School Spirit at it's Best

Homecoming is a week to celebrate Warrior Pride. It kicked off with the powder puff game with the juniors winning the close game, followed by the seniors, sophomores, and the freshman. The bon-fire was a big hit where Abby Phillips and Rhett Cook dominated the eating contest. Wednesday was the talent show where the themes for the week first came out. Seniors theme was action, juniors had horror, sophomores had animation, and freshman had comedy. The skits were all great. The homecoming game had an amazing turnout and Wawasee beat the Tigers in a spectacular game. The homecoming Queen and King were Katie Hassee and Joe Leach. The Senior class won the homecoming week events over all. The week was amazing and the entire school participated in the week and cheered on our boys.

Thinking it Over

The Academic Super Bowl had another great year. The theme for this year's competitions was the English Renaissance, 1500-1690. Wawasee was able to fill spots on all five teams. The English team, coached by Mrs. Monesmith, studied William Shakespeare's Much Ado About Nothing, A Midsummer Night's Dream, Othello, as well as a slew of Shakespearian Sonnets. They also had to study poems by John Donne and Edmund Spencer. Mrs. Sautter and Mrs. Holsopple coached the Science team who delved into the works of Galileo, Sir Isaac Newton, Rene' DeCartes, and Leonardo DaVinci. The Math team, studying the great mathemeticians of the era, were lead by Mrs. Harris. The Social Studies team focused on the kings and queens of the time period, as well as daily life during the English Renaissance. The Fine Arts division, lead by Mrs. Martin, explored the vocal music of John Taverner, Thomas Tallis, and William Byrd. Fine Arts also engaged themselves with the great architecture and furniture designs of the time.

Around the World

Wawasee was graced with the presence of hosting nine foreign exchange students. The students all were given the American experience, enjoying such things as the flexible education, snow, and the various extra-curricular opportunities our high school provides. The major drawback, they said, was the lack of public transportation. All the students said they very much missed their family, friends, and food.

Taking the Stage

This year's play was like none other. Mrs. Bell directed the play Our Town, which was shown November 2 through the 4. The cast and crew worked for two hard months to get the play just right. Our Town, written by Thornton Wilder, is a challenging play because there were not any real props. Our Town was also not as long as recent plays. The play had only three acts and two, ten minute intermissions. Mrs. Bell chose Our Town for several reasons. One being that, this is one of her most favorite plays. She also said, " Everyone should be able to see it or be in it just once. Also, I wanted to make it a challenging play for the cast." Mrs. Bell was also happy on performance night because the crew worked really hard and made the play great.

Sing it Again

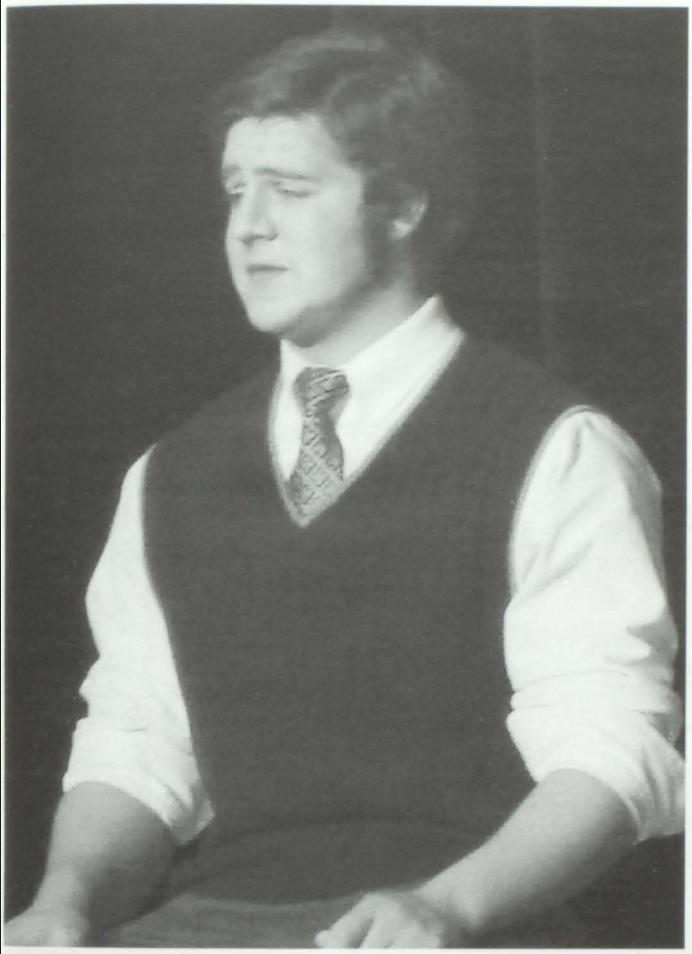

Footloose took the stage by storm as Mrs. Bell produced another musical to remember. Despite occasional technical difficulties with the sound, the chemistry of the actors and the catchy score left the audience aching to get up and dance. Spencer Ladd played the rebellious Ren McCormack, Melissa Sabones dazzled as the equeally rebellious daughter of the local reverand, Ariel Moore, and Jason Spradlin delivered a riveting performance as the Reverend Shaw Moore.

The ladies enjoy the dance after a long struggle to prove the Reverend that dancing is alright.

Ren and Ariel, played by Spencer Ladd and Melissa Sabones, share an intimate moment on stage.

Shaw Moore, played by Jason Spradlin, weeps over his crumbling relationship with his daughter.

When you are cool, the sun shines 24/7. The boys show some flashy dance moves.

The cast of Footloose sing the final chords to a memorable performance.

Helping Hand

A few clubs go and help out in the community. The Key club is of service to many people of the community. They do things that help the community such as raise money for food drives or help out at the elemetary or middle schools. While the Key club helps the community, National honor Society stays at school and tutors anyone needing help in school. Impact is there for everyone. They meet every club day and at Oakwood. They have guest speakers each time to help them grow in thier faith. To help all the clubs and every school day run smoothly, the Student Representative Council meet and discuss what needs to change in school. They also help to plan extra things around the school. They help to decorate and recycle in the school. Each club does their part in helping the school and community be better places.

Fun n' Games

Some clubs were very serious at what they did, but they also knew how to have a lot of fun. Art club was headed by Mr. Eby and Mrs. Bryan. Their club was to teach kids new artistic techniques and have fun doing it. Computer club was lead by Mrs. White. Computer club had fun playing games while learning new things about how to use a computer. Mrs. Schumm also allowed her club to play a game. She Sponsored scrabble club, challenging participants to use more difficult words and add more to their vocabulary. In chess club they are meant to play games. Mrs. Baird guided them and taught them new moves. The participants traveled and entered in tournaments. Mrs. Bell directed the fall play Our Town, and the spring musical Footloose. Mrs. Miller opened her doors to students who wanted to read during club time in Reading club.

Call it a Career

Many Students at Wawasee High School want to jump-start their careers to help them get a job or explore job options they may have available to them. Future Educators of America, led by Mr. Murphy gives anyone interested in a career in education an opportunity to join cadet teaching. Future Educators of America pushes students to learn more about education. The Future Farmers of America, led by Mr. Warren, enlightened it's members on farming, agricultural science, animal management, and agricultural business. Business interests some students, so they joined DECA, an association of marketing students. Mrs. White and Mr. Schutz sponsor DECA. Kids in this club must be enrolled or taking a business class to join. All three clubs attempt to give students experiences that will better prepare them for life after high school.

Embracing the Future

The Wawasee Administration led the way through another great year at Wawasee High School. Facing the challenge of dealing with an entirely new grading, discipline, and attendance program, Mr. Perek coupled with the Wawasee Technology Department to make the transition harmonious. Mr. Perek, taking over for Mr. Ringler as the Dean of Students, has big shoes to fill and he has already taken one giant step in the right direction. Mr. Frank and Mrs. Stevens have plenty of work to keep them occupied as they constantly try and find ways to improve our school. Mrs. Hurley and the athletic department had her hands full this year with a slew of new coaches and the girl's basketball team making it to the state finals. The student population and faculty are proud to have such dedicated leadership.

An Artitstic Outlook

Lead by Mr. Eby and Mrs. Bryan, the art department offers eight different classes. In the past year there have been no dramatic changes in the curriculum other than trying to make their lessons more efficient. In the classroom, portfolio building and meeting state standards are the two most important aspects focused on. In order to have a portfolio for schools to look at, you must have atleast ten to twelve original pieces of artwork. Because of this, both Mr. Eby and Mrs. Bryan are beginning to encourage students with an interest in art to start creating a portfolio their freshman year. Hopefully our school's art program with continue to expand within the years to come.

The Career Depo.

The careers department includes; automotive, technical, and business. Approximately 60 percent of Wawasee High School student are involved in the 12 programs here at Wawasee. Students have to learn how to change brakes, change oil, and rebuild different kinds of motors. Many students, including ones from West Noble and Fairfeild are associated with Auto classes here at WHS. The programs offered, such as, cosmetology and building trades, give opportunities such as skills, knowledge, free college credits, licenses, hands on learning experiences. There were also classes given at Ivy Tech, Lakeview, and Warsaw. These classes help students decide which carers are right for them and give them a taste of real world careers.

Facts About FACS

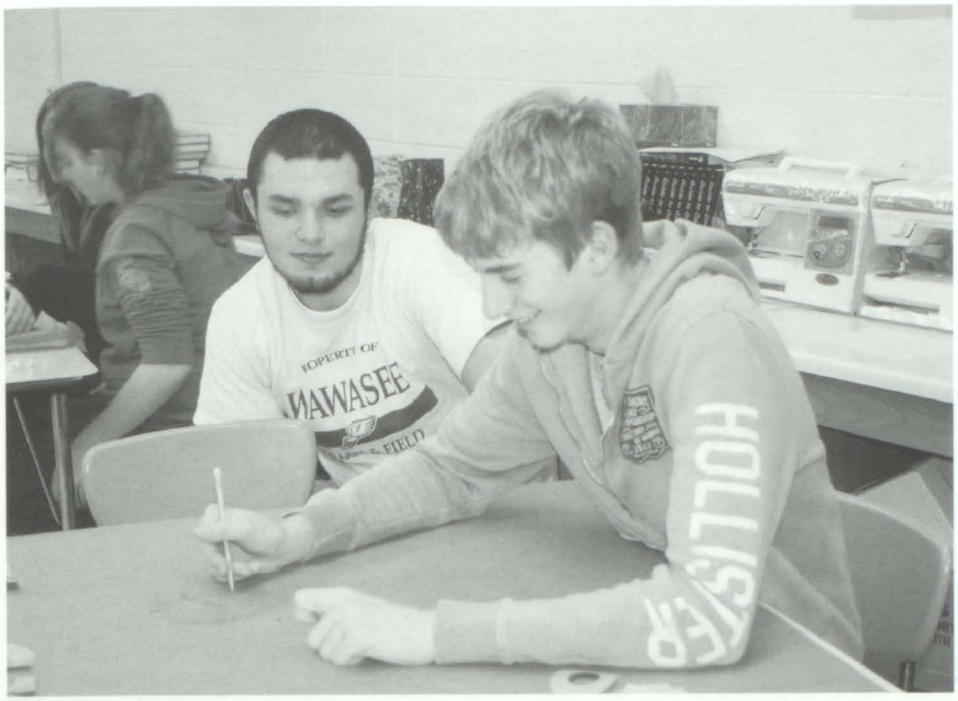

The Family and Consumer Science department prepares students for the future. It is currently led by Mrs. Oswald, who has made very few changes in the program this year other than the addition of a new teacher, Mrs. Harkema. The program offers eight different classes which include: Nutrition and Wellness, Advanced Nutrition and Foods, Textiles and Fashion Technology, Interior Design, Adult Roles and Responsibilities, Orientation to Life and Careers, Interpersonal Relationships, and Child Development. Family and Consumer Science teaches students how to better their skills in cooking, sewing, preparing resumes, getting jobs, how to care for children, and basic responsibilities.

Perfecting the Language

This year has been a busy year for the foreign language department. The three different languages offered to students were Spanish, French, and German.The teachers for the year were Mrs. Valdizon, Ms. Chapin, and Mr. Jagger for spanish; Mrs. Baird for German, and Ms. Harrison for French. The department has added a few new things this year to help with the learning process. One of the first things that were changed was introducing past tense language speaking in the entry levels instead of waiting until level three. Another thing that was added was a digital audio program, this is to help perfect oral assessments and for everyone to take their assessments simultaneously. The department is still trying to work all of the bugs out of the system and it is expected to be fully functional next year. The teachers also warmly welcomed the new student teacher, Mr. Ben Tomel. Some of the teachers also took time over the summer to travel to a national conference to improve their teaching method. The students have been very involved this year and have been having lots of fun in their foreign language classes.

Leading the Way

The counselors meet with each student to discuss the upcoming year's schedule and help determine the classes they should take. The Guidance staff meets with the freshmen before school starts and introduces them to the school and staff. They also assist the seniors with college information. Mrs. Dowell passes out scholarship information and helpful newsletters. She also helps turn in college applications. The Guidance counsellors help the sophomores with the GQE and ISTEP testing, and the juniors are assisted with the PSAT and scheduling classes they might need for college. Miss Fry, head of Guidance department, said, "One of my goals this year is to be with students as much as possible and also be seen in the classroom." Mrs. Dowell replaced Mrs. Judy and is back for a first full year.

Student aids for the guidance office include: Chelsea Lewis, Josh Vallejo, Emily Swartz, Erin Weybright, Katelynn Jessie, and Craig Johnson.

The special needs staff is: Laurie Lahrman, Janelle Miller, Linda Waltz, Valery Ahrens, and Dawn Willkie.

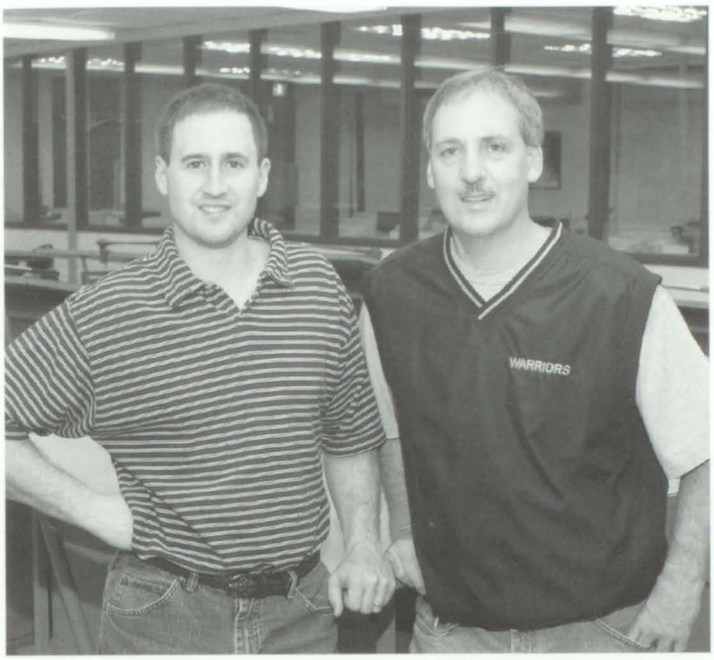

Build Yourself Some Fun

The industrial tech department is lead by Mr. Coblentz. Many classes are offered in this department. All of the classes lead to a career in engineering, architecture, or design. You may receive college credit for taking one of the engineering classes. New classes brought into the curriculum this year are pre-engineering courses. They are associated with PLTW (Project Lead the Way). Mr. Coblentz and Mr. McAdams have many new goals planned for this program. Another new addition to the department are Architectural Design books and an Auto CAD book. Along with new PLTW classes, a few design courses were added to the department. Even though there were a lot of new developments this year, the students in this department enjoyed creating and working on traditional projects from the years before.

Punctual Students

The Language Arts Department has many goals for this year. One is to corallate research papers throughtout each grade level. The Language Arts teachers aslo want the classes to be challenging so the students will excel when they leave the doors of Wawasee High School for good. Mr. Schmidt's goal for this year is "Preparing students for the next level, whether that means college or work." The Language Arts Department also has a new teacher, welcoming Mr. Berg who will be teaching freshmen and sophomore English and is also taking Mrs. Harkleroad's place as the yearbook advisor. Mrs. Harkleroad's retiring after many wonderful years at Wawasee not only brought the need to add a new teacher, but a couple of veteran teachers have had to take over the classes Mrs. Harkleroad formerly taught. Mrs. Thornburg is teaching senior English. Mrs. Miller is also teaching the senior ACP class.

Get the Net

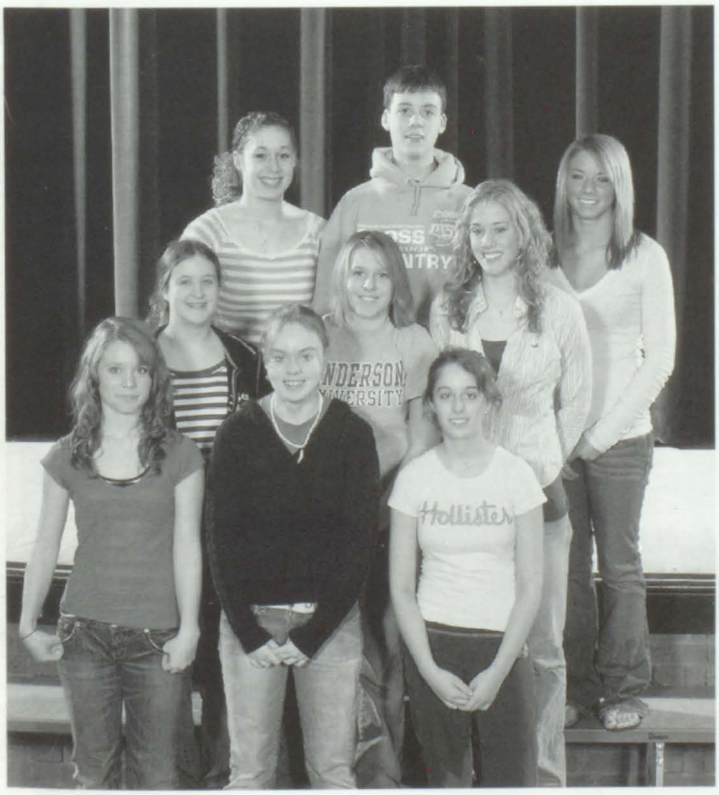

The LRC staff, production studio, and Technology departments all had very busy years. The LRC staff added a slew of new quizzes to our Accelerated Reader program, and aided teachers in aquiring materials for research and other various classroom activities. The LRC also stays open after school for students in need of extra computer time, or just a good book. Our Technology department had a very busy year. The schools grading and attendance systems went through a complete change, and the Technology department made sure the transition went smoothly. The production studio also had their hands full helping out with the fall play, the musical, as well as revamping the school's television network. Each of these departments plays a big part in making our school run smoothly.

You Can Count On It

This year the math department instituted mastery tests to keep skills fresh in students' minds. These mastery tests also help students pass the ISTEP. "The goal of the math department is to prepare all students for any endeavor they choose after they graduate, also to be successful in college and on the state GQE", said Mrs.Cline, head of the Math department. The math department offers the required math classes such as, algebra, geometry, and algebra II. The math department also offers advanced classes/electives for juniors and seniors. Those classes are, descrete math, calculus, and pre-calculus.

Play Your Heart Out

The Wawasee music department is one of the biggest music departments in the area. The choir has grown tremendously in the past couple of years. Choir, band and orchestra are the three divisions of the WHS music department. The choir department is looking to split the beginning choir into different sections because the group is getting too large. There are also special electives dealing with the music department. These classes are music theory and keyboarding. "My job as a music teacher is to touch the lives of young people through music. Hopefully, they become better citizens and productive adults in our society as a result of my classes," says Mrs. Meadows.

In the News Today

With a large group of newspaper rookies, Ms. Records and the veterans of the Smoke Signals staff had their work cut out for them. The chief editor of the WHS newspaper Smoke Signals is Julie Crothers. Working under her are Maggie Heine, Kierstyn Jones, Jami McDaniel and Adam Stewart. Smoke Signals provides a student voice in the school and covers topics ranging from movie and music reviews to more controversial issues such as whether military recruiters should be allowed to recruit in schools. The class teaches valuable skills for journalistic writing and layout design. Each trimester they have a new goal that the whole group sets for themselves as a whole.

Making It All Happen

Our paraprofessionals, student aides, and secretaries have made our school year run a lot easier this year. The offices that they offer help in are book keeping, the guidance office, nurse; the career, technical, and business office; athletic, and the main office. The student aides have done a great job this year running errands and made sure all of the tedious items were taken care of. The paraprofessionals help run the study hall, HIT classes, ESL program, and Special Needs. The department welcomed Mrs. Dowell for her first full year in the guidance office. The school nurse was in the school helping out and assisting the sick students.

Lets Get Physical

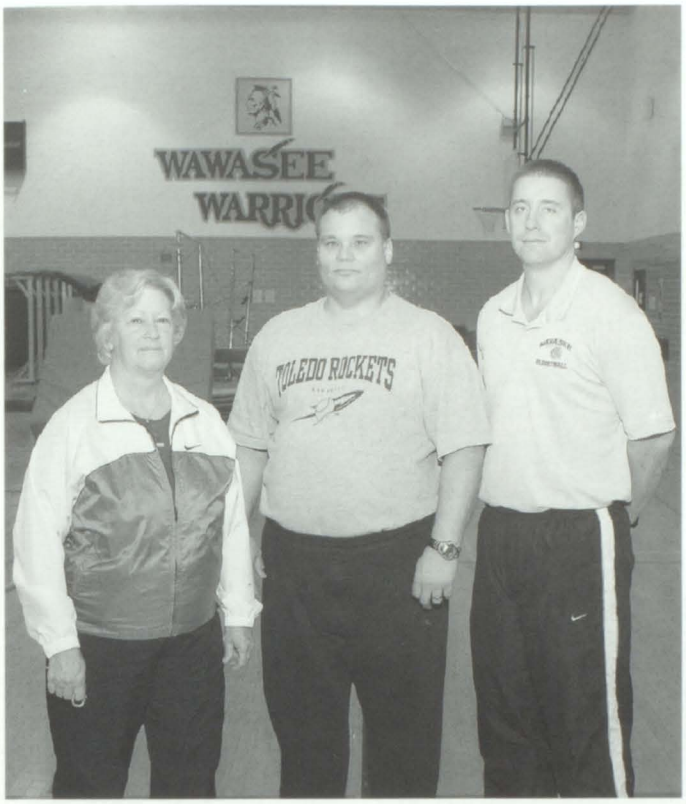

Although there have been no dramatic changes in the past year, the pysical education department is always trying to improve their program. Physical education classes are only required for two trimesters all throughout high school. Students work on their personal fitness by performing exercises such as running and playing sports. Staying active is highly encouraged to keep the students at Wawasee in good health. Lead by Mr. DeHart, Mr. Mishler, and Mrs. Peterson, who are aided by the senior leaders, the students are instructed to perform tasks that focus on improving their strength, agility, and flexibility. Fitness classes available include: P.E. I, P.E. II, personal fitness, strength training, and life gaurding.

Experiment a Little

With Mr. O'Dell leading the way, the science department had another successful year. This department has a lot of help from a large group of teachers. The department also offers a wide array of classes. Some of them are Chemistry, Genetics, Physics, Earth and Space Science, and Human Anatomy/ Physiology. There are also a few Adcanced Placement classes offered to students. These classes are AP Chemistry, AP Biology II, and AP Physics. This year, while Mrs. Lake left some of her classes for maternity leave, Mr. Holsopple filled in for her. The science department may not of added any new developments or books, but it ended with a thriving year.

History In the Making

The changes from last year made for a steady improvement for the 2006-2007 school year for the social studies department. Mr. Taylor is still teaching Psychology, Sociology, and Current Problems and Issues. Mr. Karns teaches the required class for juniors which is U.S. History. Mr. Lancaster is also teaching the required class for sophomores, World Civilization. Economics is taught by Mr. Phillips. Government is taught by Mrs. Myers. The classes are important for studnets to take because they teach students how to save money and about their government and the importance of why they should vote. These classes are both required for seniors. The goal for the department this is to have every student master the one hundred vocabulary words the teachers have picked. Mr. Taylor said that, "One change from last year is that we continue to improve new ways of teaching." Mrs. Myers also helps students receives scholarship money through the Americanism test given through the American Legion.

Keeping the Ship Afloat

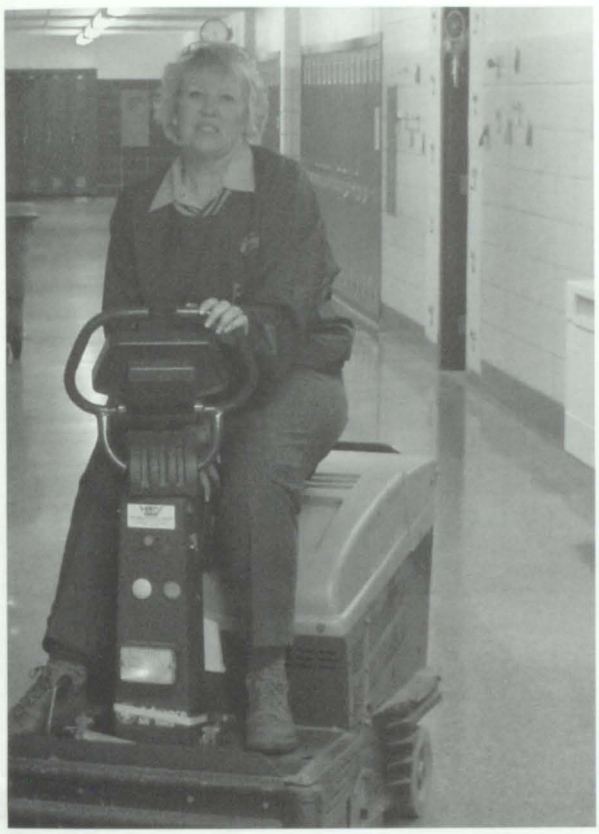

John Glover

Wawasee High School is fortunate to have a temendous support staff. With the ever daunting task of feeding, cleaning up after, and transporting a throng of growing teenagers, the support staff has one of the toughest jobs in the building. The kitchen staff does an excellent job at keeping both it's students and faculty well-fed. The custodial staff also is there to help both students and faculty wherever and whenever needed. Much credit must also be given to our transportation department for delivering the students to and from school safely.

Reach For a Goal

Although their final record of 2-11-4 may not appear very consistent, Boys Varsity Soccer has improved in the past year.
Lead by Coach Kim Nguyen along with captains Jon Miller, Brad Grange, and Austin Bailey, the team achieved one of their goals from pre-season which was to better their record from the previous year. They may have lost several strong leaders and key players that graduated in 2006, but with new freshman Keegan Beer and current seniors that have accepted their roles as veterans, the boys have formed a well-balanced team. JV boys achieved a record of 0-13-2. Our boys' records may not reflect the talent they possess, but there is still hope for better luck next year.
End of the year awards were given to Jon Miller-Most Valuable Player, Brad Granger-Outstanding Offensive Award, Austin Bailey-Outstanding Defense Award, Nate Henderson-Coaches' Award, Drew Johnson-Most Improved Award, Sam Patrick-Outstanding Jv Award, and Zach Hernandez JV-Most Improved.

Just Kickin' It

The girl's soccer team had an outstanding year this year. During the regular season the Lady Warriors, led by coaches Dodd Cunningham and Mike Kehoe, wowed the Wawasee faithful to the tune of the record of 12-3-5. The team carried that momentum into the playoffs with a stunning 2-0 win over Goshen. Unfortunately, their march towards state was cut-off at semi-state, but with a young team the Lady Warriors are looking forward to another assault on the illusive state championship next year. While the varsity squad was kicking through the competition, the junior-varsity team took it's lumps finishing at a record of 4-6-2. The goal, however, at the junior-varsity level is not only to win, but to prepare for varsity level competition. That being said, the Wawasee girl's soccer team should be quite strong for years to come.

The girl's golf team had a memorable and record breaking season, scoring a 169 on a 9-hole course during their match with West Noble and Westview. Warsaw hosted the sectional this year and the lady warriors came out on top winning their first sectional title since 1995. Under the leadership of captain Jessica Rondeau, team unity and consistency were strong factors in winning their matches. Some outstanding freshmen stepped up to the challenge of Varsity golf to help round out the team's effort. With Lady warriors ending their season at 14-3, Coach Dehart is up-beat about the future of Girls golf at Wawasee High School stating, "Girls golf will continue to improve becuase girls are learning golf at a younger age."

Field Gold

The 2006 Wawasee Warrior Football team had a spectacular season this year. With 12 starters returning, our varsity team had a strong core of players on which to rely. The team went 8-3, but lost a heartbreaker to Plymouth in overtime to end it's season. Although it is likely the 2007 varsity football team will do well next year, the loss of many seniors at many key positions will greatly effect the team. However, so long as the boys play as a team the losses of key seniors will only mark the passing of the torch onto another class. Although the JV record is 0-8, those losses only fuel the desire to win at the next level. Next year's freshman are looking good and has some pretty decent athletes. The only question is "will they commit?," says Coach Joe Rietveld.

Long Distance Runaround

The boy's cross country team had an outstanding season placing among the top 20 teams in the state finals. This was just the third time a Warrior boy's cross country team has gone to state, and they did it in dramatic fashion. After heartbreaking losses to Plymouth, Memorial, and Northridge the boys caught fire at the right time and seemed to be running with the wind to their backs all the way to Terre Haute. Ryan Smythe was the top Warrior runner, placing 29th overall. While the team will be graduating some key senior performers, the future looks bright with a solid core of young runners eager to lace up their spikes again for another run to state.

Row 1: Matt Rensberger, Kyle Denton, Justin Krizman, Carl Senders, Jose Mejia, Aaron Hasse, Chris Sindelar, and Rito Islas.

Chasing the Wind

The ladies had a tough season finishing with a 1-6 record in the NLC. However, there is a lot to look forward to in the future for this program. Although the team lost three key seniors, there is still a lot of young talent left waiting for their opportunity.

Abby Gilbert and Desi List pace themselves for the long haul. It is important to save enough energy for the final push.

Katie Hasse and Lydia Karns pick up the pace for a strong finish.

Jessica Goldsmith and Katie Hasse keep in close proximity to help push each other. Pack running is essential to win races.

Serve It Up

Despite a new assistant coach Julie Harkema and returning coach Paula Seafross, the team had a diffulcult year. Although the record was 0-15 as a team, the indvidual record was higher. Coach Harkema says, "The team has enjoyed me as a coach, and they like to play jokes on me." She also said that Justin McDowell has shown a lot of leadership this year, being he is the only senior. She also mentioned that she looks for Reese Woodcock, Hayden Shock, and Darrien Spiker to take McDowell's leadership place next year."

Set Your Goals

The volleyball teams have finished off a remarkable season. Although it was a rebuilding season and their record of 7-13 may not show it, the Lady Warrior varsity team accomplished a lot. The girls played a couple of great games in the Wawasee Varsity Invitational achieving second overall. The varsity award winners of the season are Jessie Wolf-Most Valuable Player, Amber Timmons-Defensive Player Award, Shawn Knafel-Offensive Plauer Award, Katie Shoemaker-Mental Attitude Award, and Janae Stewart-Most Improved Award.

Along with the varsity team, the junior varsity girls ended with a record of 8-12. With a lot of new girls on the team they pulled off the season positively. The new freshman girls came into the year knowing what they needed to do. The freshman team may have more to learn from the upperclassman, but they ended with a satisfactory record of 12-21. The varsity may be losing a few key players, but the new girls stepping up and the character Coach Amy Miller has built will propel the new girls to great heights. The Junior Varsity Coach's Award went to Meghan McDaniel. Susie Hershberger received the Freshman Coach's Award.

On the Crest of a Wave

The boys swim team got off to an amazing start this season and never looked back finishing with a final record of 9-1. They finished their season competing in five events at state and placing in a state final relay event. Each individual athlete had to be highly dedicated to the team, attending morning practices before school, and staying determined despite being physically exhausted at times. After an outstanding performace in the Sectional finals, they continued to press forward and polish off a memorable season. Hopefully, next year our swimmers can continue their dominance with another state appearance.

Just Keep Swimming

The girls swimming and diving team finished the season strong with a record of 3-7 and had a great Sectionals. A huge characteristic that played a role in this year's season was determination. A swimmer must be determined if they are going to keep up on training. It plays a major part when they rise earlier than the sun in the morning to do that training. They must be determined to push themselves to the end of the race even when you are incredibly tired. It is this determination that kept the girls swimming and diving team to work hard for a payoff that was months away. Even thought the girls did not get quite all the wins that they had hoped for they did have a really good season. Krista Spearman broke the school record for the breaststroke and made it to state.

Take it to the Hoop

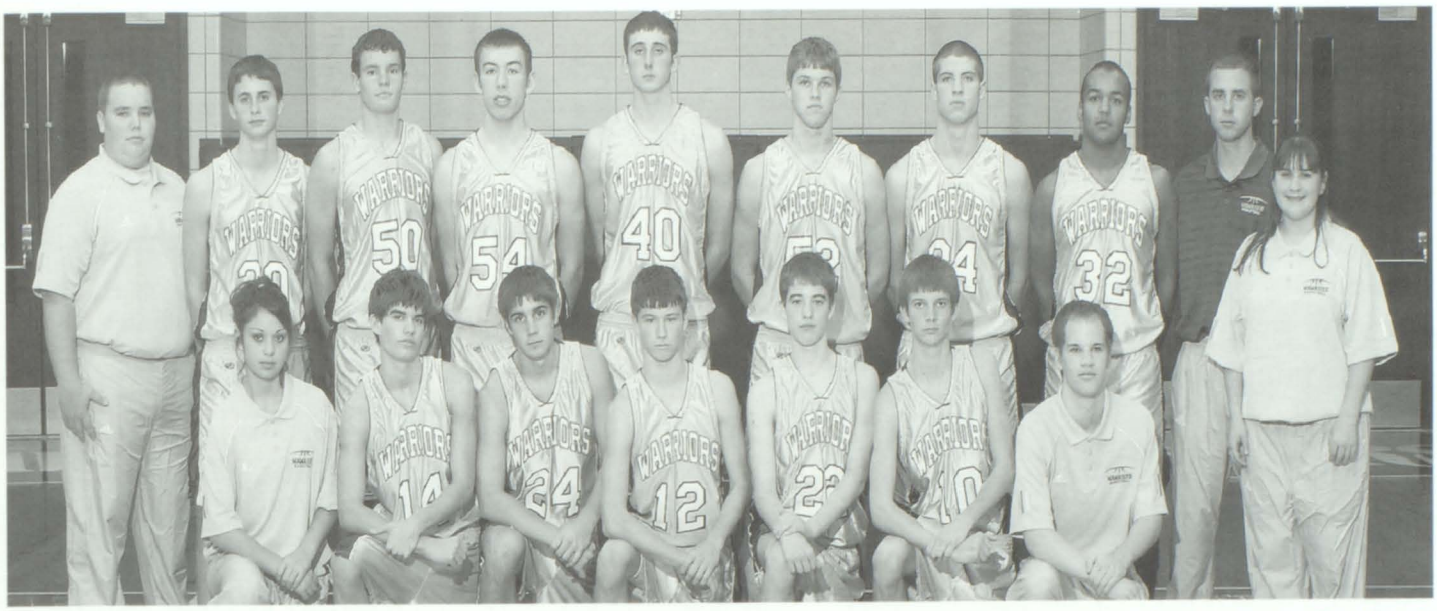

Boy's basketball had an outstanding season. Varsity finished their season with a record of 16 wins and 6 losses. Key wins for the team were the triumphs over Warsaw, Tippy Valley, and one of the most exciting games of the season against Concord. The triumph over Concord had everyone talking for a while, with the very close game going into triple overtime the Warriors emerging victorious. The junior varsity had a solid season ending with a record of 8 wins and 12 losses. When Joe Leach was asked what the most memorable part of the season he responded, "When Mishler got his 100th win." With the great number seniors leaving, the underclassmen will have to work hard, but they will achieve sucess. The only major upset for the team during this season was the numerous amout of injuries on the team. The Warriors had a memorable year and a great season.

We Ballin'

All four coaches led the girls basketball teams to three positive records this year. The varsity team, coached by Kem Zolman and Rocky Goshert, was outstanding finishing with an overall record of 22-3. They won big games in sectionals, regionals, and semi-state making it all the way to the state finals. In each of these games they suprised everyone by doing even better than before. The junior varsity team was led by Roger Brady. They ended their season with a 14-4 record. The girls freshman team did especially well, going undefeated with a 17-0 record. The team's coach is Jamie McAdams. At the end of the season the varsity team lost three key players. The leaving seniors are Megan Walker, Shawn Knafel, and Jessie Wolf. "This year's seniors have been great! I am so proud of all of them. They came in to high school and we needed them to play right away. They have progressively gotten better every year to the point that this year they have helped us stay calm with good leadership," exlaimed coach Zolman. In coach Zolman's eyes the most memorable game the girls had was the game against Northwood in the sectional. They were behind by seven, but they stayed strong. The girls won the game in overtime.

Hard Work...No Regrets

The 2006-2007 Warrior Wrestling team has had to overcome many downfalls this season. The boys only have nine wrestlers to make up their team and only four that are eligable to wrestle. Even with this major set back they were still able to beat Elmhurst at the Wawasee Duals. The wrestling team is able to beat almost every team on the mat by outdoing them physically. Our wrestlers are able to beat the other teams on the mat due to hard work up in the wrestling room. The wrestling team finished up by having two wrestlers(Justin Wegner and Chase Davis) qualify for semi-state. Throughout the season the team has worked harder to form more unity.

Tumbling Away

Despite key injuries to Jeni Dunithan and Renae Tinkey, the gymnastics team had a great season with key wins at Elkhart and Plymouth and posting an 8-3 record as of Feburary 21. With Renae Tinkey the lone senior leaving after this year, the team looks to have an experienced team next year. At the begining of the season, the team's coaches, Nika Prather, Lindsay Maust, and Darla Hossople had the team write out as many goals as they wanted to reach. Jen Crothers said that one of her goals was to start competing on the bars and beam for the first time in her life. She also said the turning point of the season was when everyone was achieving all of their written goals.

Around the Horn

This was one of the many spring sports teams under a new coaching staff with Jeff Phillips taking the helm as the program's head coach. Despite getting off to a hot start, the Wawasee varsity baseball team finished the season with a 9-18 record. Although 9-18 is not the ideal record, the team lost many of those games by only one or two runs. The team was led offensively by Dan Dingledine and Jose Rodriguez who shared the most valuable player award and will both be returning next year. While their overall record may not show it, this program has a young core and a bright future ahead of it.

Hit it on Home

The varsity softball team had a tough year this year going 6-20. However, despite the loss of four key seniors; Megan Walker, Amber Timmons, Kaylyn Price, and Catrina Hapner, the team has a solid group of juniors and seniors waiting for their opportunity to shine. The team will be returning team most valuable player and offensive player of the year Taylor Goshert and a handful of young talent with hopes of turning that record around. As of May 16, the JV team had a record of 6-12. Other awards went to Crystal DeLaFuente, Rookie of the Year; Amber Timmons, Gold Glove; Catrina Hapner, ACE; Ashlee Shepherd, JV Player of the Year; and Megan Shortill with the Pride, Hustle, and Desire award.

The ladies suffered through somewhat of a dissapointing season, finishing without a win in the NLC and with a 4-11 record overall. This season was a transition year for Lady Warrior track as Staci Weisser took over the reins as Wawasees Girl's Track coach. The team struggled through a 3-8 season, but came up with a big win early on against Westview with a score of 77-49. The girls were led by team MVP Haley Herr, Jessie Wolf, Outstanding Track Athlete Shawn Knafel,and Rookie of the Year Francisca Hoffmann.

Hurdling the Competition

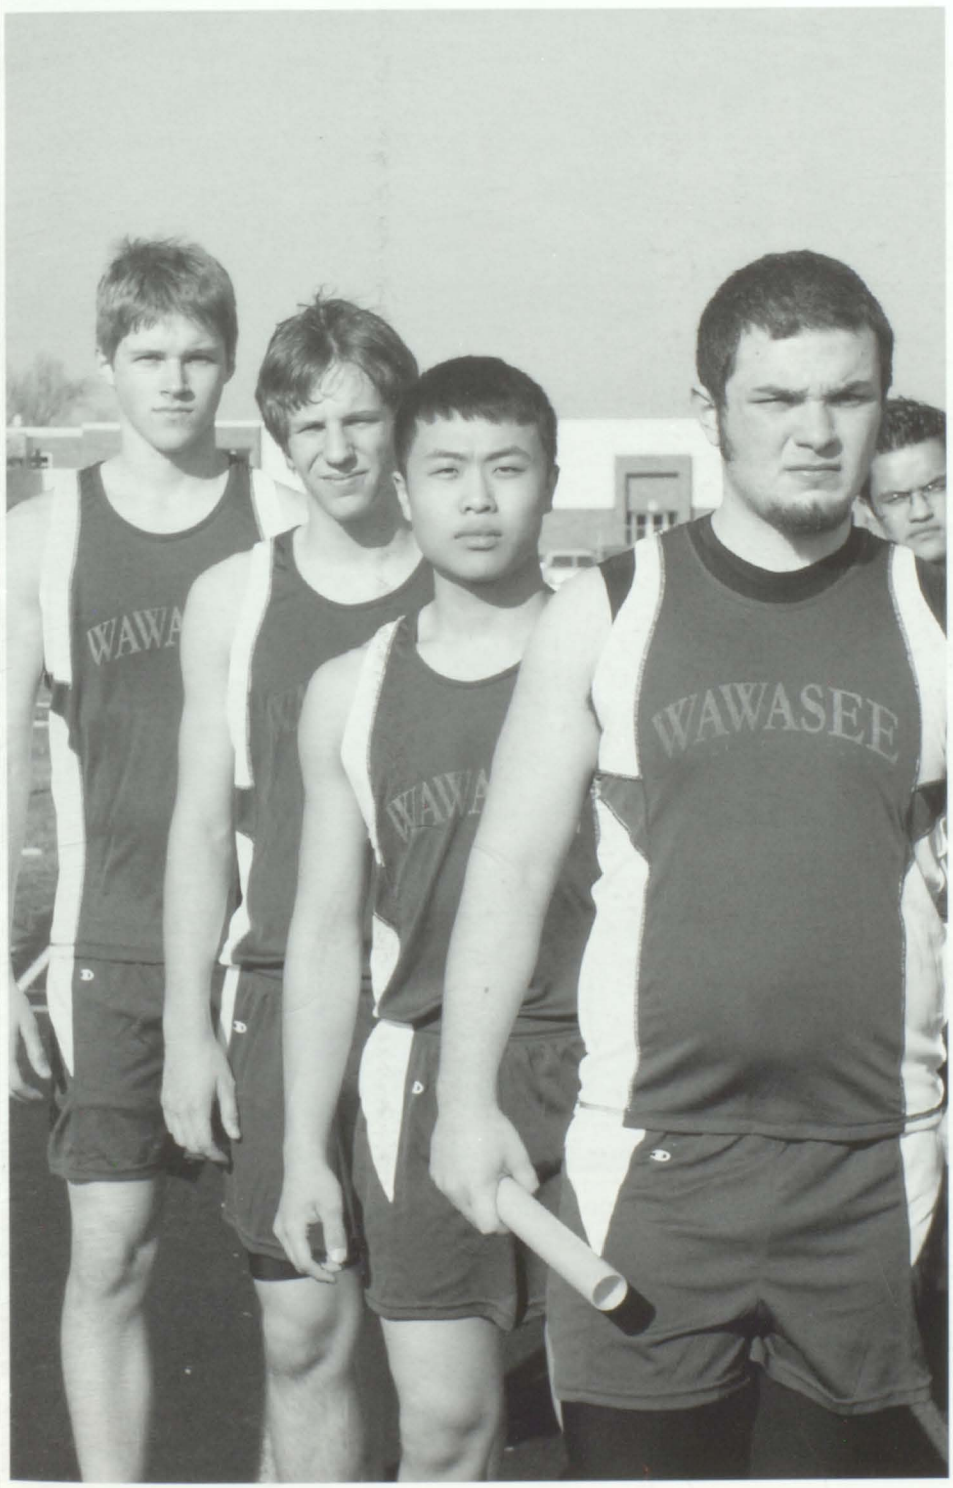

This year the boy's track team did very well, finishing their season with an unprecedented 11-0 record and dominating the Wawasee invitational. Eric Brown set the standard for the season by setting a school record in the 400 meter dash during the first meet of the season. Head coach Mr. Lancaster did a great job coaching the this year and was recognized as the NLC coach of the year. Finishing their year on an especially strong note, the team advanced four events to the state finals, including; Ryan McDonald in the 300 hurdles, Eric Brown in the 400 dash, Ross Stichter and Ryan Smythe in the 3200, and the 4x400 relay which will include Brown, McDonald, Like Blakeslee, and Tyson Kaase.

Swinging Away

The Wawasee boy's golf team had a bittersweet season. With a 14-4 regular season record, they rode the crest of a wave that carried them all the way to regionals before being blown off the windy Orchard Ridge course in Ft. Wayne. While the disappointment of not advancing to the state finals may have been disheartening, and the loss of a handful of seniors daunting, the team is returning several key golfers in hopes of having the wind on their backs for another state push. The returning golfers include the co-MVP's Curtis Coverstone and Jordan Dawes. Other awards went to: Dorien Speicher was named the Most Improved golfer, Michael Jenkins and Rees Woodcock received the Coaches Award, Anthony Gagliano took home the Mental Attitude Award, and John Kirkwood walked away as the Freshman of the Year.

Igniting the Crowd

Cheerleading requires more than an outgoing personality and a pretty smile. Cheerleading requires dedication, motivation, and athleticism (they may do upwards of 50 pushups at any given football game. The cheerleaders have the important job of keeping fans in the game and the spirit alive during sporting events. The cheerleaders also compete. On September 23, the cheerleaders had their Warrior invitational. The Varsity placed sixth out of 12 teams, the JV placed fourth, and the Freshman team placed third.

Reflections Of The Night

The anticipation of prom begins soon after spring break. Finding a date, shoes, tux, a hair style, dress, and dinner reservations are just a few of the necessities that come along with the big night. In the end however, it is always worth it. This year's prom was held at Quaker Haven Activity Center, and was followed by an after party held by the school and equipped with games, door prizes, and mock gambling tables.

Corey Smith, Haven Hoffman, Laura Thompson, and Austin Bailey share a group dance.

Tomorrow We Lead

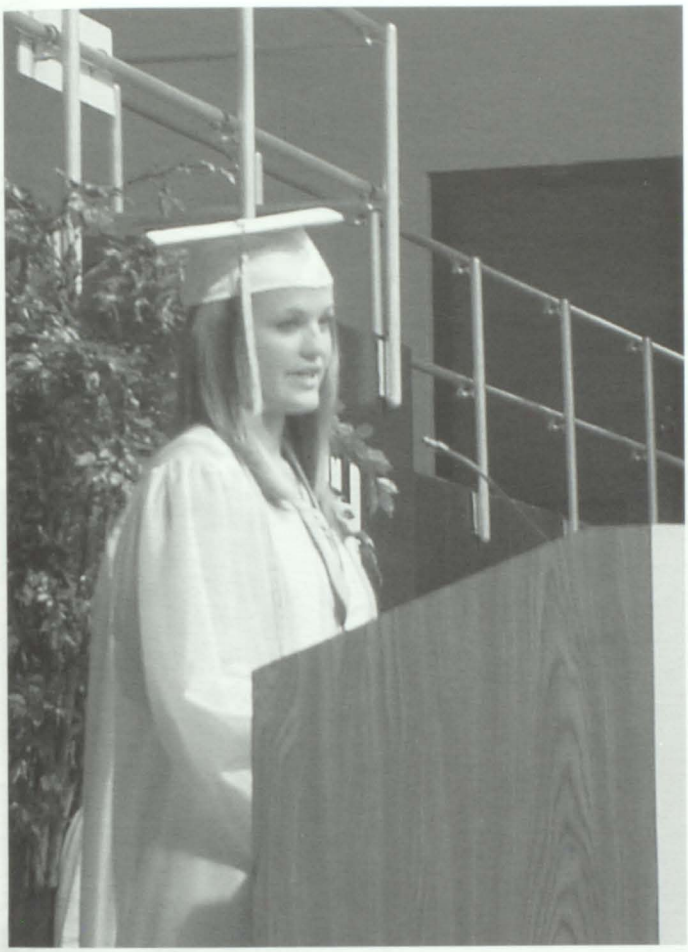

On the sweltering evening of Friday, June 1, family and friends packed the gymnasium to honor the graduating class of 2007. Dr. Mark Stock welcomed everyone by explaining the difference between education and schooling, and offering a vote of confidence in our country's public school systems. Lindsey Drent, salutatorian and senior class president, wished her class a very fond farewell and good luck to each of their various future endeavors. Class valedictorian Elizabeth Olson addressed the importance of roots and role models and acknowledged the passion of the class of 2007. Once each diploma and certificate of attendance was distributed, the class sang the "Wawasee High School Hymn" in a moving candlelight ceremony and made their way outside to toss their caps. "Today We Follow...Tomorrow We Lead" is the motto of the class of 2007.

The last caps fall as the sun sets on the class of 2007's high school career.

Elizabeth Olson gives her commencement address, honoring family and friend support systems and role models.

The class of 2007 enjoys their remaining moments together and watches their peers receive their diplomas.

Making of a Legend

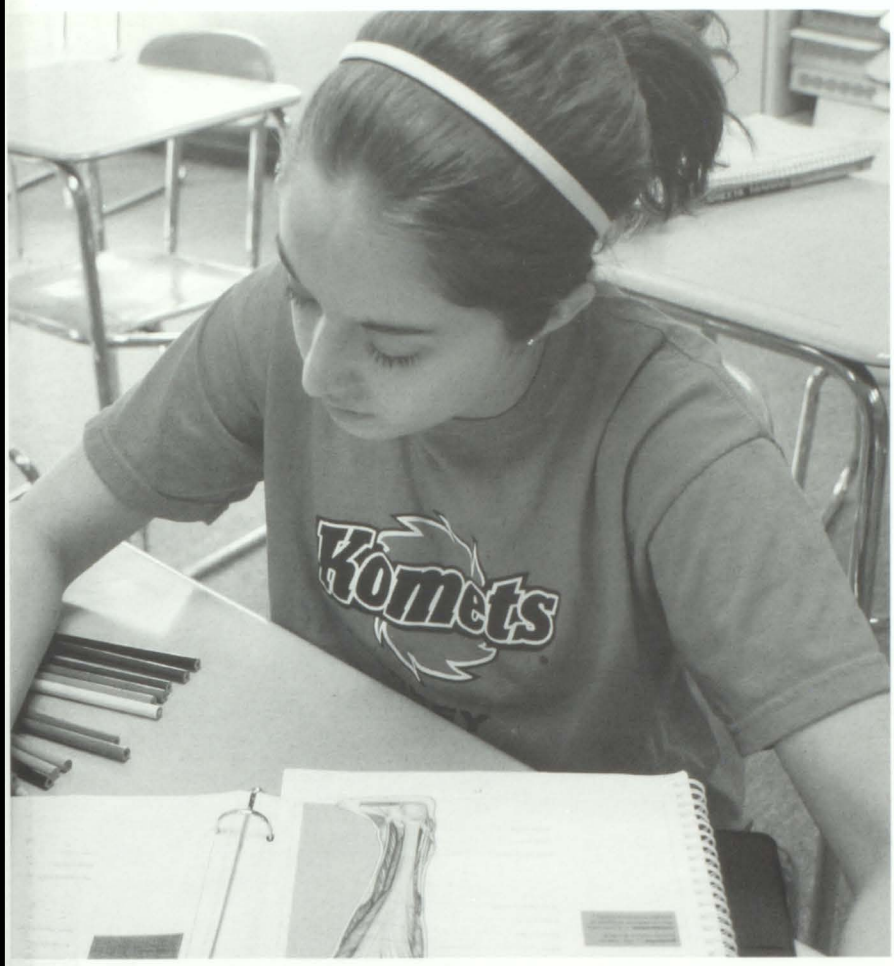

The Wawasee High School yearbook staff went through a rebuilding year this year. With the retiring of the legendary lady of the Legend Mrs. Harkleroad, new teacher Mr. Berg was given the difficult task of revamping the program. The staff began the year by choosing the theme for the yearbook. Eventually deciding on "Seen, Heard, Noted, and Quoted." Some of the challenges the staff faced were learning the new technology, meeting deadlines, and getting the feel for a new way of doing things. The deadlines they had to meet began in early Feburary and by early June they were finally done. The yearbook is published by Herff-Jones and contained 176 pages chock full of timeless Wawasee memories.

Alle DeHart revises some proofs, preparing to send them back to the plant.

The Legend staff: Chelsea Hoffmann, Alle Lemmon, Becka Stevens, Amer Malikowski, Jon Miller, Mr. Berg, Sasha Somers, and (not pictured) Amber Hunsberger, Jessica Dowell, Catie Birkel, Alle DeHart, and Brandi Ritter. The staff banded together to produce this year's Legend.

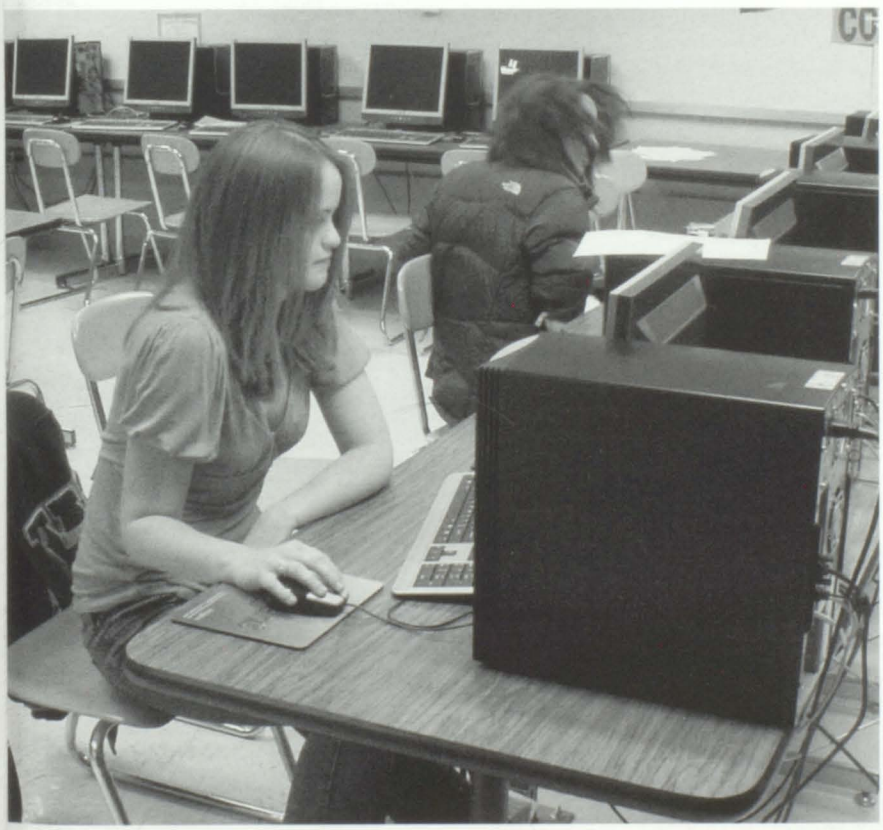

Becka Stevens proves her multi-tasking skills by working on anatomy and engaging in a discussion about possible yearbook themes.

Chelsea Hoffmann revises some proofs for the next deadline.

Jon Miller directs the yearbook traffic.

Jessica Dowell comes through in the clutch to meet a tough deadline.
