year with a positive and optimistic attitude. Though they succeeded in spots such as adapting to and surviving their first year of high school, they struggled when it came to homecoming week. They had a great float in the parade and skit at the talent show with the theme of Captain Planet, played nicely by Bryn Beer, following the school's theme of Superheroes Invade Wawasee. They tried as hard as they could, but inevitably placed fourth in those events as well as the penny pitch, watermelon eating contest, and powder puff. Their magazine sales fundraiser brought in funds to their class treasury for future use. Their amazing class council officers supported them throughout the year. The freshman came together and voted in a class-A set of officers: Paige Geer, president; Brennan McAdams, VP; and Janya Winegarden, secretary/treasurer. They looked forward to not being the new kids and encouraging next year's freshmen.

Meet Your Deadlines

The Wawasee High School Legend staff worked hard to meet all of their deadlines. The yearbook was full of interesting pictures and memories. Some deadlines were harder to meet than others, but the staff got it done with the encouragement of Mrs. Harkleroad. The yearbook, published by the Herff Jones Company, was bound with Smyth Sewn bindings and was 8 ½ by 11". It contained a total of 174 pages, and there were 525 copies printed. There were five deadlines met ranging from February 6th, to June 12th. The total contract price for the Legend came to $18,082. "Yearbook is a great experience for anyone who loves photography and writing," said yearbook staffer Bridget Long. The staff worked together and had fun creating the yearbook.

Last Day

As I walk slowly
Down the hall,
I look at the pictures
Up on the wall.

The year is gone.
The year has passed.
It's summer now
. . . At last

We're going now
To start our lives.
In the real world
We hope to survive.

And just when that
Last minute nears,
We say good-bye to
All our peers.

People load the buses
Or drive down the street,
Hoping that sometime
Again we will meet.

We'll call each other
Just to talk.
We'll get together
For a walk.

But this year is gone;
This year has passed.
School's out now
. . . At last.
- Bridget Long
